LONDON SCARED INTO WAR FIT

Citizens Go to Bed Firmly Believing Rojestvensky Is Done For.

THE PRESS IS FRANTIC

All the Time the Diplomats Were Simply Considering Peace Negotiations.

KING EXPRESSES IRRITATION

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Negotiations between Great Britain and Russia looking to a settlement of the North sea affair are progressing favorably, and there is not the slightest danger of any friction arising between the two governments. The constitution of the international commission under The Hague convention is on the verge of settlement.

In spite of these pacific conditions, Great Britain today experienced a war panic that can only be compared to the panic created on Sunday, October 23, when news of the sinking of the trawlers in the North sea was received. Not for years have so many alarmist reports and flaming extras flooded London. The most extraordinary feature of this scare, which was serious enough while it lasted, is that there was not one single circumstance to justify it.

The excitement started early in the day, when the newspapers announced the departure of the Russian Baltic squadron from Vigo. The public were not in possession of the information that only the officers concerned in the firing on the British trawlers would be detached, and jumped at the conclusion that Russia had broken faith by not detaining the vessels involved in the affair.

On top of this came wild reports of tremendous activity at Gibraltar. Hour by hour the news from Gibraltar became more serious, until at last the climax was reached with the announcement that the British fleet had cleared for action. Some even said the fleet had sailed to meet Rojestvensky's squadron.

Papers Go Frantic.

In huge type the papers made the parallel statements: "The Russian Fleet Has Sailed." "The British Fleet Has Cleared for Action." No newspaper and no person seemed able to explain these events. The reassuring information available in the United States that the sailing of the Baltic squadron from Vigo was with the knowledge of and agreeable to the British government was not even hinted at by the papers here.

The news from Gibraltar became more and more alarming. The foreign office was overrun by reporters, some of whom brought the rumor that Admiral Beresford had already sunk the remnant of Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet. Ambassador Benkendorff at that moment was quietly discussing with Foreign Minister Lansdowne the personnel of the international commission, but it was popularly rumored that he was receiving an ultimatum.

Premier Balfour, Admiral Sir John Fisher, commander-in-chief at Portsmouth; Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, and Prince Louis of Battenburg, director of naval intelligence, were all in conference, and it was openly hinted they were planning the first stroke of war. As a matter of fact, they, like Lord Lansdowne, were engaged in considering names that had been suggested for the international commission.

War Office Calms Turmoil.

When all London was in this state of mind, and while anybody who might be supposed to know anything was constantly being asked, "Has war been declared?" the foreign office decided to adopt a course most unusual for it, and in order to allay the public excitement gave out the following statement:

"Before the Russian fleet left Vigo, instructions were given to the Russian admiral with the view to preventing injury or inconvenience to neutral shipping during the passage of the Russian fleet to the far east. In compliance with Russia's engagement, four Russian officers have been left behind at Vigo. The two governments are now discussing the terms with reference to the international commission which will be entrusted with the proposed inquiry."

Although the statement contained nothing that had not been published in the United States some hours earlier, it served to inform the people here of the exact situation. The general public, however, went to bed tonight firm in the conviction that it would wake up to hear that Admiral Rojestvensky was at the bottom of the sea.

Today's furore would be ludicrous except for the striking instance it has afforded of the willingness of the British public to believe that almost any development is possible after the North sea affair, and of the enthusiasm produced by Gibraltar's warlike news. The foreign office is intensely irritated at the construction placed upon what it declares must have been mere fleet and garrison exercises.

King Is Irritated.

The Associated Press is authorized to state that no orders have been given the huge fleet now concentrated at Gibraltar to make any preparations in connection with the departure of Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron.

It is curious such an uproar should have broken loose on the very day King Edward had chosen on which to express to Count Benkendorff his appreciation of the ambassador's efforts for peace, and his complete satisfaction with the method of settlement. The king privately expressed keen displeasure at the tone adopted by a certain section of the London press toward the agreement to submit the North sea case to an international commission.

It is expected that after the cabinet meeting tomorrow a decision will be reached as to the date, place of meeting and personnel of the commission.

In No Mood for Trifling.

WILL MARRY TO SKIRL O' PIPES

BEAUFORT CASTLE THE SCENE

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—To the skirling of the pipes of Andrew Carnegie's pipers, Miss Helen Phipps, daughter of the famous iron master's former partner, will tomorrow become the bride of James Bradley Martin, Jr., at Beaufort, the castle of the head of Clan Frazer, in the wilds of the Highlands of Invernesshire.

Mr. Carnegie will be unable to be present in person, but, it is reported, offered the services of his pipers, the most famous manipulators of the bag and chanter in all Scotland, and the offer was accepted. A long cable dispatch of congratulation is said to have been received from Mr. Carnegie today, and there is a rumor that the splendid diamond tiara which he sent as a wedding gift to the bride is to be supplemented by a handsome set of gold plate.

In many respects this wedding, which will join two of the great American fortunes, will be the antithesis of that which made Miss Pauline Astor the bride of Capt. H. Spender-Clay. Both the young people are inclined to be quiet and simple in their tastes. The suggestion for a magnificent ceremony in London was vetoed, and it was decided that they should be married quietly in the little church at Beauly, the Highland village dependent on the castle.

Both Beaufort castle, now occupied by the Phipps, and Balmacaan, where the Bradley-Martins live when in Scotland, are filled with guests, including most of the notables in the American colony.

In numbers and in richness the wedding gifts will rival those which marked the Astor-Clay wedding.

THIS IS WHAT SCARED LONDON INTO FITS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

VIGO, SPAIN, Nov. 1.—All the Russian warships left here at 8 o'clock this morning, followed by the Spanish cruiser Extremadura. The British cruiser Theseus arrived here this afternoon. Three war vessels, whose nationality as yet is unknown, have arrived off Cles island.

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 1.—The garrison has been mobilized, and the artillerymen have been ordered to take up their positions at the different batteries of the rock. The channel squadron has been ordered to be in readiness at an hour's notice. All the ships are cleared for action. The departure of a company of the Royal garrison artillery, which had been ordered to start for Sierra Leone, November 9, has been countermanded.

The preparations cause disquietude as the regular mobilization terminated October 30. All the quick-firing batteries have been manned this afternoon and detachments of infantry have been detailed for duty on the commercial and detached moles. The searchlight stations are being strictly guarded and British warships strictly patrolled the straits all night long.

VILLAGARCIA, SPAIN, Nov. 1.—The British cruiser division of the Mediterranean fleet has put to sea.

TANGIER, Nov. 1.—The officers of the Russian war vessels now here are awaiting the coming of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky.

SOUTHAMPTON, ENGLAND, Nov. 1.—The United States cruisers Des Moines and Cleveland sailed today to join the flagship Olympia. Tomorrow they will all proceed to Gibraltar.

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 1.—(10 p. m.)—The fleets have not moved.

To Build Big Freighter.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 1.—An order was placed with the American Shipbuilding Company here today by the Niagara Transit Company of Buffalo, for a freight steamer of 10,000 tons capacity to cost $410,000, and to be ready next spring. It has not been decided where the boat will be built.

LOCAL MAN IS KILLED IN TEXAS

John Brumley's Head Is Blown Off and Others Are Injured in Dynamite Explosion.

HOME WAS IN M'KEES ROCKS

While removing a charge of dynamite from a well in the oil fields near Batson, Tex., yesterday, two men were killed and three others fatally injured. Two of the victims of the explosion were well known local oil and gas experts and their homes were in McKees Rocks. Another of the injured men formerly resided in McKees Rocks. The men were members of the party which went to the oil field from here last spring.

The dead:

JOHN BRUMLEY, aged 50, McKees Rocks; head blown off.

CLARENCE J. HOFF, Tennessee; body blown to pieces.

JOHN RIDER, McKees Rocks.

BERT HOLT, home unknown.

—— SMITH, former resident of McKees Rocks, home in New York.

The men were working at a well of the Guffey company. Dynamite had been placed in the well to loosen the casing. It was decided yesterday to reset the charge, and the explosion occurred while the explosive was being drawn up. It is said to have been caused by the charge striking the casing.

John Brumley's home was at 913 First avenue, West Park, McKees Rocks. He was born in Fallston, Beaver county. When a young man he went to Freedom, Pa., where he was employed in different capacities by the Fort Pitt Gas Company and by the Mellon Oil Refining Company, of whose plant he became general superintendent. Later he removed to Smiths Ferry and entered the employ of the Timons Oil Company as foreman of the pipe-laying department. He later returned to the Fort Pitt Gas Company as general foreman and superintended the laying of all their principal lines in the state.

Last January he was engaged by the Guffey Oil Company to go to the Texas oil fields to superintend their large engineering department. He was accompanied by his son William. Mr. Brumley was one of the most experienced and expert oil and gas men in the country.

He belonged to the Methodist Episcopal church. He leaves a widow and 10 children—John Wesley, Robinson, Elmer, Ellsworth, Barton, William, Mary and Elizabeth Brumley, all of McKees Rocks, and Mrs. Nina Kramer of Third street, Esplen, and Mrs. Grace Blauckt of Freedom. Two brothers also survive, Benjamin Brumley of the South Side and Samuel Brumley of Allegheny. The body is on the way to his late home in McKees Rocks in charge of his son William.

JUDGE PARKER IGNORES STAR SPANGLED BANNER

Only Man Who Failed to Stand When the Tune Is Played.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—An incident that occasioned indignant comment among persons in the large audience at Madison Square garden last evening is today the subject of wide discussion in this city.

When Judge Parker entered the hall and took his seat on the platform, the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." As the stirring strains of the national air filled the vast enclosure, everybody arose and remained standing until its conclusion, everybody except one man, and that man was Judge Parker, the Democratic nominee for president, who sat stolidly in his chair during the entire time.

Many of those who criticised Judge Parker most severely were Democrats of southern birth, and some of them went so far as to assert that the incident afforded good reason for voting against him on patriotic grounds alone.

Pope Cancels His Audiences.

ROME, Nov. 1.—Pope Pius, who for two days has been slightly indisposed was today visited by Dr. Lapponi, who found that his holiness was suffering from an attack of gout and rheumatic pains in the legs, the latter caused by sudden changes in the weather.

WILL DISTRIBUTE HUGE DIVIDEND

Pennsy's Semi-Annual Payment to Shareholders Will Aggregate $9,000,000.

EARNING INCREASE EXPECTED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 1.

Commencing Wednesday, November 30, the treasurer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will begin the distribution of more than $9,000,000 to stockholders of record at the close of business on November 5. This is the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent, declared at the special meeting of the board of directors today. The regular meeting of the board will be held next Wednesday.

At the meeting of the directors of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Company today, the regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, together with an additional dividend of 2 per cent, was declared. This distribution will amount to $100,000.

The greater part of this latter dividend comes to Philadelphia, where most of the stock is owned. Of the millions which compose the Pennsylvania company's dividend, about 25 per cent goes abroad, while the greater part of the remainder goes into the pockets of the traders in this country.

The declaration of the regular dividend was favorably received on the street today, and taken as an indication that although the earnings were not up to those of the past two years, the company was in a good condition, with prospects for a steady increase in earnings from now on. CHESTER D. POTTER.

MARRIED YOUNG WIDOW OF MURDERED BROTHER

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 1.—Joseph Gascos of Bridgeville, Allegheny county, was today lodged in the county jail, charged with the murder of his brother, Charles Gascos, at California three years ago. Gascos is alleged to have killed his brother that he might marry his victim's widow.

Gascos was killed on the evening of July 4, 1901, at his home. The crime was attributed to Joseph Schimmel, who was said to have had a grudge against Gascos. Schimmel escaped and was not located until last week, when he was captured at Elco. When arrested Schimmel told the officers that Joseph Gascos had killed his brother and then married the latter's widow. Officers investigated the story and found that the brothers had quarreled. Gascos had offered a heavy reward for the capture of his brother's slayer and at his instigation the warrant for the arrest of Schimmel was issued. Gascos was unable to give bail and will await trial in jail.

LABAREE IS AVENGED.

Heads of Brigands Who Murdered American Missionary Are Brought Into Teheran.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Borne on bayonets, the heads of two brigands suspected of having been involved in the murder of the American missionary Labaree, have been brought into Teheran by Persian soldiery. Richmond Pearson, American minister to Persia, today cabled the state department that he had seen this evidence of punishment and that four other brigands had also been killed.

A brigand chief was killed several months ago, but the Persian government subsequently became so dilatory that the state department decided to send Thomas H. Norton, American consul at Harput, Turkey, to Teheran as a special envoy to insist upon more aggressive search for the guilty.

Calls Woman to Pulpit.

PASSAIC, N. J., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The Church of Our Father (Unitarian) of Rutherford has called the Rev. Elizabeth Padgham of Perry, Ia., to be its pastor. Miss Padgham is a graduate of Smith class of 1898, and of the Unitarian Theological seminary at Meadville, Pa.

NO STRINGS ON THE PRESIDENT

AIDING DEMOCRATS

KNOX CONVINCED OF FACTS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Nov. 1.

Judge Parker's onslaught on President Roosevelt and Chairman Cortelyou in regard to campaign contributions from trusts, coming almost simultaneously with the Standard Oil Company's official and public denial that it is not interested in any man's campaign, has brought out the fact that President Roosevelt personally asked an official to not contribute to the aid of the Republican campaign in any state.

It also started the Republican national committee and some of President Roosevelt's friends on an investigating expedition, which has already yielded some results. These facts have been learned by the Republican managers:

The Standard oil interests have contributed largely to the Democratic campaign for New York city.

The Standard oil interests in Indiana, especially at Whiting, Muncie and Marion, have been working for the Democratic ticket, and it is not denied by Democratic committeemen in that state that Standard oil contributions have been made.

A report that the Standard oil interests are deporting their known Republican employes from West Virginia is being investigated.

Believed by Senator Knox.

Senator Knox is among the president's friends who believe that the full weight of the Standard oil management is personally and financially in Judge Parker's campaign.

A personal friend of a cabinet member who is one of the officers of the Standard Oil Company in Chicago, came to Washington not long ago to inform the president that the company, represented by a large majority of its managers, was against his election. This information was given through the medium of the cabinet officer and the Standard oil officer at the same time said he himself was personally working for Mr. Roosevelt's election, believing it meant much more to the country than Democratic success. Through the same medium President Roosevelt informed the man, after thanking him for his personal support, that he hoped no officer of the Standard Oil Company would contribute to his campaign. He said that he understood that a proposition had been made to contribute to the Republicans in some states and to the Democratic in others. The president hoped that it would not contribute to either party, and expressed himself very strongly that he did not care for the company's aid.

Helping Parker's Managers.

The reply was that so far as Democratic contributions were concerned it was too late, because considerable amounts had already gone to Judge Parker's managers in New York city. It was also said that it had been the custom of Standard Oil officers to contribute large amounts to Democratic managers in New York city in every campaign. They considered it necessary, he said, to protect their interests.

The Republican campaign managers have for a long time suspected that the Standard Oil interests were opposed to the president's election, and one of the reasons, which your correspondent learns, is the notable absence of Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, from participation in the national campaign. He has not only been a frequent visitor at headquarters in New York, but according to his past custom he has not communicated with the president on any topic but once since his nomination in June.

The Republicans here are still surprised at the animosity exhibited in Judge Parker's attacks on the president in regard to trust contributions. But it has been decided that there will be no more administration denials of any general statements. Should Judge Parker be more specific in his charges, it was said tonight that some member of the cabinet would quickly answer on the stump.

No Pledges by Cortelyou.

It was reiterated today that Mr. Cortelyou had repeatedly said in conversation with the president and members of the cabinet that not once cent had been solicited or accepted by him from a member of any of the great corporations of the country, and furthermore, that no promise had been asked of Mr. Cortelyou by any officer of any corporation nor had any desire been expressed that there should be "an understanding."

The only request for an "understanding" had come from an individual, not in any way connected with a trust, who offered a very large contribution to the Republican campaign fund, at the same time expressing the hope that a certain important appointment might be made. This contribution was quickly refused by Mr. Cortelyou and the man who offered it was told that the administration was not bartering appointments any more than it was offering for sale immunity from prosecution or investigation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Work on the nine torpedo boats which Lewis Nixon is building at Perth Amboy for the czar has progressed so far that they are to be taken apart and shipped to Russia by November 20.

STANDARD OIL FIGHTS TICKET

Senator Fairbanks Meets With Evidence During Indiana Tour.

TAGGART FOR SELF

SENATOR ANSWERS THE JUDGE

Special Telegram from WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

MICHIGAN CITY, IND., Nov. 1.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks ran into an example of the opposition of the Standard Oil Company to the candidacy of himself and the president while touring his own state today.

The Standard Company has large refineries at Whiting, employing 2,500 men. This town will give a good-sized majority for Parker and Davis. The Republicans here have not been permitted to campaign among the employes of the Standard. The 28 or 30 foremen of the company have placed pictures of Parker and Davis in their windows and the workmen have taken the tip. The Republicans have kept out of Whiting, but are not disposed to admit that all of the employes of the Standard will vote the Democratic ticket. The Republican majority is so strong in Lake and in the balance of Crumpacker's congressional district that the loss of the Whiting vote will not affect the result either on the congressional or legislative tickets.

South Bend, not far distant from Whiting, furnished an opportunity for the Republican orator to discuss the benefits of protection. The town boasts of four of the largest manufacturing plants in the country. They are the Oliver chilled plow, the Studebaker wagon, Singer sewing machine and the South Bend toy works. One of the biggest crowds of the trip was addressed in this town.

Kealing Joins the Party.

Joseph Kealing, the Republican leader of Indiana, joined the party, which includes J. Frank Hanley, the Republican candidate for governor, at Ft. Wayne today. Mr. Kealing says the Republican leaders of the state are satisfied that Thomas Taggart has abandoned the thought of carrying the state for Parker and is concentrating every effort and all the cash he can command in an attempt to control the next legislature. Mr. Kealing has been devoting his time to an investigation of the situation in the state and while he believes that Taggart will be shut out of the United States senate, the margin may be very small. He does not underestimate the ability of Taggart to do things in Indiana, if he has the facilities. It has been Leader Kealing's observation that Taggart rarely works the same trick twice and that it is necessary to be constantly watching the Democratic boss.

At the opening of the legislature in 1903 the Republicans had a majority on joint ballot of 50. The fight that Taggart is making will pull this away down. In talking for publication, the Republican leaders place the majority at from 25 to 30 in the next legislature.

Depends On His Cash Supply.

This is the top-notch claim, but there are calculations being made that do not leave so large a margin in favor of the Republicans. To win Taggart will have to be successful in several large counties that the Republicans have been carrying in the past. Fortunately for him, the Republican organizations are weak in those districts. If he is able to secure a large amount of money he will be a dangerous man on November 8. Speaking of money, Taggart put out an interview today in which he says that he will have plenty of cash, but none "for boodle purposes." If Taggart is truthful, the hopes of Senator Fairbanks will not fall to him.

It was gathered today from conversation with the state leaders that Congressman Hemenway is in the lead for Senator Fairbanks' seat in congress. The congressman is a good organizer and has already brought some strong influences to his assistance. The conclusion is also reached that Daniel G. Ried of Richmond will not find it easy to get into the United States senate. He is looked upon as a resident of New York, and the men who manage party affairs in Indiana say that the state will not take kindly to the candidacy of a man who is considered an outsider.

Indiana Safe for Roosevelt.

In the opinion of Mr. Kealing, Indiana is safe for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. Said he: "Twenty thousand would be a big majority in Indiana, but I am pretty well satisfied that we will reach that figure. The trip of Bryan through the state has stiffened the Silver Democrats, and I believe that with few exceptions they will vote for Parker. It is my opinion that Bryan's trip has added 10,000 votes to Parker. This number of Bryan's followers would have either remained at home or supported the Populists. I am also satisfied that Bryan made a careful study of the conditions in Indiana before he agreed to make the trip. Had he thought that Parker could have carried the state he would not have come. Any Democratic votes that the Republicans get in Indiana will come from the farmers. They are satisfied with conditions and many of them will admit that prosperity can be traced to Republican rule."

Senator Fairbanks' trips today took him from Ft. Wayne to Hammond. At noon the party was at Sturgis, Mich., where there was a large meeting, and then the run was made back into Indiana.

Hard Fight Against Robinson.

During the morning much of the territory visited is in the control of the Democrats. There was a noticeable falling off in the attendance, but in the afternoon immense crowds greeted the senator. In this country a hard battle is to be fought next week to defeat James M. Robinson, the Democratic member of congress. Newton W. Gilbert, the present lieutenant governor of the state, is the Repub-

Republican candidate. Robinson is finishing his fourth term and was elected the last time by the narrow margin of 365. Opinion is divided among the Republicans as to their ability to defeat him. He is a hand-shaking member and spends all of the time that he is not in Washington mingling with his constituents. Both candidates live in Ft. Wayne, the capital of Allen county, known in Indiana as the "home green spot." No matter what happens to the Democracy in other parts of Hoosierdom, Allen county always sticks to the Democratic party.

The town of Garrett, the old home of Taggart, is also in the district. It was there that the Democratic national chairman ran his first hash house and he is depending on home pride to help.

Taggart Giving Certificates.

Taggart is working a scheme in the Robinson district that is calculated to make the county Democrats swell with with pride. He is appointing hundreds of them on various kinds of committees, and each appointee is receiving handsomely engraved commissions. They look like stock certificates and the holders are led to believe that the paper opens the door for them to the innermost council chambers of the Democracy. At the next national convention the doorkeepers will have a lot of trouble on their hands when Robinson's constituents arrive. Each Taggart commission is warranted to admit the holder to the next national convention.

Tonight Fairbanks spoke in Hammond, the capitol of Lake county, in which Whiting is situated. He made nearly 20 speeches today. At all points he was enthusiastically welcomed and his speeches were repeatedly punctuated with applause. During the day he dwelt mainly upon the prevalence of prosperity throughout the country, claiming that this was due to Republican administration of the government and that its continuance was dependent upon Republican success this month. At several points he referred to portions of Judge Parker's speech in New York last night, with special reference to the opening of foreign markets to American manufactured products, but he particularly addressed himself to the subject at Kendallville.

Address Made to Students.

At Lima, Ind., a station which was not included in the original schedule, the students of Howe military academy were present to greet the vice presidential candidate. To them he said:

Some of our political opponents have had much to say about militarism and the spirit of militarism. There is no spirit militarism which is a menace to our country. The soldiers of the republic have always been its friends and not its enemies. The young men studying military tactics here are learning the lessons of patriotism and learning to be good citizens. They are not laying foundations which will be a menace to our national welfare, but to give strength to our institutions. There are no enemies of the American flag at home. The eighty millions of American citizens, I care not to which party they belong—whether they be Republicans or Democrats—are all friends now of the American flag. The little army of the United States is necessary. It will continue to be the protector and guardian of our national interests. The strength of the republic, however, is not in the army, splendid as it is, nor in the great battleships which have brought us such renown; the strength of the republic abides in the patriotic hearts of our countrymen.

Policies Determined By Ballot.

Following is a portion of Senator Fairbanks' address at Goshen:

We must stand by the great policies in our national government which are for our common welfare. We determine our national policies, not in the city of Washington, but by the ballot boxes of the republic. It is important that we shall make no mistake in their declaration. We know from our past history how expensive mistakes are which are made at the ballot boxes of our country. In 1892, when we were going forward under the administration of our great and splendid Hoosier president, Gen. Benjamin Harrison, our Democratic friends said: "If you will only overthrow Harrison and the policies for which he stands, you will immediately increase the prosperity you have." In an unguarded moment the people of the United States accepted Democratic prophecies instead of Republican fulfillment. In 1892 we voted without thinking. For four years after we voted we had little else to do but to think. We are going to reverse the order this year as we did in 1896 and in 1900. In those two great contests the American people first deliberated and then they expressed their matured judgment at the ballot box. So in this year of grace, 1904, amidst a prosperity unparalleled in the history of the republic, the American citizen who holds in his hands the potent ballot, is going to deliberate at the fireside; then he is going to the ballot box and express his judgment.

Reply to Judge Parker.

Senator Fairbanks in a reply, at Kendallville, to Judge Parker's speech in New York last night, said:

An eminent Democratic leader said yesterday: "What we need today is to cultivate foreign markets for manufactured products, thus enabling our mills to run to their full capacity, thereby securing steady employment for our workmen." That is Republican doctrine. That is no new discovery, my Democratic friends. It is what the Republican party has always stood for and it is why it started into power. Under the operation of a protective policy we have expanded our exports of manufactured products beyond all other countries. We have expended them as never before, as never under the policies of the Democratic party. In 1850 the total value of manufactures exported from the United States was $17,000,000; in round numbers; in 1860, $49,000,000; in 1870 we increased it to $88,000,000; in 1880 the amount was $202,000,000; in 1890, $151,000,000; in 1900, $434,000,000, and in 1904 we reached the unparalleled sum of $472,000,000, and increase of nearly 100 per cent over the closing year of the last Democratic administration.

Lead in Growth of Exports.

Let us compare our experience with the experience of other leading countries: The increase in the exports of domestic manufactures from the United Kingdom, Germany and France, and the United States, from 1880 to 1900, shows that the United Kingdom increased 18.46 per cent; Germany 69.66 per cent and France 19.64 per cent, while the United States increased 339.85 per cent.

You will observe from this exhibit, taken from the records of our government, open to the world, that exports of manufactured products, under Republican policies, have been increased in a far more rapid ratio than the exports of similar products from any of the other leading countries to which I have referred. Policies which close factories in the United States are not liable to increase our exports of manufactured products as other countries. When the Democratic leader who uttered the sentiments I have read to you advocates the overthrow of Republican policies he advocates a course which will restrict and reduce our exports to foreign markets. We are expanding our domestic trade. We propose to go on increasing it and we propose to have our share of the foreign markets of the world, not under Democratic policies, but under the policies of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt.

Praise for Judge Penfield.

At Auburn, Senator Fairbanks was presented by Judge William L. Penfield, collector of the state department, to whom the senator paid a warm tribute in his speech. He said:

During the last seven years we have been engaged in the consideration of questions of great domestic importance. We have also been engaged in the consideration of questions of foreign significance, and we have been obliged to meet more difficult problems than in any seven years since the history of our country began. The Hague tribunal was established by the great powers of the earth to promote peace throughout the world. The United States was the first country to invoke the jurisdiction of that court. The first case submitted to that court was argued and successfully argued by your distinguished fellow-townsman, the collector of the state department, Judge Penfield. One week from today we must decide whether to go forward under Republican policies or to overturn them and adopt in their place Democratic policies. Democrats do not intend their policies to work one undoing. Our Democratic friends want to put into force good policies which will promote our common interests, but in the last 44 years they have been unfortunate; they have not stood for any policies that have worked for the advancement of the American people. Everything which has been done to advance and promote our common welfare has been accomplished by the Republican party.

In challenging the efficacy of the Democratic party I do not challenge individuals. I have not a word of criticism of the Democrat who disagrees with me. It is against Democratic policies that I speak, because they will work our common injury. I do not think it wise to consult a lawyer who has an unbroken record of lost cases. I do not believe it wise to entrust the nation to a party which has always failed in the past.

Temperance Workers Close Meetings.

BLOOMSBURG, PA., Nov. 1.—The Pennsylvania Woman's Christian Temperance union convention adjourned today to meet next year in Washington, Pa. The president's salary was increased from $400 to $500 a year. Resolutions were adopted indorsing President Roosevelt's call for a peace conference, denouncing polygamy and indorsing the movement for a new child labor law.

"COW WOMAN BESSIE" DOING BIG STUNT

Armed to the Teeth, She Is Terrorizing the People of Kentucky.

OWINGSVILLE, KY., Nov. 1.—Reports received here today state that several counties in Virginia, just over the Kentucky border, are in a state of terror as a result of depredations committed by Bessie Hatfield, a member of the noted Hatfield faction of feudists, who formerly terrorized the community in and around Pike county, Ky.

The woman is armed with two revolvers and a rifle and heads a horse—never riding the animal. When she arrives at a corn crib or house at which she wishes to feed her horse or herself, she breaks the door or lock and calmly helps herself. She threatens to shoot if anybody interferes with her. The woman says her father is a horse trader in Virginia and she is trying to overtake him. She is about middle aged, and of an almost masculine appearance.

She calls herself a "cow woman," and holds farmers in great contempt. As compared with cowboys, she wears her hair cut short and a dress cut off just below the knees. When she reaches a point where she wishes to pass the night she places her horse in a barn and, placing her bedding close by the door, puts her revolvers under her head and sleeps. She has spread the report that she is an exceedingly light sleeper.

A PERMANENT EXHIBIT.

Work of Allegheny School Pupils Is to Be Sent to Harrisburg.

The exhibit sent to the world's fair at St. Louis, by the pupils of the Allegheny schools, and which was awarded a gold medal recently, will be sent to Harrisburg, where it will remain a permanent exhibit at the state capital. It was decided at a meeting of the board of school controllers last night that an exhibit that won place over all the schools in the country, was worthy of permanent retention by the state.

The nominations of Miss Irene Dunahey and Miss Ruth I. Wilson were considered and approved. Both will teach in the High school. A petition from a number of teachers was read in which some minor changes in the salary schedule are requested. The paper embodies the provision that a teacher must be in service at least eight years before she is entitled to a salary of more than $1,000 per annum.

Prof. James E. Morrow, principal of the High school, was granted a leave of absence of three months, because of ill health, and Prof. William L. Smith was elected to serve in his place. The following nominations of teachers were taken up and approved:

First ward, Miss Mary Maxwell; Fifth ward, Miss Margaret Elder and Miss Ida Stanford; Fifth and Sixth ward, domestic science and art, Miss Helen Livingston; Tenth ward, Miss Myrtle Meready. Thirteenth ward, Miss Mary B. Angney.

FIGHT FOR "WIFE'S" ESTATE.

Husbands of Much-Married Woman After Property She Left—One a Pittsburgher.

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Albert Dalganer, aged 71, of Pittsburgh, is here suing for the estate of a woman whose last husband was Ernest Paulman, who also claims the estate, amounting to $15,000. The woman married Dalganer in Pittsburgh in 1861, and when he returned after the war a cripple she left him about the time that Paulman left the city. The woman was originally Caroline Krickbond and had seven husbands altogether, some of them simultaneously.

The odd part of the suit is that Paulman and Dalganer both married again without divorce. They claimed that since she had no legal right to wed their marriage to her was invalid. Still each claims the estate. It is now held by a woman, who took care of her for four years prior to her death in 1902.

WELCOME TO THE PRINCE.

Scion of Japanese Royal House Will Be Received With Enthusiasm in Honolulu.

HONOLULU, Nov. 1.—A report was circulated this afternoon that the steamship Manchuria, with Prince Fushimi, who is en route to the United States, on board, has been sighted.

Five thousand people, half of them Japanese, rushed to the water front. The federal and territorial troops were called on to form a military escort to the prince and a procession was arranged to conduct him to the Japanese consulate, where the Japanese consul and staff and Japanese veterans of the Chino-Japanese war were prepared to receive him.

Japanese Consul Saito and Secretary Atkinson of Hawaii went outside the harbor in a launch to greet Prince Fushimi.

FIRE SEASON IS HERE.

Four Small Blazes Cause Little Damage—Woman Slightly Burned.

A series of small fires kept the department unusually busy yesterday afternoon and evening. Mrs. Louisa Ness of 6317 Broad street was burned about the right hand and arm at the home of her son-in-law, T. M. Lucas, at 6317 Broad street yesterday afternoon, while attempting to extinguish flames caused by a lamp explosion. The fire caused $100 loss.

The roof of the home of Stanislau Treboski at 2819 Edwards alley, South Side, caught fire from a defective flue last night, causing damage approximated at $150.

LOVE LORN HERMIT ENDS LIFE ROMANCE BY SUICIDE

WINSTED, CONN., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Disappointed in love a decade ago, Charles King became a hermit. He built a hovel, 6x8 feet, in the woods on land owned by his uncle. He went to New Boston almost daily for food, but said little to anyone. The villagers, not having noticed his presence since last Tuesday went to his cabin today, broke in a door and found King dead as the result of having swallowed a mixture of laudanum and alcohol.

PHILADELPHIA TO HAVE GIGANTIC SUBWAY SYSTEM

J. M. Mack Returns from Investigating Underground Railways Abroad and Also Will Look Over New York Tunnel Lines.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The return from Europe of J. M. Mack, president of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, is said on good authority to presage the immediate application by a group of prominent capitalists for a franchise for a gigantic subway system in the Quaker City. Mr. Mack arrived today on the German liner Kaiser Wilhelm II.

During the six weeks which he has spent abroad he has examined and studied carefully the underground railways at present running or building in England and on the continent. Before going to Europe he went over the plans and completed portions of the New York subway. Before returning to Philadelphia he will examine the newly finished underground railway under the guidance of John B. McDonald.

Mr. Mack, who is the man who brought about the merging of all the Philadelphia street railways into one company, is also engaged with Charles T. Yerkes in street railway enterprises in London. He refused to discuss his investigations abroad or what bearing they may have on a subway in Philadelphia.

POUND LOST JEWELS; IS RICHLY REWARDED

Girl Now Has "More Money in a Heap" Than She Ever Hoped For.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Trudging on her way to the store where she is employed, a poor shopgirl found the $15,000 worth of jewels—not merely $1,000, as advertised—which a wealthy woman patron of Black, Starr & Frost lost a few days ago. The girl, whose name, together with that of the wealthy woman, is withheld by the firm at the request of the principals, received tonight "more money than ever was in one heap" for returning them. Enclosed in a chamois bag and lying in the gutter with dust and mud surrounding them, the jewels were found by the girl as she was returning from work in one of the big department stores.

Although the firm declines to state just how large a reward was paid, it was intimated that a percentage of the total value, far in excess of that customarily paid by those who recover lost valuables, was turned over to the girl. "I never expected to own such a lot of money, all in a heap," she said, as she almost ran from the establishment to her home.

SAYS SHE WAS SANE.

Witness Discredits Suicide Theory Connected With Death of Wealthy Miss Dolbeer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The hearing before Commissioner Robert P. Lee, appointed by the courts of California to take the testimony of New York witnesses in the suit brought in California to set aside the will of Miss Bertha M. Dolbeer, who was killed by falling from the ninth floor of the Waldorf-Astoria last July, was continued here today.

Dr. Holmer Gibney was the only witness. He testified that he was well acquainted with Miss Dolbeer and also with Miss Warren, her friend, to whom Miss Dolbeer in her will left a large part of her fortune. He declared Miss Dolbeer was perfectly sane and that she had never been morose, peevish or melancholy.

NEW RULE RILES TEACHERS.

Object to Regulations Which Forbid Talking at Institutes.

HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—"How many times during this lecture did you talk?" though a simple question in itself, has caused unending grief to the school marms attending the Dauphin county teachers' institute, in this city, and is likely to cause much trouble for County Superintendent Garver before the close of the institute.

Heretofore the teachers, so long as they did not talk aloud, were not deprived of speech. When this year the superintendent asked each one to mark on a card how many times during the lecture each teacher talked, there arose a storm of feminine wrath, which is gathering strength for an outbreak looked for at any time. The rule is being enforced as well as it can be, but the teachers will not be satisfied until it is wiped away.

SUBSCRIBERS MUST PAY.

Court of Appeals Decision Is Ominous to Delinquent Supporters of World's Fair.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1.—The St. Louis court of appeals today sustained a decision which was rendered by Circuit Judge Sale last June, awarding the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company a judgment against Andrew Kunzel for $1,350 and interest, the whole amounting to $1,501 25, the balance on his subscription of $1,500 to the world's fair, upon which he paid one assessment of 10 per cent.

Clinton Rowell, one of the attorneys for the fair, claims that the opinion decides that $275,000 in delinquent subscriptions must be paid.

NOW FOR OBITUARIES.

Hundreds of Deer Hunters Swarm Over the Vast Tract in Long Island.

OAKLAND, L. I., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Enthusiastic deer hunters, numbering more than 200, arrived at the villages in this vicinity today. Tomorrow morning they will enter the woods. A hundred more are expected by morning.

The deer shooting tract embraces more than 100 square miles, covered mostly with pines and scrub oaks. Many of the hunters who wished to be on the grounds before daylight pitched tents on the edge of the tract.

CHINA WITHDRAWS PERMIT FOR RUSSIANS TO LEAVE

CHEFOO, Nov. 1.—The officers and crew of the Ryeshiteini, the Russian torpedo boat destroyer which was cut out of this harbor August 12 last by the Japanese, went on board the German steamer Vorwaerts tonight bound for Shanghai, where they were to join the officers and crew of the Russian cruiser Askold. Before the vessel sailed, however, the Russians suddenly returned on shore, the government at Pekin having at the last moment rescinded the permission which had been granted them to proceed to Shanghai.

Pierce to Direct Strike.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Assistant President John Pierce of the Amalgamated association arrived here today to take charge of the strike. He takes the place of Vice President Richard Fitzgerald. The American Car and Foundry Company will take Barney Byrne, roller in the 16-inch mill of the lower plant, with his entire crew, to Madison, Ill., where the company has a new plant. In addition, it will take about 100 more men. Checks for $100 each arrived for the families of Thomas Connelly and Patrick McLaughlin from the Amalgamated association today.

THEATER CENSOR TO STOP IN PITTSBURGH

Dr. Von Possart of Berlin Visiting American Cities to Get Ideas of Management.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Dr. Herman von Possart, theatrical censor for the imperial German government for the city of Berlin, arrived today on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. Dr. von Possart is the son of Herr Ernst von Possart, the distinguished German actor who has been seen in America and who for several years has been the director general of three royal theaters in Munich—the Residence, the Hof and the Prince Regent. He comes here for general suggestions that may be useful in the architectural, police, fire and moral regulations of the theaters under his supervision.

"After your Iroquois theater fire in Chicago, many changes were made, at my suggestion and order, in the Berlin theaters," he said.

"In every Berlin theater a squad of firemen comes to the house one hour before the curtain goes up. They inspect the curtain, the fire appliances, the stage accessories, the lighting apparatus and the exits. If anything is found wrong, the curtain cannot go up until it is made right. Nor can a play begin until the examination has been made. The firemen remain until after the last of the people have left the house.

"I shall remain in this country three months, examining the theaters in New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee and other cities."

NURSE LOST HEART TO MARRIED PATIENT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Led into a love, which changed life's meaning for her, the reason of trustful Margaret Ansing tottered when she learned that it was a forbidden affection, and she was placed in the psychopathic ward of Bellevue hospital tonight for observation. The man whom she innocently admitted into her life was a patient in the German hospital, Seventy-sixth street and Park avenue, where Miss Ansing was employed as a nurse.

Miss Ansing wrote to him after his departure from the hospital, telling of her love and hopes. These tender missives fell into the hands of the man's wife, of whose existence the girl was wholly ignorant and she made inquiries at the hospital. A few days later Miss Ansing saw the man and his wife out walking. She returned to the hospital in a daze. She then became melancholy.

The man's wife wrote to the superintendent of the Training School for Nurses, and Monday Miss Ansing was requested to resign. This addition to her great sorrow completely overwhelmed her.

Director Scandrett Returns.

Director Thomas B. Scandrett of the Allegheny department of public safety has returned from St. Louis, where he has been for more than a week. When spoken to, he said he had enjoyed himself immensely and was ready to resume his duties. He declined to speak of the investigation into the charges of graft being prosecuted by Attorneys John Marron and John C. Haymaker, as he says he has not kept posted on the proceedings of the past week.

Controller Retains Lawyer.

Legal advice has been solicited by County Controller Cunningham, with regard to the contemplated action against other county officials to recover from them fees collected from the state, but he said he has not yet arrived at that point where suit will be entered. He admits he will reach a decision in a few days.

Increasing High School Accommodations

The contract for the remodelling of the attic floor of the Fifth avenue High school was awarded yesterday to William Kerr's Sons at $15,558. There were 12 bidders. This plan will add six rooms to the building. Under the contract the work must be finished in 80 days.

Charged With Grand Larceny.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Anthony Scymandola of this city was arrested tonight on a charge of grand larceny. The complainant is Alphonso Stonich, manager of a distillery in Kentucky. Stonich alleges that the prisoner took warehouse receipts to the amount of $10,000 from his pocket today.

PROMINENT CHICAGOAN BECOMES A MADMAN

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—D. W. Trotter, former assistant treasurer of the American Linseed Company, a long-time resident at the Auditorium hotel, man about town and possessed of a fortune sufficient to enable him to retire from business, called at 828 North State street, the home of W. W. Gurley, general counsel of the Union Traction Company, Sunday night, complaining that he was not feeling well and saying that he was pursued by enemies who were attempting to poison him. Mr. Gurley, who has known him for 10 years, suspected that he was mentally unbalanced, and invited him to stay all night and assigned him to a chamber.

About midnight Mr. Gurley was aroused by the sound of a struggle. Hurrying to the room occupied by Trotter he found him and a male nurse he had secured, fighting for the mastery. Mr. Gurley signaled for the patrol wagon. Before it had arrived the maniac and the man who was trying to subdue him, had wrestled out of the room, down the stairs and into the library, where, after the glass in several of the doors of the bookcases had been shattered, he was brought under control.

FATHER UNABLE TO GIVE DEAD DAUGHTER'S NAME

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CANTON, O., Nov. 1.—John H. Loutzenheiser, a farmer living three miles north of this city, came here today to arrange for the burial of his six-months-old child, but when he tried to supply the information for the certificate he was unable to say which was dead, Rachel or Rebecca.

The little ones are twins and both have been suffering from pneumonia. One died last night and the other is not expected to live. The certificate was left blank where the name should have been inserted.

Five Negroes Arrested.

William Reed, a negro of 4648 Gangwisch street, was arrested by Detectives Kelly and Cole yesterday and charged with cutting Alphonse Dixon in Sachem alley on Monday night. Four other negroes were arrested at the time, one of whom, Henry Williams, known as "Shacklefoot," was turned over to the Homestead police for a robbery committed there some time ago. The others paid small fines, as Dixon was not badly hurt.

Refugees Declare the Stories False.

VIENNA, Nov. 1.—The Jews here are indignant at the news which comes from Gomel, in Russia, that the Russian government is attempting to prove that the trouble was caused by the Jews attacking the Christians in revenge for Kishineff. Many of the Jews who fled from Gomel at the time of the riots a year ago in September, are now here and denounce the stories told by the government witnesses as unqualifiedly false.

Trust Company Officials Fined.

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—John Marshall Barry, president and treasurer of the North American Trust, who pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny, was today sentenced to pay a fine of $50 on each of 40 counts. The North American Trust collected installment payments of its patrons, contracting to make for them purchases of real and personal property.

Suspect Placed Under Arrest.

DETROIT, MICH., Nov. 1.—A Free Press special from Grand Rapids says: Two men, said by the police to be George Wilson and Arthur Noyes, alias Howard, when arrested here today were found to have a full equipment of safe blowing tools and four ounces of nitroglycerin. They are said to be wanted by the Chicago police.

Superintendent Porter Resigns.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—F. Ernest Porter, superintendent of the Sharon works of the Carnegie Steel Company, resigned today. His successor has not been chosen. Mr. Porter has been connected with the company for eight years and his resignation came as a surprise.

BOARDERS ARE OBJECT OF POISON PLOT

Pudding Sent to House—Three Servants Critically Ill from Eating Portions.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Two persons who ate part of a pudding sent to No. 141 West Forty-third street this afternoon, are dying in Roosevelt hospital, a third is in a critical condition, and the police of the West Forty-seventh street station are scouring that part of the city, trying to locate the messenger who left the package at the door. No. 141 West Forty-third street is a theatrical boarding house, kept by a Mrs. Lardner, and it is believed that the sender of the package planned the death of the entire household. Had the pudding reached the dinner table, as was intended, the lives of a score of persons would have been imperiled.

Mrs. Rosa Preston, a negress, is the housekeeper, and her son, Cornell, 19 years old, acts as bell boy. It is the mother and son and George Casney, a young friend, who are in the hospital. They ate some of the pudding before it was turned over to the boarders. A few minutes after, they were all writhing from the effects of arsenic poisoning.

TATNALL TO PRESS SUITS.

Receiver to Prosecute Asphalt Company Promoters to Recover Alleged Illegal Profit.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—Admitting that the interests which he now represents as receiver of the Asphalt Company of America has, through the purchase of nearly all the bonds not represented in the reorganization of that corporation by interests friendly to the promoters of the company, may have dwindled to but $12,500 and the claims of the stockholders, Henry Tatnall today said that he would, nevertheless, continue his prosecution of these promoters for the recovery of the alleged illegal profits they are said to have made in its organization unless ordered to stop by the court.

This declaration came after the announcement that Judge Lanning, in the United States circuit court, at Trenton, had refused the petition of the Land Title and Trust Company of this city, asking the discontinuance of the receiver's suit against one of these promoters. He further decided, however, that Receiver Tatnall should appear before him on Monday, November 14, and show cause why these suits should not be dropped.

Futile Attempt at Bank Looting.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Berwyn, just recovered from the shock of its postoffice robbery three weeks ago, received a visit from robbers early this morning. The Berwyn National bank, located on the Lancaster pike, two doors from the postoffice, was the objective point of the marauders, but the providential appearance of two residents scared away the thieves, who made their escape amid a fusillade of shots from their detectors.

WABASH COAL IS SECURED BY LEASE

Pittsburgh Coal Company Directors Obtain Control of Seven Well Equipped Mines.

IMPORTANT DEAL IS MADE

The board of directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, at a monthly meeting held yesterday, decided to lease coal properties acquired by the Wabash through the purchase of a controlling interest in the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company. These properties embrace seven well equipped mines in the Pittsburgh district, the operation of which will be at once assumed by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, beginning this morning.

This action which was taken at a regular meeting of the directorate of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was exclusively forecasted by The Gazette in its issue of yesterday.

The terms of the deal have not yet been made known, but the understanding has all along been that the Pittsburgh Terminal's bond issue of $7,000,000 would have to be largely provided for by the leasings of the coal properties, and the deal may be safely made that the terms as agreed upon yesterday cover this important point.

Negotiations looking to this merger have been under way for some time. It was proposed at one time that the coal properties should be turned over to the Consolidated Coal Company, one of the chief interests in the west, for operation, but the terms offered to and accepted by the Pittsburgh Coal Company are understood to be much more advantageous all around, and once an understanding was reached with the Pittsburgh Coal Company all plans looking to the passing of the coal interests to the Consolidated Company were abandoned. This abandonment was largely brought about on account of the marked difference in operating and marketing conditions between the east and west.

The directors of the Monongahela River Coal and Coke Company also met yesterday. The fiscal year of the company ended October 31, but the reports of operations and finances will not be issued until about the first of January, when the annual meeting is held.

REFUSED TO COMMEND BLUE LAW CRUSADERS

Baptist Bible School Convention Rescinds Such Resolution and Compels It to Be Modified.

A dissension arose over a resolution commending the work of the Allegheny County Sabbath association in its Sunday observance crusade at the semi-annual convention of Bible schools of the Pittsburgh Baptist association in Bradford yesterday afternoon. The committee on resolutions had presented such a resolution, which was at once attacked by the Rev. G. F. Gleles and the Rev. A. Nellis, both of the South Side. James Mills of Braddock and Fred C. Brittain of Sewickley also opposed the proposed resolution. The speakers argued against adopting a resolution that had once been defeated by another Baptist convention. After an animated discussion the resolution was withdrawn and one supplanting or indorsing the educational plan proposed by the Sabbath association in appealing to citizens for a strict observance of the Sabbath. A resolution recognizing the services of F. J. Rebbeck, for 30 years a clerk of the association, who recently went to California, was adopted.

The morning session opened with services by the Rev. A. A. Nellis. There were 200 delegates present from 78 schools. The Rev. F. B. Williams of the Turtle Creek Baptist church spoke on "The Sunday Work of the Superintendent and Teacher," the Rev. W. W. West of Greensburg made an address on "Our Denominational Lesson Helps: Can They Be Improved?"

The afternoon session was opened by devotional services. The Rev. Dr. W. G. Partridge spoke on "How Can We Revive the Practice of Memorizing Scripture in the Bible Schools?" The Rev. Dr. Maurice P. Pike of Franklin spoke on "The Bible School in Theory and Practice."

Three prize banners were awarded. The Fourth Avenue Baptist church took the prize for the largest amount raised, $868.85 for 265 members. The Duquesne Heights Baptist church got the banner for the largest percentage according to membership, $120 for an enrollment of 77, and the banner for the greatest increase over previous offerings was awarded to the Riverview school, Monongahela City, which was 33.30 cents a member for 66 members. The total offering amounted to $4.06.38.

The evening session was led with a song service by a choir of 30 voices from the Braddock church. Attorney J. E. Gibson spoke on "Christmas Observance: Motives and Methods," and the Rev. M. P. Pikes spoke on "Striking a Match."

YOUTHS CAUSE TROUBLE.

Glassport Church Is Threatened With a Factional Row Because of a Masquerade Party.

Because of the doings of the younger set in the Presbyterian church in Glassport on Hallowe'en night, a breach has occurred in the congregation, and the pastor, the Rev. C. S. Osborne, was busy yesterday trying to span it. The Friday Night Euchre club, which includes many of the young people of the church in its membership, gave a Hallowe'en party in a public hall in Glassport, at which there was dancing, card playing and social games.

Each person who attended wore a white masquerade costume and the girls could not be distinguished from the men and the leaders of the affair could not be recognized. Previous to the party the members paraded the streets in their costumes. Early yesterday morning another parade was held. When the older members of the church learned of the actions of the young people they threatened to bring the matter up in the church and have all who took part punished.

STRUGGLED WITH BURGLAR.

As Frank Dean of 230 Shady avenue entered his home shortly after 10 o'clock last night he encountered a man on the stairs. The two grappled, Dean being thrown to the foot of the stairs, while the stranger escaped. He had entered through a cellar window.

In his flight the man left his hat, which was turned over to the East Liberty police, who identified it as belonging to Albert Redpath of Euclid avenue. When the police called at the home of Redpath he made an effort to escape through a rear door, and was detained only at the point of a pistol. He was identified by Dean at the police station yesterday morning and held for court in $1,000 by Magistrate Negley.

Still Owes for Worn-Out Suit.

Alderman Groetzinger committed Edward Strothers to jail yesterday on a charge of larceny by bailee, made by Harry Katz, manager of a Fifth avenue credit clothing store. Strothers purchased a suit of clothes from the concern and after making several payments defaulted. The clothing by this time is of no value except to a ragman.

Plasterers Effect Settlement.

The strike against the T. J. McNulty Co., contracting plasterers, has been called off. The executive officials of the International Operative Plasterers sent out an order yesterday, stating a settlement had been reached and ordered the strikers back to work. This firm has the contract for the Diamond National bank and the cathedral.

STEEL MEN VISIT CARNEGIE WORKS

RECEPTION LAST EVENING

It was a tired but satisfied crowd of foreign steel men and hosts that returned to their quarters late yesterday afternoon after seeing two of the great steel plants, to inspect which they had traveled far. Through nearly every department of the Homestead and Duquesne steel works the members of the Iron and Steel institute passed yesterday, guided by officials of the company and protected by watchful police from personal injury from the cranes, the electrical equipment or the white-hot metal.

The party left the Schenley in special cars at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, escorted by practically all of the members of the Pittsburgh committee. The ladies remained at the hotel for a carriage ride later—all except one—and that one woman, with her escort, made the entire round of the great steel works, walked the five or six miles, stood the heat and dirt and returned to her hotel in as good condition as any man in the party. She was young and attractive and her presence served to heighten the interest in the trip.

Union Jack Was Displayed.

As the street cars approached the entrance to the Homestead works the visitors saw a great Union Jack stretched between two poles across the boardwalk that leads to the mills. On a pole above the Stars and Stripes were flying.

At Homestead the plate and structural mills and the open hearth furnaces were seen and then the party was taken into the armor plate department and shown the rolling, sawing and forging processes used there. The mammoth armor plates impressed the visitors greatly, as did everything else, and admiration for the automatic machinery used was frequently shown.

Leaving Homestead about 1 o'clock, in two special trains over the Pennsylvania, the party was taken half way to Duquesne and then the trains were placed one on each side of a row of baggage cars. From these cars a tasty and generous luncheon was served to the entire party by the Carnegie Steel Company.

At the Duquesne works the party was shown the bar and rail mills, the billet mills, the open hearth furnaces, the converters, the blast furnaces and the power plants.

Discovered the Difference.

The differences in the methods between the newer Duquesne plant and the Homestead works were quickly noted by the experienced iron and steel men in the party and received considerable comment. The output report of the four furnaces in the Duquesne group displayed on a signboard, were read by all and many copied the figures.

Throughout the visit to the steel works the party was under the personal escort of the principal officers, President A. C. Dinkey, Secretary W. W. Blackburn, Homer J. Lindsay, assistant to the president; A. R. Hunt, general superintendent at Homestead, and H. D. Williams, general superintendent at Duquesne, as well as the various department heads, formed the escort. First Vice President James Gayley of the United States Steel Corporation, came on from New York to help pay honor to the guests.

At Homestead the officials had a local reception committee of about 25 members, with John S. Unger as chairman and H. J. Davis as vice president. This committee, composed mainly of department heads, did excellent work in explaining the operation of the plant. A similar committee performed the same services at Duquesne.

Reception Is Well Attended.

Last evening, in the lobby of the Schenley, a reception was tendered the visitors. The big lobby was filled for several hours with handsomely gowned women and men in evening dress and with the background of potted flowers, palms and ferns, and vines on the walls it formed a pleasing scene. Orchestral music and refreshments made the evening the more pleasant. Practically, the entire party were present.

The women of the party were entertained yesterday by a number of Pittsburgh women, many of the latter being the wives of the local committeemen. Shortly after the men of the party left the Schenley for the trip through the steel works, the women departed in carriages for a ride along the boulevards and through the parks. At noon an elaborate luncheon was served at the country club. Mrs. A. M. Jenkinson, Mrs. Julian Kennedy and Mrs. Albert J. Logan were in charge of the arrangements.

The program for the men of the party today is as busy as was yesterday's. They go to Braddock this forenoon to see the Edgar Thomson steel works and to East Pittsburgh this afternoon to visit the Westinghouse industries.

At the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company's dining rooms this evening at 6 o'clock a dinner will be served, which will be one of the especially memorable affairs of the Pittsburgh visit.

CENSURED BIGELOW.

Property owners and residents of the bluff district in the Sixth ward held an indignation meeting last night, to protest against the $10,000, appropriated by councils about four months ago for improvements in Bluff street, being used by Director Bigelow for any other purpose. The meeting was held in the Eighth district polling place, Bluff and Magee streets, and was attended by about 100 residents.

Thomas Walker, a large property holder in the ward, presided, and Bigelow's alleged intention to use the $10,000 for other purposes than for which it was set aside was severely censured. Mr. Walker appointed a committee to meet with Select Councilman Peter Hermes at 2 p. m., Friday, at Alderman Martin's office, in Fifth avenue, near Old avenue, to discuss the matter. Afterward the committee, which is composed of Mr. Walker, Contractor Charles Egan, W. J. Flinn, Alderman Martin, Albert Frank, George R. Kress and George Snow, will call on Bigelow.

The money was appropriated for the improvement of Bluff street, from Gist street to the end of the bluff. The residents want a sidewalk laid along the edge of the hill and trees planted along the curb on the same side of the street.

RELIGIOUS ARGUMENT IS LIKELY TO END IN MURDER

Allegheny Croats Get Into a Fight and One Has His Skull Crushed.

While quarreling over the affairs of their church last night, several Croats of Allegheny got into a fight that resulted in the serious injury of Steve Skirwack of 1613 East Ohio street. John Evanovitch of 1603 East Ohio street is charged with assaulting Skirwack and is being sought by the Allegheny police. In the melee George Ferlock of 1510 East Ohio street tried to stab Policeman John Slodic, who broke up the battle. Ferlock landed in Central station. The injured man is in the Allegheny General hospital with his skull crushed and is in a critical condition.

The trouble occurred shortly after 7 o'clock, when a number of Croats gathered in the boarding house of John Kusha, 1521 East Ohio street. There has been trouble in St. Nicholas church for more than a year and considerable bitterness exists between the two factions in the congregation. An argument led to a quarrel and later to a fight, in which Skirwack was felled by a terrific blow on the head from a chair in the hands of Evanovitch. None of the others was injured. Detectives England and Einstein were put on the case, but at a late hour last night had not arrested Evanovitch.

Immigrants Coming to Pittsburgh.

Several hundred immigrants are expected at the Baltimore & Ohio station tomorrow or Friday. The ship Bradenburg is due to arrive at Locust Point, Baltimore, today, with 900 newcomers. Probably one-half will locate in local territory.

MAYOR HAYS WITHHOLDS HIS SIGNATURE TO DEAL

Executive Delays Action Until 10 Days Elapse and Dickering Goes On.

Mayor Hays has not yet signed the three traction ordinances and the ordinance of the Duquesne Light Company, which were passed by councils last week. The mayor has 10 days in which to sign or veto a measure, but it has not been his custom to dispose of all bills within a day or two after their passage. In this case the mayor is taking his time and will not say when he will dispose of the bills. He says he has until Sunday and that he will do nothing until the end of the week.

There is a report, which is generally believed, that the deal is not yet completed and that the ordinances will not be signed until everything in connection with it is disposed of satisfactorily to the Verner syndicate. One of the supposed conditions of the deal is that Verner and his associates are to be repaid for the traction franchises they secured from councils last spring, and which they lost by a sharp move by the Philadelphia Company, and that the three franchises granted last week by councils are being withheld until the Philadelphia Company comes to terms said to have been previously agreed upon.

The position of the franchise of the Duquesne Light Company is not quite clear, but is also reported that the Philadelphia Company refuses to make any terms with Verner and the city administration unless it can secure the Duquesne light franchise as well as the traction franchises.

Infants's in white, 65c pair.

On the Corset Question.

The new gowns demand a perfect-fitting corset. It follows that an ill-fitting or badly constructed corset will ruin an up-to-date dress.

This morning we call attention to a few of our high-grade corsets. We have about every good grade of corset on the market in our Corset Department, but those we refer to are of far greater merit than the average corset met with, no matter what the price.

Take our own corset, The Pompadour, for example. We have it made for us in Paris on lines suggested by Pittsburg's women of fashion. Only the finest materials are used in its making and the skilled French artisan, and the French, you know, can do wonders when given carte blanche in a matter of this kind. Late models to fit all figures. $5.00, $7.00, $8.50, $10.00 and up to $20.00.

The Fasso represents the highest art in corset making. The woman who has worn Fasso will not be contented with any other made. High or low bust, long hips, all styles, $6.50, $8.00, $9.00 and up to $16.00.

The La Fleur, the flower of corsets, so named on account of its grace of outline. In this corset the French and American ideas of corset making have been harmoniously blended. Styles to fit the svelte woman, the medium woman, and her of the very stout figure. $5.00 to $15.00.

La Vida is another corset of renown—happy combination of foreign and American ideas. Medium, high or low bust, short or habit hips, shown in various materials. $3.50 to $10.00.

Corset Specials:

Straight front Corsets in fine coutil, $1.50 pair; in fancy broche, $3.00. These have supporters attached.

Mahogany Art Furniture.

You don't buy a new suite of furniture as you do a hat or a pair of gloves—several times a year at least. Therefore it behooves you to take up the matter deliberately and study it in its different phases. Remember, price in furniture is not everything. If you feel that you are a judge of woods, that you know cherry (even if it is disguised) from mahogany, and that you are a judge of styles, then you don't have to depend on the salesmen's word. You can buy anywhere if you are familiar with prices, with equal success.

If, however, you are doubtful about your knowledge of woods, styles and other points about furniture, of which we have made a lifetime study, you can come here with confidence, perfect reliance in our statements, and get the lowest prices that can be made for high qualities.

Today we call attention to a very fine assortment of artistic furniture comprising in part Vernis Martin, Mahogany and Gold Curio Cabinets, Curio Tables, Tea Tables, Sewing Tables, Open and Closed Desks, and many other carefully selected pieces.
Mahogany Music Cabinets, $7.50, $10.00, $12.00, $14.00 and up to $75.00.
Mahogany Closed Desks, $12.50, $15.00, $18.00 and up to $300.00.
Mahogany Fancy Tables, $3.50, $6.00, $7.50, $9.00 and up to $150.00.

Aluminum Pots and Kettles.

When housewives began using tin pans they had to learn how—else both food and pan would have been spoiled.

Housewife, or cook, or both, should learn to use aluminum ware, else they miss much of its advantage.

In the Housefurnishing Department a demonstration is now going on. The demonstrator gives her whole time to the work. Come and ask questions; get the servants to come.

The demonstrator will show you that, if gas is your fuel, you can save half of it by using aluminum pans. That sounds like an extravagant claim—but it's sober truth. The way most people waste gas is deplorable.

All aluminum ware is good, if thick enough to be strong, and the brand we handle is strong—strong enough to last a lifetime. If, perchance, you do burn food in an aluminum pan, it is the food only that is ruined—not the pan nor the next article that is cooked therein.

Parlor, Dining-Room, Library and Fireplace Screens.

Wednesday, November 2, 1904.

If the reported deal between the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Wabash interests shall be confirmed it will strengthen both in the public estimation. The arrangement that has been admittedly under discussion is one that should prove advantageous to both interests. The Pittsburgh company can, no doubt, operate the coal properties with the greatest success, and the railroad interest will thereby be assured of a valuable traffic. That is the whole matter in a nutshell.

Another advance of $2 a ton on pipe is announced, following quickly upon a previous announcement of the same kind. This can mean only that the demand for tubular goods is active and growing. It indicates activity, also, in other lines of the iron and steel trade, which confirms the reports of increasing interest during the past two months. In short, there is little room to doubt that the business tide is rising rapidly and that next year it will be again in full swing. It is the first time in history that revival came during a presidential campaign, and is, in itself, evidence that business interests are not uncertain about the result.

King Peter of Servia has been visiting Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, the incident being chiefly important as showing that there is at least one place where the king of Servia is not boycotted. European papers report that the Austrian court was sounded as to whether a visit there by his Servian majesty would be acceptable, but the answer was a curt negative. The present trend of events does not promise a long career to the Servian kingdom as it stands right in the path of the movement of European empire towards Asia Minor and it does not possess either the physical or the moral resources for a great national career of its own.

More than 10,000 cotton operatives, who have either been idle or working on part time, were set to work on the regular schedule this week in New England. This activity is not due to the approach of election, but to better conditions in the cotton market, which has been so actively manipulated by stock speculators the past few months that it has gone up in price beyond the reach of legitimate buyers. While the cotton bulls and bears were engaged in their lively scuffle, the growers and users of this necessary staple might well ask what profit all this excitement could bring them. In the meantime the strikers at Fall River, who went out because they refused to accept a reduction, have been gradually leaving the city until it is estimated that at least one-half of them have gone to other fields or have found other employment.

The appearance of Judge Parker before an enormous audience that crowded Madison Square garden in New York city Monday night was really the first time the candidate has come out before a general assembly and he was enthusiastically received. The cheering is said to have lasted nearly half an hour and the demonstration to have exceeded any given a presidential candidate. But the wiser heads in the Democratic party do not attach much significance to this reception, for they realize that noise is not necessarily an indication of the size of the vote he may expect. Many will recall the great outpourings that met Mr. Blaine on his famous tour that closed the campaign of 1884, yet he was not elected. The most enthusiastic reception in Allegheny county to a presidential candidate was accorded Mr. Bryan in 1896 and the free silver advocate could always draw a crowd and awaken enthusiasm. Elections depend on the quiet voters who do not always attend rallies but may be counted on when the voting is done.

The increase in the rowdyism on Hallowe'en is general. When the police allowed unrestricted violations of the ordinances prohibiting noise on the Fourth, boys took advantage of the liberty until the national holiday has become almost intolerable. There has been a reaction and a tendency to curb the celebrations attending the observance of our declaration anniversary, especially so far as the protection of life and property demanded it. Similar restrictions will be needed for the Hallowe'en outburst, if it be allowed to continue unchecked. This year two children were killed while celebrating near New York city, one being hit by a man who was defending his home against the assault of vandals and the other child ran on a street railroad track when frightened by masked revelers. In Ohio a motorman crushed a prostrate form on the track, thinking it was a dummy. No disregard of the ordinary rules to restrain crowds can be made without danger, and the question is whether the fun is worth the risk.

With the opening of the subway in New York city there have appeared advertising signs at the stations which offend many people who had believed that the tunnel was to be free from these commercial features. Mr. John DeWitt Warner, chairman of the municipal art commission, tells people to tear them down and trample them under foot, for they have no right to offend the eye or obstruct the passages. On the other hand President Orr of the rapid transit board defends them, and says he can see no harm in such displays. He was long enough connected with the enterprise to know how difficult it was to enlist capital to build it and the lessees were allowed to use advertising provided it did not interfere with the public in finding or entering the stations. Mr. Warner is a lawyer and ought to know what he is talking about, but no one has dared take his advice about trampling down the signs. From an esthetic point of view it would be desirable to abolish the signs and public sentiment may demand this, especially when it has been proved that the underground road can be made to pay without them.

Small Public Favors Astray.

While the transfer of ordinances for the regulation of street car traffic from the committee to which they were referred to another may be an innocent proceeding, an indignant public can be excused for regarding it with suspicion. The very recent enactment of ordinances granting valuable privileges free to the street railway interests, in direct violation of the solemn pledges of councilmen and the administration, has aroused bitter sentiment. So when an ordinance prohibiting passengers from standing on street car platforms, designed to secure the safety of the public, is referred to the public safety committee and turns up in the committee on corporations it is but natural to conclude that the thing has been done to cheat the public out of a chance to secure that small favor.

It is current gossip that at the next meeting of common council ordinances will be introduced to regulate the speed of cars on the streets and to increase the vehicle tax upon them. It will be interesting to note whether they find their way into wrong committees, or whether there will be efforts to railroad them through by suspension of the rules or the call of successive special meetings. The people of Pittsburgh have come to expect official neglect of their interests, as quite a matter of course, but they retain their interest in the proceedings. They are always alert to see how it is done. Some day they will insist on having some other things done, and they will not be satisfied with a mere pretense like the linear license tax.

The Trend Toward Arbitration.

France has been demonstrating her sentiments in favor of peaceful arbitration of disputes, for within a week after the announcement that her premier, M. Delcasse, had persuaded the disputants in the North sea episode to refer the matter to The Hague, the French ambassador in Washington signed with Secretary Hay the first of a series of general arbitration treaties this country proposes to ask its senate to ratify. In this matter France is following the policy exemplified by its recent treaty with Great Britain, the specific example which influenced other nations to adopt a similar course. All the proposed American treaties are based on the provisions of the last Hague convention, which has already produced positive results in spite of the misfortune of the Russo-Japanese war.

Secretary Hay recently announced that this country contemplated negotiating such treaties, and it is said conventions with Italy and Switzerland are already under way. When once these instruments have been put to the test and the results prove satisfactory it will be much easier for nations to submit differences which now seem incapable of settlement without resort to war. The convention between France and England has done much good. It can be said that the very existence of The Hague court has stimulated this advance, and when that tribunal has a permanent home the peace palace will stand as a concrete invitation to those entangled in international quarrels.

While the details of our peace treaty with France cannot be made public until they have been submitted to the senate, it is understood there is nothing in the articles of agreement in any way prejudicial to the assertion of the Monroe doctrine on this continent. Exception is still made in all such agreements to questions affecting the "vital interests, honor or independence" of the nations concerned. In other words, there is no agreement that can be a complete barrier to war, which may still be undertaken as a last resort by the mere contention that national honor is affected. But the elements of peace are contained in any instrument that even suggests arbitration as the best means of settling differences. An arbitration treaty is merely the extension of law which governs individuals so as to apply it to nations.

Russia Will Derive Benefit.

Russia's experience in Manchuria has done it good. Its final defeat there, unless it shall bring on a period of anarchy, will be of immense advantage to the great empire of the north. Heretofore Russia has felt self-sufficient. Officially it has pursued a policy of restriction of its own people and exclusion of foreigners. In this latter respect it has been little more liberal than its huge, conservative neighbor, China. These influences are as much responsible for Russian humiliation in the far eastern war as the inadequacy of the single-track Siberian railroad for the transportation and maintenance of a large enough army to meet Japan.

Already there is evidence that at least some of the Russian leaders appreciate the situation. Without waiting for the end of the war there has sprung up a strong movement for the better treatment and education of the peasantry. As the war progresses and men are taken from the farms to face the enemy and assist in the transportation work it is found that Russia's food supply requires the toil of all of its men. When the war ends the financial condition of the empire will be strained, and it will be strange indeed if the government does not turn to the easy method of selling concessions and inviting foreign capital to the development of rich resources as a means of replenishing the exchequer. Up to the present time the Russian government has shown a preference for its own absolute control of public utilities and to develop agricultural and mineral resources without outside aid. In addition to its preference for that course it must have felt that its form and manner of government would not prove attractive to foreign capital, even if it were permitted investment in Russian territory.

Now the lesson taught by the war is—and it will be greatly strengthened by final defeat—that to regain its prestige Russia must develop. Its ignorant fighting men must be educated so they may be capable of individual initiative. Machinery must be employed in farming to release men for military service. Foreign capital must be invited to create a railroad system for the development of mineral and timber resources. To attain these things Russia must "liberalize" its government. The extreme autocracy is not suited to an educated peasantry or to the investment of capital in industry. There must be a fair degree of security for capital and labor and these cannot be had from a government where absolute power is lodged in the hands of one man or a set of men who are, as likely as not, corrupt. For all of these reasons Russia should benefit greatly by its misfortunes in the far east. More than victorious Japan.

A Point to Remember.

Less than a week remains of the campaign. During that time few men will be moved by argument in making their choice of candidates. The campaign of education is over, though Candidate Parker, taking the stump at the eleventh hour does not appear to realize the fact. There is no longer any reasonable doubt about the result on the presidential vote. Parker has proved a distinct disappointment to his own party, and President Roosevelt has grown stronger in the affections of the people every day since the Democratic national convention adjourned.

The important business now is to get out the vote. This is especially true of Pennsylvania. This state is so overwhelmingly Republican on party issues as to breed overconfidence. This feeling cannot endanger the presidential electors under any circumstances, but unless combatted it may jeopardize some of the close congressional and legislative districts. It is just as important to have a Republican congress and a Republican legislature as to have a Republican president. Every voter should turn out and do his duty in this respect and resolve himself into a committee of one to see that his neighbors do the same.

If the full vote is brought out there can be no question about the result. Thirty of the 32 congressional districts will elect the Republican candidates and the legislature will have a stronger majority than two years ago. That is as it should be, and these remarks apply in particular to the Tenth, Eleventh, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-sixth congressional districts. They should all be decisively Republican this year.

Renewed Apprehension.

An indication of the nervous fear attaching to the movement of the Russian Baltic fleet was afforded by the alarming reports of yesterday. British military activity was assigned to a violation of agreement as to the conduct of that fleet, and though official outgivings were of reassuring character apprehension had not been wholly allayed in London last evening.

This apprehension no doubt has its origin in the suspicion, entertained from the first, that Russia may be craftily planning to provoke English interference to save its face in the far east. It is not in the least probable, however, that Great Britain will play the Russian game by taking a hostile attitude except under open and unmistakable provocation to war. The giving of such provocation would in great measure defeat the supposed Russian object, for its international prestige or reputation could not be improved by wanton insult to a great neutral power.

Whatever the outcome of the present situation, the progress of the Baltic fleet toward the far east will be watched with anxiety by the whole civilized world. The capacity of Russia for blundering has been so thoroughly exemplified that apprehension is universal. Its frequent attempts to stretch the laws of neutrality, its doubtful seizures of neutral ships and cargo and finally its attack upon a peaceful fishing fleet have gotten "on the nerves" of other nations.

While discussing the ordinance for the regulation of the speed of street cars in Pittsburgh, would it not be a good idea to enforce the ordinance requiring their equipment with fenders?

Apparently Rojestvensky did see torpedo boats in the North sea. But if he did they were his own. One Russian boat of that type is said to be missing.

Is Point bridge to be completed in two weeks, or does the transfer of money from that fund imply further appropriations next February for necessary work?

Judge Parker's friends are delighted to find that he draws a crowd. Well, for that matter a royal Bengal tiger would draw a crowd, if securely caged.

Fighting is on at Port Arthur again, with the usual Russian reports of tremendous losses to the enemy and Japanese satisfaction with the positions gained.

President Roosevelt continues to keep the country at peace with all the world and high in international prestige.

Who manages the transfer of bills from committees to which they are referred to committees that want them?

When Russia called a peace conference a pending war did not prevent participation by the United States.

They are talking at Mukden about a retreat to Harbin. Possibly trying to lure the Japanese on.

Judge Parker's rush to the stump after the arguments are all in is probably due to judicial habit.

There are signs that Premier Delcasse needs to get busy again. The modus vivendi is in danger.

One T. Taggart may soon again turn his attention to the square game at the springs hotel.

There are comparatively few bets being made on the election. Another evidence of sanity.

Standard Oil may want Parker, but it distinctly refuses to stand for him publicly.

Turkey has temporarily suspended massacres since the last visit of American warships.

Point bridge is promised to the public in two weeks. Painted or unpainted?

Election day and the first snow storm of the season are approaching.

Esopus porch speeches have been abandoned for this campaign.

William J. Bryan will not be the loser next Tuesday.

Another blunder or two will cost Russia dearly.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A visiting Pittsburgher was very much impressed with the work of the mounted police in controlling traffic at congested crossings. "It strikes me it would be a good thing for Pittsburgh to copy," he said. "In Pittsburgh we have even more serious congestion of traffic than in New York. At Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, again at Wood and then at Market there is room for just such a move as is now being made in New York at the Flatiron building, at Herald square, at the Central park circle and elsewhere." A new scheme was inaugurated today at the circle which bids fair to bring order out of the chaos of automobiles, park carriages and trucks. A broad whitewash line has been drawn completely around the Columbus statue, at a distance of 25 yards, leaving a wide avenue near the curbing. The entire center of the circle, where the three street car tracks cross, is kept free from vehicles of every description. Truck drivers are signalled to keep off the area enclosed by the whitewashed line, and if they are slow in complying a firm hand is laid on the bridle and they are yanked off to where they belong. When a driver refuses to obey he is taken to the station house to have an interview with the captain. The plan is that all uptown traffic from Broadway and Eighth avenue shall keep to the right of the park circle and all downtown traffic to the left, leaving the center entirely free. Crowds of persons stood watching the enforcement of the new rule today, and there were many comments on the improved condition of the circle before it had been working half an hour.

Annual Conscience Contributor.

Col. David E. Austen reported to Controller Grout today that he had received a contribution of $75.30 to the conscience fund of the city to be applied to the account of personal taxes. This letter accompanies the contribution: "For conscience fund I enclose P. O. money order No. 45115, to your favor, by station 'H,' N. Y., for $75.30 for personal taxes of 1904 on $5,000 (all that the city is entitled to collect), $75.67, less rebate to December 1, 37 cents. Yours respectfully,

"ISIDOR JONAS (name assumed)."

A like communication and enclosure with the same signature has reached the tax department every year for several years, Col. Austen says.

She May Have Long Wait.

Count V——, saw you with her again at the Herbert concert Sunday night. Do you realize you are breaking my heart? I am at the St. Regis, and I'll wait there until you call for me if I wait until doomsday.—M. VeD.

The foregoing advertisement, voicing some one's woe, appeared in today's Herald. Who "M. VeD." is remains a mystery. They have no idea at the St. Regis, they say, and are inclined to think someone is taking liberties with that exclusive institution. But if there is some one in the hotel who has veiled her identity under "M. VeD." her heart will apparently continue to break, for no "count" or any other count has called in response to the personal.

Death in Hallowe'en Prank.

One dead and several more or less injured is the Hallowe'en record for New York and its environs. The death was that of 15-year-old John Darling, son of N. P. Darling, a New York broker, living at Wakefield, N. J., and who was accidentally shot by a neighbor. The injuries are divided among a few score of young women, and were received in a crush when they fled pell mell from a small fire in the parish house of the Calvary Protestant Episcopal church at No. 104 East Twenty-second street. The fatality in Wakefield was the direct outcome of a Hallowe'en prank. Harold S. Wilcox, who is one of the most prominent residents of this place, lost his temper when his own children and a party of their friends at his home upset a pail of water on a maid in his employ, and fired three shots from a revolver to the floor to scare the young practical jokers. One of the bullets glanced from the floor and passed through the boy's head. The lad died 10 minutes later.

College Boys Given Annual Bath.

Although the chill of fall was in the air, the freshman class of the New York university, clad in pajamas, took their annual Hallowe'en bath in the Hall of Fame fountain. The several classes congregated in front of Gould hall and formed in a procession, the freshmen in their light raiment bringing up the rear. The procession, led by the senior class, marched across Ohio field to the different professors' houses. The first to be visited was that of Chancellor MacCracken. The students sang several college songs, and the chancellor stepped out on to his porch. He told of the origin of Hallowe'en and produced two barrels of red apples. Dean Snow, Prof. McLough and Prof Bliss were visited. Prof. McLough offered words of encouragement to the freshmen who were about to receive their college baptism.

Very Careless With Their Jewels.

A woman customer of Black, Starr & Frost has notified the firm that while shopping a few days ago in this city she left a package of diamonds valued at about $1,000 in a cab, she thinks, but cannot remember the number of the cab. "The woman bought the gems of us," it was said at the jewelry firm's shop, "and thinking that possibly they might be brought to us for a re-sale, notified us of the loss. She also lost some things that she bought at Arnold, Constable & Co.'s and she has also notified that firm of her loss, as she did us. We do not know the name of the woman. We have notifications that $10,000 worth of gems bought of us have been lost by customers in the past six weeks."

Nips of New York News.

Judge Parker has at last found his tongue. He will speak at Carnegie hall and Cooper union Wednesday night.

The election prophet has proven that two of him can take the same figures and produce exactly opposite results, also proving that "liars will figure."

The statement in a morning paper that those who go to hear "Parsifal" sung in English do not seem so anxious to display fine toggery seems like a slur on Mr. Conreid's constituency.

Japanese in New York will celebrate the mikado's birthday Wednesday. Russians not invited.

Mr. Parsons says the subway will elevate the moral tone of the city. Certainly it might be improved.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

If you have anything that you think is worth saying, say it.

More is learned by talking than by any other means. This is particularly true of the masses.

Of those who read, only the fewest read to be instructed, the majority seeking only for news concerning current affairs or for entertainment.

Those who gain information through reading and study convey much of it to others by means of conversation; while those who read but little, and study less, are more willing to listen to others telling what they have learned than they are to read and study for themselves.

And then you probably know that you can learn more and get a better understanding of things by having some one tell you about them than by simply reading.

It is for this we have preachers, and teachers, and lecturers.

Young folks are great talkers, and are very fond of listening to those who talk well and sensibly. Little folks learn by hearing and they never forget an interesting story or a clever recital, or description of an event or scene. They also get their knowledge of language from hearing others speak, and get a style and manner of speaking in the same way.

Listen to those who talk, particularly to those who talk well, and talk some yourself when you know something worth talking about.

* * * * *

Dear Quiet Observer:—I was tempted several times to burden you with my unworthy self, but have always resisted the temptation till I can resist it no longer, so bear with me.

There never was a declaration in your column more true than that love, marriage and kissing are the most live topics of the day. In spite of all cries to the contrary whenever you treat of these topics you publish more letters than at any other time. Does that not show that people are earnestly interested in the subject? And it is not from spooney people that you get the letters, but from staid matrons and old bachelors and old maids.

In the spring of 1903 this question was discussed by your readers and I was among them. Here, I wish to thank you for the good your column did in changing my mind, and finally convincing me that matrimony was the most natural and most desirable state, which I finally entered a little over a year ago. A little late in life, but no matter, I appreciate it all the more keenly.

I think it was about the month of March of last year that you started the discussion and I joined it under the name of "Barkis." I thought I was willing, but would not trust women. I thought it was prudence on my part, but through reading your column I found out that it was due to my pride and selfishness.

The discussion thawed out my mind to argument and the result was that it did not take me very long to find out that I ought to be glad if a good girl would have me, and was not long to find out a suitable one for my life partner. My only wish to others is that all, especially the maids, young or old, and bachelors, that read this column, may live as happily as I do. I was as crusty a bachelor as the next one and just as proud of it, (foolish thought), but I say, Get thee a husband or a wife.

I remember that while the discussion lasted "five typewriters" landed into me good and hard. I imagined how they put their heads together and how their varicolored pompadours mingled into a very rainbow of colors, (I am sure that one of them was red headed) and indicted their their letter to you.

I wonder what became of them? Are any of them married? I do believe that should I meet any of them I would really consider them old friends.

Still I have said nothing of what was the temptation for writing to you which I could not overcome. In a recent issue you publish a letter from "N. H.," who says that she is proud that she is an old maid.

Well, she is trying hard to convince herself of it, but I'll bet that she does not succeed. She is trying to convince herself that by doing her duty she ought to be happy. She may be resigned, but she is not satisfied.

I think that she is a noble soul trying to stifle her own cravings to sacrifice them to duty. I sympathize with her. If, however, she means what she wrote she ought to sign herself as "Miss N. G.," because to be proud of living contrary to one's nature is an indication that something is wrong somewhere. But I honestly believe that she does not believe what she wrote, and that some bachelor ought to bump himself and take her for a wife.

This letter is rather long, I admit, but it contains the pent-up feelings of one who has a good deal to thank you for, and who has frequently thought of doing so personally.

To all bachelors and maids and all those proud and selfish beings who think that there is no partner good enough for them, I say: Get rid of the idea that you are but cautious, or that you do not like the idea of being tied down to one companion, for it is gross selfishness and foolish pride. Get married.

"Miss N. H." did not want to have her letter published. I will be very much obliged if you would publish mine, for all the readers of your column are bosom friends, and I would like them to know just what good they and you did me with their arguments.

I will repeat that your column is a wonder in making good friends, friends of the most intimate kind, such as do not hesitate to disclose their inmost feelings to each other, though unknown in body. BARKIS AS WAS.

* * * * *

The same old story, says you.

True enough, but old as it is it is not too old. In very truth it is ever new, even to those who have heard it time and again, and told it over and over.

Some of you who are disposed to protest against the publication of such letters may, after reading the foregoing epistle, be able to recall incidents that were the most delightful in all your lives.

It will do you no harm to recall these, and to dwell upon the memories they arouse from the quiet slumbers into which they had fallen.

And then, as you very well know, young folks talk more on these subjects than on any others, if not on all others put together. Is it not, therefore, most important that they should hear from their elders and those who can speak by the books?

It is something to have awakened an old bachelor and set him to thinking along a line that led to a successful marriage, which means happiness, prosperity and usefulness.

IT IS TO SMILE.

About the State

Wild Animals That Are Seen.

Martin Burgoon and S. S. Grove while hunting for pheasants in the vicinity of Ashville, is stated, Burgoon shot at what he thought was a fox, but on investigation found that he had killed a young bear. A sudden roar from behind apprised Burgoon that he would have trouble on his hands and the mother of the cub attacked him ferociously. He grappled with the maddened animal and was fighting desperately when Grove came to his help. After a bloody fight the bear was killed with a knife thrust. Burgoon sustained scalp wounds and his right arm was torn, while his companion was badly lacerated about the head and legs.—Cresson Record.

The story of the first bear killed in this section comes from Stoyestown. Bruin was slaughtered about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon about five miles northeast of Stoyestown in the Shade township election house by Prof. M. Slick, teacher of the Fairview school, Shade township, and G. B. Cassidy, a noted game hunter. Both hunters reside near Broadtown, Shade township.—Meyersdale Commercial.

Bears are plentiful in Warren and Forest counties. John Hilliard, who resides seven miles east of the Allegheny river and half way between Tidioute and Warren, visited the G. L. Ackerman lumber camp near East Hickory the other evening and related a remarkable story. He is working a farm in the locality mentioned, near the head of East Hickory creek. He stated that the bears have evaded the hunters in his vicinity, stripped the trees of their fruit and breaking off large limbs. At least a dozen of the animals have been seen this fall.—Franklin News.

Frank Ross of this city, a traveling salesman, encountered a strange animal on the public road leading from here to Dempseytown on Saturday which he believes to have been a bear. He was driving and saw the animal dodge from behind one tree to the other and peer at him. It was as long as Mr. Ross and bigger in color and in every way resembled the pictures he has seen in menageries, although rather shorter than those ordinarily seen in captivity. Mr. Ross was without a weapon of any kind and did not stop to make any further investigation. He was not molested.—Oil City Derrick.

Several people coming from Caledonia to DuBois on Saturday reported the killing of one of the largest panthers that has ever been seen in this section last week. The animal was killed near Caledonia, on Mosquito creek, and was brought down by one of the members of the Munn family who live in that section. When measured the animal was found to be 13 feet from tip to tip and is the largest specimen that has ever been seen in the vicinity, even when the woods were more dense and game of this kind more numerous. There are not many panthers to be found in that vicinity, but the one shot last week has been seen several times the past year.—Dubois Journal.

Out of the Usual Rut.

While workmen were digging a trench for a new gas line through the site of the former town of Petroleum Center on Friday, they struck the main street of the place, the line running along it for a distance of several hundred feet. Two feet under ground they struck the old street of the once famous oil town and found that it was paved with flagstone. The pavement is in good shape, but how it came to be covered with dirt to such a depth is a question that is hard to answer. Such occurrences as these in the oil regions calls to mind the accounts we often read of the digging up of cities of prehistoric times in the researches in Asia.—Franklin News.

The experience of being knocked down by cider is an unusual one, but that is literally what befell Miss Sarah Byerly of Walnut street yesterday. She went to get cider from a barrel that was closed up just three days ago. It had gained enough strength in that short time to shoot out of the bung hole with a loud report and knock the young lady down, at the same time filling her eyes, wetting her hair and making the situation decidedly unpleasant.—Montour American.

After beating his wife and putting her out of their home a Columbia man refused to give into the custody of the mother their six-months-old nursing baby. The mother went before 'Squire Lutz and stated the case and requested the 'squire to get her baby. The justice started out alone in his buggy and went to the home, but the husband and child had left. He went to the home of the former's father, where he found the husband and baby. He demanded the child and the father handed over the babe. The 'squire then delivered it to the mother.—Lancaster Inquirer.

Of Neighborhood Interest.

The friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Henry Swarm on Thursday to celebrate the 80th birthday of Mrs. Swarm's mother, Grandma Martin. Although she has passed the four score mark of her life she is very active. Last summer it was nothing for her to pick a five-quart pail of huckleberries. We wish that she may live to celebrate many more birthdays.—Cor. Franklin News.

Two small boys, one Alex Cowher's, the other Peter Cowher's, each about six years of age, who live about one and one-half miles above town, got on an apple wagon and rode to the cider press below town, and didn't know where they were or how to get home. Both were terribly frightened. Some of the boys from town happened to be at the press and knew who they were and took them home.—Port Matilda Cor. Bellefonte Republican.

The farmers in this section are getting along well with corn husking and report the corn in excellent condition. There is very little soft corn considering the fact that it was pretty near all replanted and that the frost came very early. The fodder is also very good for feeding, the only drawback seems to be that the first two frosts bit it rather hard and made it tough in some places.—Cor. Lewistown Gazette.

H. A. Geyer lost a valuable dog recently. Someone was kind enough to take him. Mr. Geyer would be very thankful to the party or parties who took him if they would return the dog. It seems that if people can't find anything else to take they will take a man's dog.—Fowler Cor. Bellefonte Republican.

It is said that a local sport went hunting the other day and forgot to take his gun. We dare say he saw all kinds of game.—West Newton Times-Sun.

Some Odd Happenings.

Wilson Knight has a shepherd dog which he calls "Schley." Some weeks ago Mr. Knight took the dog down to Harford county, Md., and left it there with his father's people. A night the dog chewed its rope in two and found its way back to Christiana, a distance of about 40 miles, getting home in time for dinner the next day.—Christiana Cor. Medical Record.

Joseph Cooper of Wick Haven experimented on beans this season. He avers that while searching through his trunk this spring he espied two beans that he had placed there years ago. He planted them and to his surprise they yielded a full crop. Just before he was ready to harvest the crop some mischievous creature helped himself to the choice beans. Mr. Cooper says that he would not mind if the thief had only left him enough for seed.—Jacobs Creek Cor. Fayette Republican.

An Oil City angler tried to put into practice in the Allegheny river the device used for capturing eels in German rivers recently. He secured a barrel headed at both ends and bored a large number of holes in the side with a large auger, putting a quantity of meat inside as bait. The next morning there was "many an eel" in the cask, but there were more than 30 Allegheny river alligators captured. The trap is easily made and the plan might be tried with good results at every river resort along the river with the effect of cleaning out some of these most formidable enemies of the game fish in the river from source to mouth.—Oil City Derrick.

While James Smith of this place was gunning along Darby creek on Tuesday he espied three gray squirrels climbing a tree, one after the other. Taking aim at the hindmost squirrel he fired his gun and all three of the squirrels fell to the ground dead.—Clifton Cor. Media Record.

X FALLS AGAIN IN ALLEGHENY

ABORERS WILL GET NO WAGES

Without giving any explanation for his tion, Director McIlvain of the Alle- ny department of public works yester- discharged 48 employes of the bureau water. The men received notice that r services were no longer required, that they would receive what money due them at the controller's office. entire number walked in upon Con- ler Brown yesterday afternoon and in- med him of the object of their visit. no prior notice had been given the troller, the work on the payroll had been completed, and the men were pelled to wait in the halls during the mainder of the afternoon until the con- ler and his clerks could draw up war- ts and have them approved.

ot. Bennie of the bureau of water asked to say why these men had dismissed, but he declared he had authority to make any statement. tor McIlvain, he says, is the proper on to see in such a case, but, as Mc- ain for some months past has refused say anything for publication, nothing ld be learned from him. The men e questioned as to the possible purpose the administration in discharging them the present time, but they were as ch in ignorance as anyone else who s not know.

one intimated that "the old man" s sore at them for something. This y mean Mayor Wyman or McIlvain, as e of the men explained to whom the e is applied.

was suggested to some of the men perhaps there was not enough work the bureau to justify the administra- in keeping them regularly on the roll. Controller Brown asserts that h a proposition is not to be considered n there are more than 30 streets in city under which water mains are e laid this winter, and for which work ity secured a temporary loan of $45,- only a few months ago. Of this unt there is a balance of more than 00, while in the general appropriation e bureau of water there remains for expenditures during the rest of the $123,050 04, a total of $140,050 04. money, Controller Brown says, is icient to meet the expenses of the er bureau until the first of next March ood management is practiced. The es of the discharged men follow:

Must Wait for Their Wages.

Thirty of the laborers in Riverview park ill get no wages for October, and Con- roller Brown says it will likely be De- ember before they get any money at ll from the city. The park labor appro- riation is exhausted, and until councils uthorize a transfer of funds from other ppropriations the 30 laborers will get othing for their hire.

At the last meeting of select council irector McIlvain introduced a measure roviding for a transfer of $10,000 from her appropriations. Of this sum $5,000 is to come out of the bureau of surveys, 000 from the bureau of water and the ther $4,000 from the market house ap- propriation. This latter amount was set ide for the painting and repairing of e market house. Should councils ap- rove McIlvain's ordinance the market ouse will go unpainted for another year. the bill has not been before the finance ommittee yet, and, as there is certain be opposition to the transfer of the arket house appropriation, it is scarcely ely the passage of the bill will be ac- omplished much before the first of the ear. In the meantime the park laborers ill get no wages.

Controller Brown is of the opinion that ack of foresight in the department of ublic works is responsible for the pres- nt state of confusion that will result in ardship to the city employes.

SERGEANT METZ HONORED.

Portrait of the Police Officer Placed on the Walls of the Central Station.

Sergt. Adolph Metz was yesterday ten- ered a reception at the Central station n his return from the first vacation he as had in 20 years. Just before the earings were commenced Magistrate tewart and the officers connected with he station house and the police reporters athered for the purpose of presenting Metz with a large crayon portrait of himself.

Just as the sergeant was about to or- er the prisoners to be brought out, an talian orchestra, which had been placed n the reporters' platform, played "Home, Sweet Home." Metz did not comprehend he meaning of the orchestra's presence nd sat down. A. A. Clark, who has been police reporter for 22 years, then pre- ented Sergt. Metz with the portrait, which had been hung on the wall of the ourt room.

Sergt. Metz is the third officer to be onored in this manner. The portraits of he late Capt Reed and Capt. Sylvus are he others on the walls of the police ourt. At the conclusion of the presenta- ion Clerk Edward Witt read telegrams upporting to be from President Roose- elt, Gov. Pennypacker, Emperor Wil- iam of Germany, Carrie Nation and thers.

SIX HUGE PLUNGERS.

Drilling for Them to Begin in Park Building at Once.

Tenants of the Park building were yes- erday notified by the management that the work of installing six new "plunger" elevators would begin at once. One at a time the present elevators will be taken out of commission, to be replaced with a new machine. The difficult part of the work will be the drilling of shafts in which the steel plungers will work to the same depth as the elevator shafts them- selves. The plunger shafts will be lined with steel so as to be absolutely tight. Steel plungers will work in the shafts like engine pistons. No serious interrup- tion to traffic is expected. It is said the "plunger" style of elevator affords abso- lute safety against accidents. This will be welcome news to the tenants of the building, as several minor accidents have occurred with the present battery of ele- vators. The plungers will be the largest of their kind in Pittsburgh.

OPENING OF CONCERTS.

Season of the Pittsburgh Orchestra Under Emil Paur Begins Thursday.

The tenth season of the Pittsburgh or- chestra, the first under the direction of Emil Paur, begins with the concerts of the week Thursday evening and Satur- day afternoon. The city was never so much interested before in the orchestra, and the opening date, coming as it does on Founder's day evening, will be in many respects the most brilliant concert season in the history of the city. There are good seats to be had for both the evening and afternoon concerts. The pro- gram is as follows:

Overture, "Der Freischutz".....Weber
Symphony No. 5, in C Minor.....Beethoven
Intermission.
(a) Abendlied.....Schumann
(b) Scherzo from Suite "L'Arlesienne".....Schumann
Dance of the Bayaderes, from "Feramors".....Rubinstein
Idyl—Waldweben.....Wagner
Overture, "Tannhauser".....Wagner

WORKING GIRLS' HOME IS OPENED

REPRESENTS $110,000 OUTLAY

Modern, sanitary, well-furnished, comfortable and complete in every way, is the new annex of the Christian Home for Working Girls, which was formally opened last night at 424 and 426 Duquesne way. At an expense of $110,000 a four-story building has been erected on the rear of the property and connected with the old frontage.

The building contains 100 sleeping rooms, single and double, all comfortably furnished; has a spacious dining room capable of accommodating 200; a thoroughly equipped kitchen; a model laundry; shower baths; wash rooms and lavatories lined in tile and marble; sitting rooms; reading rooms and parlors, and is strictly fireproof and finished in mahogany throughout.

Although the quarters were opened last night without guests, 50 trunks had been stored in the basement, many of them having been received two and three months ago from prospective guests. During the evening the Rev. E. M. Sandys, superintendent of the home, passed upon 20 applications who will be given quarters today. Plans have already been passed upon for a new frontage for the home, which calls for a building 10 stories high, equipped in keeping with the handsome new annex. The fondest expectation is that work on the proposed frontage can be commenced within a year.

A feature of the institution will be the establishment of an employment bureau without charge to either those seeking employment of employer. Girls of good moral character, as shown upon thorough investigation, will be admitted at a rate ranging from $2 50 to $5 00 a week, including room, board and washing; the rates to be regulated according to location of room and the earnings of the guest. A guardianship will be placed over all girls by both Mr. and Mrs. Sandys, requiring the same propriety that parents would exact, such as the keeping of proper hours and the selection of proper associates.

The reception last night consisted mainly of an inspection of the home, while music was furnished by Prof. J. H. Gettings, tenor soloist, Dan Beddoe; soprano soloist, Miss Anna Griffith, and Miss Rebekah Davidson, pianist. Refreshments were served.

The institution was opened by Mr. Sandys five years ago in the old Methodist college in Eighth street, where from 75 to 90 girls were accommodated for nearly four years. Later the present property, consisting of two brick houses, was secured, where for several months 30 girls were quartered until building operations began, when the girls were compelled to seek other quarters.

The board managing the home, and to whose efforts the building opened last night was made possible, consists of President, James H. Park; vice president, Judge J. R. MacFarland; secretary, the Rev. E. M. Sandys, and Mrs. J. Vandergrift, Mrs. James M. Schoonmaker, Mrs. H. C. Beggs and Mrs. W. P. Snyder. The late A. J. Armstrong was treasurer and a very active member of the board. The vacancy in the board caused by his recent death has not been filled.

WILL EXAMINE THE DOG.

Pasteur Institute Physicians Get Corpse of Animal That Attacked Little Girl.

Cora, the 5-year-old daughter of Robert Slocum of Darragh street, Allegheny, was taken to the Pasteur department of the Mercy hospital yesterday to receive treatment after having her face torn by a dog supposed to have been mad. The child was playing in front of her house yesterday when a fox terrier knocked her down and attacked her with his fangs. Lieut. of Police John Bolland pursued the dog and shot it. Several other children are said to have been bitten before the little Slocum girl was attacked.

At the request of the hospital physicians the dead dog was sent to them that an examination may be made to ascertain whether or not it was suffering from rabies.

AGED MEN ACCUSED.

Deputy Sheriff Gumbert Charged the McKean Brothers With Misdemeanors.

Deputy Sheriff R. J. Gumbert charged Benjamin and Samuel McLean, brothers, of 140 Forty-second street, with misdemeanor, before Alderman James V. McMasters, yesterday. The McLeans, who are aged 62 and 64, are old soldiers and are said by Gumbert to have interfered with him while he was about to execute a writ of replevin.

One is charged with firing a revolver, while the other is accused of striking Gumbert on the head with a cane. Benjamin McLean was held for court, while Samuel, who is confined to his bed by illness, had his hearing postponed.

SAVED BY HER HAIR.

Woman Has a Narrow Escape From Being Killed in Wood Street.

Lida Heil, aged 30, of 3 Hillock alley, Duquesne Heights, had a narrow escape from being killed at Fifth avenue and Wood street yesterday afternoon. The trolley pole became unfastened on car No. 413 of the Knoxville and Mt. Oliver branch and fell on her head. The woman was rendered unconscious and removed to the Central station, where she revived and was sent home.

The pole struck her where her hair was plaited thickly, and the physicians say this prevented her skull from being fractured.

Annie Russell in New Play.

Next Monday evening Charles Frohman invites Pittsburgh playgoers to visit the Nixon and pass judgment on Annie Russell's performance in "Brother Jacques," a brilliant new comedy in four acts, which has been winning favor in Cleveland, Buffalo and Washington. The same ensemble that will appear is soon to go to New York for a run.

Asbestos Workers in Convention.

The first convention of the National Association of Heat, Frost, General Insulators and Asbestos Workers opened yesterday at 414 Diamond street. About 50 delegates are present. The convention may be in session until Saturday. The Pittsburgh local union will give a smoker tomorrow evening in honor of the visiting delegates.

CAN'T SELL HOME FOR ENOUGH CASH

MORE BUILDINGS ARE NEEDED

The Protestant Home for Incurables will not be moved from its present location. This decision was reached yesterday morning by the board of managers. In the early spring the managers determined to place the property on the market, intending as soon as possible to purchase ground and erect a home outside the city. In order to do this they found they must sell their property in Butler street, between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-sixth streets, at a sacrifice, the utmost they could obtain for it being $100,000. As they have 11 acres of ground, and the building in which the women patients are cared for was erected 21 years ago at a cost of $85,000, and $100,000 could not purchase another site and cover the cost of new buildings, the board of managers yesterday decided to abandon the former plan. Instead, in the early spring, work will be commenced upon a building for the men. Plans for this building will be determined during the next few months.

The Protestant Home for Incurables was founded by Miss Jane Holmes, who gave the 11 acres of ground, the site of the institution, which was incorporated December 31, 1853, and opened for the admission of patients in June, 1865. Upon the plot of ground stood the old Holmes homestead, which was moved to one side and became the home for men, while upon the spot where it had stood for 60 years a large and completely equipped building was erected at a cost of $65,000, which has been used for the women patients. A covered fire escape connects the two buildings, but as each year went by the need of a new home for the men was felt, the old homestead being continually in need of repairs. A fund was started for the erection of a new building, which grew to $30,000 a year ago, when the agitation for a new location was started, in order to get the patients out into the country, as the ground about the present site is being utilized for manufacturing plants and for the erection of houses for the mill people. The idea of a new location now being abandoned, the managers will at once begin planning for the new building.

In the old homestead only 12 men can be accommodated, with the utmost economy of space. The wish of the managers is to erect a building which will accommodate at least 25 and so designed that it may be enlarged. In order to take care of such an increased number of patients they will have to add to their endowment fund, which is now sufficient only to cover the present needs. One hundred thousand dollars is necessary to erect such a building and provide the necessary endowment for the added number of patients.

The Home for Incurables is full. Besides the 12 men in the old homestead, there are 36 women in the main building, and because of limited space several of these are placed two in a room, though it is the intention of the managers to give the patients separate rooms.

The board of managers includes Miss Malinda Pressly, president; Mrs. George K. Stevenson, Mrs. Norman M. Smith and Mrs. John H. McKelvey, vice presidents; Miss Eleanor J. Stevenson, treasurer; Mrs. Andrew Long, secretary; Miss Christine Arbuckle, Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, Miss Mary Aiken, Mrs. Maria D. Book, Mrs. Robert D. Book, Mrs. Paschall Carr, Miss Katherine McC. Creighton, Miss Margaret E. McCandless, Mrs. James H. McCutcheon, Mrs. A. Clark Dravo, Mrs. J. J. Donnell, Mrs. H. D. W. English, Miss Martha A. Howard, Mrs. W. W. Kerr, Mrs. Wenman A. Lewis, Miss Mary D. Pusey, Miss Bessie P. Stephenson, Miss Eleanor Sawyer, Mrs. G. M. T. Taylor, Miss Alice W. Tingle, Mrs. John Woodwell and Mrs. Eva W. Wallace.

TO LECTURE ON ENGINEERING.

Pittsburgh Local of N. S. E. to Conduct Educational Course.

The first of a series of lectures on stationary engineering will be held in Moorhead hall, Second avenue, tomorrow night, under the auspices of Pittsburgh local, No. 15, National Association of Stationary Engineers. W. B. Fitzpatrick, chief engineer at Eberhart & Ober Brewing Company, will speak on "Information for the Engineer."

Lectures will continue each Thursday evening for the balance of the year. Among subjects for discussion will be: "Electricity," "Why Boilers Explode," "Mill Engineering," "Valves and Eccentrics," "Alternating Current Transmission," "DeLaval Steam Turbine," "Mechanical Refrigeration" and "The Engineer."

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION LED 80 TO THE LOCKUP

As a result of the Hallowe'en festivities 80 prisoners were before Magistrate Stewart at Central station yesterday morning. Most of the prisoners were charged with drunkenness and were discharged. W. S. Dutter, who was disguised as a tramp, was arrested in Seventh avenue for using profane language. Dutter said some one knocked off his silk hat, which caused him to become angry. He was discharged. P. C. Murdock and J. F. Mills, arrested as pickpockets, were fined $100 and costs, and James Martin was fined $25 and costs for being in their company.

CROWD FRANTIC OVER AIRSHIP

Smashes Down World's Fair Gates in Effort to Congratulate Anxious Inventor.

GREATEST TEST BEGINS TODAY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1.—A second successful flight of the Baldwin airship was made at the World's Fair today, under the guidance of A. R. Knabenshue, who maneuvered the "California Arrow" at will, high above the western portion of the exposition grounds, and descended in the stadium, adjoining the aerial concourse, amid cheering thousands, after a flight of 36 minutes.

Yesterday Knabenshue took the airship up to an altitude of 2,000 feet. Today he went up to an altitude of about 1,000 feet. Satisfied with the demonstrations of the airship over short courses during these two trials, Inventor Baldwin announced at the conclusion of the flight that Knabenshue will tomorrow undertake a 15-mile flight over a course to be chosen by newspaper men, the flight to be made regardless of wind conditions.

A breeze of probably three miles an hour was blowing when "The Arrow" was brought out of the aerodrome today. Lightly as a bird the airship rode over the heads of the spectators, gracefully cleared the high fence, and proceeded due north, mounting higher and higher each instant. After reaching an altitude of about 300 feet, Knabenshue waved his cap to the spectators, then swept his rudder to veer "The Arrow" to the south.

Turns Into the Wind.

Almost before the rudder had completed the turn, "The Arrow" began responding, and slowly swung around in a circle until the prow pointed to the southwest, against the wind. Then Knabenshue tilted the prow upward and began ascending. His movements were plainly discernible. The motor seemed to have suddenly died down, and he began working at the controlling lever.

After a moment the propeller revolved with speed. The aeronaut threw out some ballast and stood toward the rear of the framework, tilting the prow upward at a greater angle. "The Arrow" shot toward the zenith until an altitude of probably 1,000 feet had been reached.

Knabenshue headed directly for the southwest, breasting the wind. Then he turned and came back over the concourse. Once more he turned and proceeded to the southeast. Then the airship was pointed toward the southwest, and proceeded in a straight line for a mile until directly over the southern boundary of the exposition grounds.

The airship circled to the east, turned again to the north, veered to the northwest and at a good speed came back to the vicinity of the concourse. When almost above the concourse, "The Arrow" changed its course again, proceeded directly east for half a mile, then made a turn and retraced until well over the stadium, when it swung to the northwest and proceeded until it had passed almost a mile northwest of the exposition grounds.

He Performs Maneuvers.

A turn was then made within a radius of presumably 75 feet, and Knabenshue headed toward the east and back over the concourse. He then performed a series of maneuvers, traversed a letter "S" course, dipped and came down several hundred feet, tilted the prow and ascended to the original altitude, and completed the series by turning the airship in such short space that it seemed the vessel swung round on a pivot. The thousands of spectators looked on in silence, but when Knabenshue again tacked to the northwest they cheered him so lustily that he waved back his acknowledgement.

He then inclined the prow downward and slowly began his descent until the framework of "The Arrow" was seized by the shouting spectators, who had hurriedly thronged the stadium enclosure.

When the gate of the concourse was reached, an attempt was made to prevent the crowd from entering unless tickets were purchased.

"Let my men and the airship in," said Baldwin. The gatekeeper started to obey when, with a rush, the crowd threw itself en masse against the gate. With a rip and crash it went down, tumbling Baldwin and his men, together with many of the spectators into a heap. Baldwin hung to the rope of his airship during the scramble, and led the way back through the concourse enclosure to the starting point.

SUBWAY NEEDS VENTILATION.

New York Underground Railway Has Defects That Should Be Remedied.

Ernest Nagle of New York passed through the city last evening for St. Louis. He is an electrical engineer and has just completed an inspection of the New York city subway. In discussing the project he said:

"An undertaking of that character always results in more or less defects that could have been avoided. So many details have to be figured out that it is almost impossible to make the project perfect. During my visit to the subway I found several conditions that could be improved upon. One of these is the absence of necessary ventilation. Those in charge of the detail work of the subway evidently thought that the motion of the trains would produce a sufficient current of air to clear the tunnel of all impurities. Such is not the case. As a train going in one direction creates a current of air, the train going in the opposite direction counteracts its effect. Consequently the polluted air remains in the tunnel and the more the subway is used the more contaminated the atmosphere will be."

POLE FELL WITH MAN AT TOP.

Street Car Strikes Guy Ropes and Lineman Is Seriously Injured.

George Porter, aged 30, and single, of Washington, Pa., a linesman, was the victim of a peculiar but serious accident at Hays station yesterday afternoon. In the employ of the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company, he was adjusting guy ropes at the top of a 55-foot pole, being erected when a street car ran into one of the lines, bring down the pole. Porter sustained a fractured skull, possible fracture at the base of the brain and internal injuries.

He was taken to the South Side hospital and had not regained consciousness at a late hour last night. His recovery is very doubtful.

RUSSIA RECIPROCATES BRITISH SUSPICIONS

Fears English Interference Before Baltic Fleet Gets Through Suez Canal.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 1.—The news of the departure of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky and his ships from Vigo has considerably relieved the tension here. The great mass of Russians are quite as suspicious of Great Britain's motive as Britons are of Russia's purposes, and there has been considerable apprehension here that Great Britain might use the trawler incident as a pretext for detaining the Baltic squadron.

Fears are expressed in some quarters that there may be further complications before the fleet gets through the Suez canal or around the Cape of Good Hope. The situation, however is being more dispassionately discussed. Due allowance is made for the exasperation of Great Britain over the seemingly callous action of Admiral Rojestvensky in going on his way after firing on the trawlers and in not reporting the incident until he reached Vigo.

The explanation offered in the highest source seems to acquit the admiral of all blame. It is pointed out that he could not send a dispatch by a torpedo boat, all craft of that description being ahead of the battleships and cruisers, and that he had no alternative except to detach a cruiser. Admiral Rojestvensky was too apprehensive of revealing his whereabouts to do this, fearing an attack in British waters, and so, it is theorized, decided to proceed to Vigo with the whole of his squadron.

WIFE'S KISS IS WORTH AS MUCH AS A STOVE

Virginia Jury Holds Dissatisfied Husband Strictly to Osculatory Contract With Better Half.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 1.—That the kiss of a young and pretty woman is worth just as much as a stove is the decision of a jury here.

Some months ago James S. Ellison and his wife decided to separate. Ellison is 86 and his wife 21. They divided their household goods evenly, but one odd piece was a stove worth about $10.

Mrs. Ellison testified that they failed to agree upon this and she offered to give him a kiss for it. The proposition was duly accepted and the goods delivered. Despite this, she alleged, Ellison took the stove away from her and did not return the kiss.

The jury, after short deliberation, decided that the stove was the property of Mrs. Ellison. The aged husband, however, was not at all pleased with the decision and has brought suit for divorce. He holds that the kiss and the stove might have been of equal value last summer, but that it is a different proposition when a hard winter is impending.

PRIEST IS DEAD WHOM CONGREGATION OPPOSED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. .—The Rev. Francis Moretti, pastor of St. Michael's Italian church of this city, died today from the effects of gas inhalation. The coroner is much in doubt whether the priest's death resulted from accident or was premeditated. The deceased was 36 years old. He came to this city two weeks ago.

Sunday the members of the congregation held a mass meeting and sent a protest to Bishop Tierney against the new pastor. It is believed by friends of the priest the opposition of the members of his congregation worried him so as to affect his mind, and there is a suspecion of suicide.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The Carpenter Steel Company, which has been in the hands of Robert E. Jennings as receiver, was today formally dissolved by Vice Chancellor Stevens. Articles of incorporation reorganizing the company were immediately filed with the secretary of state. The reorganized company has a capital stock of $1,200,000, and is to manufacture steel and other metals.

The new incorporators are W. B. Kunhardt of Bernardsville, N. J.; Robert E. Jennings of Jersey City and Frederick J. Faulks of Elizabeth.

BALFOUR IS ILL.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The following bulletin was issued tonight:

"The premier is suffering from an irritation of a small vein. By his doctor's orders he will remain in his room the next few days."

This is understood to mean that Mr. Balfour is troubled with a varicose vein, an affliction to which the Balfour family is subject, the premier's brother, Gerald, president of the board of trade, having been some time ago incapacitated by the same complaint.

RUSSIAN GRAVES ARE EVERYWHERE

FORTY VILLAGES DEPOPULATED

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

MUKDEN, Oct. 31.—Via Pekin, Nov. 1.—I have traveled for 40 miles along the Russian front. It is a stupendous martial spectacle. The country around is bare, the crops having been for the most part trampled on and destroyed.

I saw only one village where any Chinese were living, although I passed through 40 towns, lately very populous. The villagers have fled, not because of Russian cruelty, but because of bullets and shrapnel. The soldiers are using the deserted houses for fuel.

The whole country is burrowed by trenches and artillery positions. Some are occupied, and many are abandoned. In some places the ground is strewn with fragments of shells. Bloodstained boots cut from wounded legs are there, too, and Japanese knapsacks.

The mud walls of the villages are pierced by loopholes. The soldiers at the front are living snugly in underground bombproofs. Russian graves are everywhere.

The Japanese occupy Hun-Lin-Pu, near the Sha-Ho station, and the line runs westward to San-De-Pu, near the Hun river, north of Sha-Ho. On this line the Japanese have one division and a half, being stronger than their opponents. On the railway, near Sha-Lo-Pu, the Japanese have one division and four batteries.

The Japanese occupy the south end of the village of Lin-Che-Pu, just west of Sha-He-Pu. The Russians occupy the north end.

There is a continual taking and retaking of villages near the railway, the shifting of batteries resembling the movements on a chessboard.

FRANCIS M'CULLAGH.

FISHERS' TALE CONFIRMED.

Russian Fire Was Due to Blunder, and One of Czar's Own Ships Was Hit.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 1.—The circumstance of the firing on the North sea fishing fleet, as detailed by Russian officers, closely resemble the facts reported by the admiral of the fishing fleet.

When abreast of the trawlers the Russian squadron was formed in two divisions, the cruisers steaming east and the battleships west, the latter getting among the fishing fleet and opening fire. When nearly clear of the fishing craft, which were heading toward the battleships, some Russian shells flew over the trawlers and struck cruisers, one of which, the Aurora, was hit several times, and some of her men were wounded, including a priest, who died.

The transport Anatol apparently became tangled among the trawlers, which she mistook for torpedo boats, and signaled for aid, thereby leading the officers of the battleships to believe the trawlers were attacking the Anatol. This, coupled with the appearance of the two mysterious torpedo boats steaming toward the battleship, resulted in the fatal cannonade.

FLEE FROM CZAR'S ARMY.

Austria Is Filled With Russian Refugees From Military Service.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Vienna states that the Austrian government is very much embarrassed by the rapidly increasing number of Russians who crowd into the Polish provinces of the empire to escape military service in the Russian army. Although the number of sentinels along the frontier has been doubled, no night passes when from 50 to 100 young Russians do not make their escape into Galicia.

Under the existing agreements with Russia the Austrian government is bound to send back all the Russian refugees caught on Austrian soil, but the population of Galicia strongly sympathizes with the fugitives, and in many cases has fought the police when they have tried to arrest the Russians. An association has been formed for the purpose of assisting the Russian refugees and to make a legal fight in the courts against their extradition.

HELD UP WRONG MAN.

Coroner McGeary's Friend Lost a $10 and Got Into Trouble by His Impetuosity.

Coroner Jesse M. McGeary and his friend, W. J. Yudick, entered a saloon at Diamond and Wood streets last night about 10 o'clock. Yudick placed a $10 bill on the counter and turned toward the coroner to ask him to select his refreshment. As he did so a stranger who was standing next to Yudick snatched the money and dashed out of the saloon.

Yudick and the coroner were surprised for an instant and then started out to chase the thief. There was not a sight of a fleeing man in the streets. Yudick saw Emanuel Milanos of 115 Fourth avenue, who was hurrying home. Milano's fast gait aroused Yudick's suspicions. He dashed across Wood street and, drawing a magazine revolver, held Milanos up in the street.

"Where is my $10?" demanded Yudick.

Milanos was explaining he had not taken any money when Policeman Michael J. Discon caught Yudick with a revolver pointing at Milanos' head. The officer took both men to the station house, where McGeary explained the mistake and Yudick was released. The detectives are now hunting for the real thief.

FIRE DAMAGES THREE EAST LIBERTY HOUSES

Three small frame buildings at 100, 102 and 104 Meadow street, East Liberty, were badly damaged by fire early this morning. The buildings were occupied as a barber shop, a confectionary store and headquarters for a band by Italians. The property was owned by Theodore Wise and the damage is about $1,000. The origin of the fire is not known. Every one in the houses escaped without injury.

Faded Carpets Are Made New

A New Process for Dyeing That Works Wonders With Old Carpets and Rugs.

If your old carpet or rug has faded, or you have grown weary of the figure, the Linnekin Company can make it look like new in short order. They have a new dyeing process that can make your old carpet look as pretty and probably prettier than it ever did.

It is a wonderful process and so perfectly does its work that your carpet will defy anyone to tell it from a brand new one.

Since obtaining this new process the Linnekin Company have received work from the finest homes in Western Pennsylvania. And the cost of dyeing a carpet is trifling, as compared with prices of other establishments.

If you wish, a representative of the company will call upon you and give you an estimate of the cost of the work.

BUFFALO BILL ON THE TRAIL

He Will Lead Hunt After Bandits Who Shot Bank Cashier.

ROBBERS FLEE ON HORSEBACK

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CODY, WYO., Nov. 1.—Two bandits held up the First National bank of Cody this afternoon. When Cashier I. C. Middaugh resisted their demands he was shot and instantly killed.

One of the posses, led by Sheriff Jeff Champion, overtook the outlaws at dusk, 20 miles southwest of Cody, and a battle ensued in which Champion had a horse shot under him, but was uninjured. The bandits obtained fresh horses at a ranch nearby and escaped.

The robbers, without masks, were riding horses. One held the animals while the other, with a rifle strapped on his back, entered the bank. When inside he whipped out two revolvers and commanded two customers to throw up their hands. Then turning to the cashier, he commanded him to turn over the cash.

Middaugh made a run for the rear door, but found it locked. Unheeding the calls of the bandit to stop, he made another rush for a side door, but before he reached it he was shot and killed.

Attorney W. S. Wall, who occupied the rooms next to the bank, appeared with a rifle, but the robber got the drop on him and he was forced to return to his office. Other citizens, attracted by the shot, came flocking to the scene, with all sorts of firearms.

The bandits mounted and rode away with bullets whizzing around them. Blood found near the route taken by the robbers shows that at least one was hit.

Deputy Sheriff Jeff Champion quickly organized a posse and started in pursuit. Two other posses went out later, leading fresh horses. The report brought in at 7 o'clock is that one of the posses is in hot pursuit of two men and has exchanged shots with them. It is almost certain they will be captured and a good deal more certain that when caught they will never see the inside of a jail.

A reward of $5,000 is offered for the robbers dead or alive. Middaugh leaves a widow and four children.

A telegram was received tonight from "Buffalo Bill" on his way west with a hunting party saying he would leave for Cody at once and conduct the pursuit in person.

OMAHA, NEB., Nov. 1.—William F. Cody's private car, containing Cody's English friends and Indian scouts and guides, and Col. Cody himself, went west tonight on the Burlington flyer. Excitement was at fever heat over the man hunt which the party will have at Cody instead of the bear hunt expected. Col. Cody will take the trail himself as soon as he reaches the scene of the holdup.

"I wired White Beaver, my manager at Cody, to offer a large reward for the capture of the outlaws," said Col. Cody, "and to double the reward in case an outlaw is killed. We want to kill them, not capture them.

"Within 10 minutes after we reach Cody we will be in the saddle ready for the trail. My best horses will be in readiness at the depot, and I have with me my old scout, the Sioux chief, Iron Tail. The old fellow is now cleaning up his guns and is overjoyed at the chance of getting into a scrimmage.

"The government had several hundred thousand dollars on deposit in that bank and it was a narrow escape, for the funds."

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Trouble by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent eastern cities, by too close attention to business, too little exercise and too many club dinners, finally began to pay nature's tax, levied in the form of chronic stomach trouble; the failure of his digestion brought about a nervous irritability, making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business, and finally deranging the kidneys and heart.

In his own words he says: "I consulted one physician after another and each one seemed to understand my case, but all the same they each failed to bring about the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another; I gave up smoking, I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, but without any marked improvement.

"Friends had often advised me to try a well-known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy, but never took any stock in advertised medicines nor could believe a fifty-cent patent medicine would touch my case.

"To make a long story short, I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drug store and took two or three tablets after each meal, and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt any feeling of nausea or discomfort.

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health, and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was going to cure completely, and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and cigar, and no one would suppose I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia.

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietors of the remedy asking for information as to what the tablets contained, and they replied that the principal ingredients were aseptic pepsin (government test), malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regardless of the condition of the stomach."

The root of the matter is this, the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and thereafter and whole system receive the nourishment which can only come from food; stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give a fictitious strength, invariably followed by a reaction. Every drop of blood, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food, and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, you will have no need of nerve tonics and sanitariums.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been in the market only a few years, yet probably every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sells them and considers them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble.

RAIN OF SHELLS ON PORT ARTHUR

Citadel's Defenses Are Crumbling Under Withering Fire of the Japanese.

SCORES OF GUNS ARE DISABLED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Nov. 1.—The war office is in receipt of reports covering recent operations against Port Arthur. Beginning with the general attack October 26, which has continued furiously ever since, the reports say:

"From 8:20 o'clock in the morning the forts on Sungshu and Rihiung mountains, the eastern group of forts on Keewan mountain and a fort lying to the north of the latter were bombarded with our siege guns and naval ordnance, and shells took effect. The parapet of Rihiung mountain fort was demolished and openings were made in the fort.

"Two of the most important covers on Sungshu mountain fort were destroyed by our shells. One 15-centimeter gun was dismounted and another damaged. One gun on the northern fort of East Keewan mountain was destroyed.

"From 2 o'clock in the afternoon other siege guns were directed against the trenches on all slopes of Sungshu mountain and Rihiung mountain, and against the trenches on the south side of Pohsian mountain. All these trenches were badly damaged by 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

"A portion of our right wing charged against the trenches on Sungshu mountain and a portion of our center wing charged against the trenches on Rihiung mountain and on the southern part of Pohsian mountain and took possession of them without heavy loss.

"Simultaneously with the occupation of these places from which the Russians had been driven, the enemy posted in the forts in their vicinity, in conjunction with the forts on West Sitai Yangkou, Manjao mountain, Golden Hill, Fai Yua mountain and Laolinchus, concentrated their fire against the points where our assaults were progressing. The enemy's shells were defective.

Mine Explodes Harmlessly.

"A large mine exploded on the slope of Rihiung mountain, but none of our men was killed thereby.

"On the same night, with the object of preventing the Russians from making repairs, our siege and naval guns shelled the forts of Rihiung mountain, East Keewan mountain and Sungshu mountain.

"The enemy's warships and machinery buildings were also shelled.

"The enemy holding Sungshu and Rihiung mountains, under the protection of a shell fire, undertook several night attacks, but all of them were repulsed.

"On October 27 the bombardment with our siege guns was continued and the fire of our naval guns was directed against Sungshu, Itz, Paiyu and Rihiung mountains, and also against the dock yard and the warships. In a fort on East Keekwan mountain a gun and its carriage were completely destroyed. A banquette lying between the east end of the north front and the center of Rihiung mountain fort was destroyed, with two small guns, and the demolition of a gun on the east front of the same fort.

"Several of our shells took effect on the southeastern corner of the same fort, destroying its cover and smashing two machine guns into pieces. One gun placed on a protected point of the Sungshu mountain fort was dislocated and one 12-centimeter gun which was placed in the center of the left wing was demolished.

Battle Down Casemates.

"During the same night our engineer corps was sent against the northern part of East Keekwan mountain and succeeded in destroying the outer casemate of a projected point. The enemy resorted to every means to obstruct our work, assaulting and using bombs, at the same time working energetically in effecting repairs.

"October 28 the bombardment with heavy and other siege guns was continued. Two hundred and eighty-five effective shells have been counted, and besides these several other shells took effect on the forts of Anshu mountain, Itz mountain, Paiyu mountain and on a hill 293 meters high.

"Our naval guns were directed chiefly against Sitaiyangkou, Itz and Anshu mountains, the warships in the east harbor and the western portion of the city.

"On the Rihiung mountain fort the banquette and the buildings inside the fort were destroyed and vital portions of the fort were considerably damaged. The enemy placed a row of sand bags in the place of the banquette.

"On the northern portion of East Keekwan mountain a magazine was exploded and a field gun was destroyed. On Sungshu mountain a 12-centimeter canet and another gun were hit. On Itz mountain a 12-centimeter canet and carriage were overturned and another gun was heavily damaged. On the 203-meter hill two covers and the wire entanglements of the trenches were considerably damaged. On the fort north of Sataiyangkou the guns and works were heavily damaged.

Fire Follows Bombardment.

"A conflagration occurred in the old city and a second conflagration was observed in a factory at the northeast base of Golden Hill, which lasted for three hours.

"October 29 the bombardment was continued with an increased number of shells. The same morning at dawn 100 of the enemy assaulted our line extending toward Rihiung fort, but were repulsed with heavy loss.

"Simultaneously a similar force of the enemy assaulted our mine projected against Sungshu mountain. Our men bravely withstood the attack.

"A mine directed against Rihiung mountain fort reached the outer limit of the fort last night. A portion of the outer limit was blown up. Against the outer casemate of the eastern point of the fort lying north of East Keekwan mountain dynamite was applied twice last night, causing wide openings and killing several of the enemy inside the casemate.

"Our bombardment is proving increasingly effective. A number of shells from our heavy guns are taking effect. We counted 350 of these. Our naval guns exploded a magazine on the Sitaiyangkou fort.

"Five Russian ships which were being used in clearing mines were also bombarded. Three of them were heavily damaged and the other two were set on fire."

VERMIFORM APPENDIX IS PLACED IN CORNER STONE

Tavern Club of Cleveland Will Leave Posterity a Memento from Anatomy of Late Senator Hanna's Brother-in-Law.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 1.—The appendix of Robert L. Ireland is destined to puzzle posterity. It was placed in the iron box of the corner stone of the Tavern club by the gentleman himself, who said as he dropped it into the receptacle:

"Such is my love for this club that I give a part of myself into the keeping of the corner stone."

The ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone by the Tavern club, which is one of the ultra-fashionable clubs of this city, were performed on Hallowe'en with dark and mysterious rites, at midnight. Of course, nobody was supposed to tell, but the story got out.

Ireland is a member of the firm of M. A. Hanna & Co. He married a sister of the late Senator Hanna.

A few weeks ago Ireland was operated on for appendicitis and the appendix was preserved in alcohol. Ireland carried the mysterious organ in a small bottle wrapped in pink paper, which, after being passed around among the assembled clubmen, was carefully placed in the box, among the other contributions.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

HANCHEPU, Nov. 1.—Everything is quiet along the line. The trenches of the opposing parties are so close that there are many small collisions, especially during the night.

Capt. Skidonenko was killed October 28. He had just finished a reconnaissance of the Japanese lines, and entered the hut in the village of Dalvantan to write his report, when a Japanese shell came in at the window and mortally wounded him.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 1.—Gen. Sakharoff, telegraphing yesterday, reports that in reconnaissances made October 30 a squadron of Cossacks attacked a Japanese battery, but meeting with earthworks and wire entanglements they retired, losing 40 men killed or wounded.

Garbage Contract Does Not Pay.

Ben Avon garbage contract, by which R. C. Darling was to collect garbage and receive 10 cents a can from the citizens, was not a financial success the first month. Council guaranteed Darling $65 a month and as his receipts were only $30 30 the borough will pay the difference. There are 218 houses in Ben Avon, but Darling reported last night that he had secured only 70 customers. Some people preferred to burn their garbage and refuse. Some, it is said, fed it to chickens. Competition by colored garbage man also keeps down Darling's business. Councils asks the board of health to make stricter rules about garbage.

DUAL LIFE HAS TRAGIC CLIMAX

POLICE AFTER CONFEDERATES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 1.—A sensation was created here this morning by the announcement that one of the society young men of the city, a member of one of the leading families, of the clubs, the military and other social organizations, James H. Hendricks, 24 years of age, had been found dead on a shed in front of the American National bank, on Commerce street, the leading business thoroughfare of the city. On his body and on the premises were found safeblowing tools and improved burglar implements and a stick of dynamite, giving every evidence of an intention to blow open the safe of the bank, but the position of the body went to show very clearly that in attempting to cut the large electric wire that furnished the light to the big arc lamp just inside the front door of the bank he was instantly killed by contact with the wire, the powerful current passing through his body. The coroner's jury found a verdict to that effect.

Hendricks was connected with the Hardies, his mother being of that name, and the family is one of the largest and most highly-esteemed of this city and Alabama. That there were others with him the police are sure, and they hold to the theory that they are of his everyday associates, and it is believed they will be discovered. It is reported that another prominent young man has been arrested on suspicion, but this has not been verified.

Hendricks yesterday was seen in company with a strange man, who had been spotted during the day by the chief of police. This man is believed to have been an expert burglar, who in some way had secured the confidence of Hendricks. The dead man was familiar with the bank building and intimate with the bank officials.

Quick Work Beat Injunction.

BEAVER, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—In less than 24 hours between the time of one injunction being dissolved and another granted, the Beaver Valley Traction Company, by putting 168 men at work, succeeded in laying a double track over the 4,000 feet of disputed property in front of the National Glass Company's property on the road in Rochesterr township. When the second injunction was served there was but little work remaining to be done. The track had been laid temporarily the entire distance.

FOUR HUNDRED MEMBERS OUSTED

Quarterly Conference Expels Communicants of Bethel Church in a Mass.

ACTION MAY PROVE ILLEGAL

Over 400 members of the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church, Wylie avenue and Elm street, have been expelled from membership by a special meeting of the quarterly conference of the Pittsburgh conference, held Monday evening. The Rev. I. S. Lee, until the last meeting of the annual conference, the pastor of the church, is now to be put on trial before the quarterly body and will be suspended or expelled from the church, as the conference may decide.

The action is somewhat peculiar and adds another tangle to this now celebrated church disturbance. According to the law of the African Methodist church, the quarterly conference has no right to try any member for any offense. The book of discipline and the laws of the church provide that if a member shall err and it reaches the point where a trial is necessary, the trial must be by his peers. The quarterly conference is composed of the elders and church officers and is the body to which a condemned member has the right of appeal. It has no right to try cases. It simply sits in judgment as a superior court.

At the meeting of the conference Monday night, however, a set of resolutions were adopted. These resolutions recite that an unknown number of the regular members of the Bethel church have seceded from its communion, following one the Rev. I. S. Lee, ex-pastor, who is himself in open violation of the laws and obligations of the church, and have formed themselves into an independent body. This, the meeting declared, is in violation of the laws and discipline of the church and of the obligation the members took upon themselves when joining the body. It was therefore resolved that these said members "are hereby dismembered from all rights and communion of this church."

The resolutions are signed by W. B. Anderson, presiding elder of this district; N. W. Tribue, secretary, and Walter S. Lowry, pastor of the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church.

Notwithstanding the fact that they are supposed to have been expelled in a lump, the members of the church who have followed Mr. Lee are going ahead with their arrangements. This evening they will hold an open meeting in the Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church at which Mr. Lee will make a statement of the trouble which has arisen and any person wishing to dispute with him will be given the privilege of the floor. The announcement of the meeting reads:

"The members of the church most cordially invite any person or persons who know anything wrong in Dr. Lee's life or character to come forward and make any statement they may wish. Dr. Lee and his congregation guarantee them a full and peaceful hearing and perfect safety."

The seceding members of the church are arranging to rent the Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church building in which to hold services. The present occupants will hold a farewell service in the building next Monday morning and the Bethel people will take possession in the afternoon. The meeting tonight is expected to be a large one and some interesting disclosures are anticipated.

QUEEN OF ACTRESSES PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE
Heartily Approves of Peruna for the Nerves.

In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., Miss Julia Marlowe of New York city, writes the following:

"I am glad to write my indorsement of the great remedy, Peruna, as a nerve tonic. I do so most heartily."—Julia Marlowe.

Nervousness is very common among women. This condition is due to anemic nerve centers. The nerve centers are the reservoirs of nervous vitality. These centers become bloodless for want of proper nutrition.

This is especially true in the spring season. Every spring a host of invalids are produced as the direct result of weak nerves.

Digestion furnishes nutrition for the nerve centers. Properly digested food furnishes these reservoirs of life with vitality which leads to strong, steady nerves, and thus nourishes life.

Peruna is in great favor among women, especially those who have vocations that are trying to the nerves.

Peruna furnishes the lasting vigor for the nerves that such people need.

Thousands of testimonials from women in all parts of the United States are being received every year. Such unsolicited evidence surely proves that Peruna is without an equal as a nerve tonic and a vital invigorator.

By a bottle of Peruna today. If you do not receive all the benefit from Peruna that you expected, write to Dr S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

ASKS COURT FOR RELIEF FROM DESIGNING WOMEN

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Nov. 1.—E. S. Hackney was this morning appointed guardian for Joseph Ross, the aged German township farmer who was recently married to Elizabeth Ryan at Morgantown. Bond was fixed at $37,000. Ross asked the court to name a guardian in order that he might not be imposed on in future by designing females.

He declared that he was induced to marry the Ryan woman against his will and that he gave her a check for $2,150 soon after the wedding, which, he asserted, was a bigamous one, the woman having a husband living in Ohio. She is now in jail awaiting a hearing on a charge of bigamy.

Ross declared it was "the hardest thing in the world to refuse the request of a woman," but as he had been victimized on a former occasion by a woman whom he promised to marry he declared he ought to have a guardian as a matter of self-protection. The court granted his request.

SAID FREIGHT CREW CAUSED FATAL FALL

CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—J. C. Kendall, aged 40 years, of Helena, Mont., engineer at one of the Wabash construction camps east of Cumberland, fell under a Baltimore & Ohio railroad train at Pattersons Creek yesterday and died of his injuries this morning. Before expiring Kendall said he went to sleep and was carried past his station. He got off and jumped a freight train to go to the works. He stated the trainmen kicked him off the freight train, causing him to fall under it.

Civil War Veteran Drops Dead.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—William M. Bowers of Princeton, a civil war veteran, dropped dead this morning while attempting to arise from bed. His wife heard him fall and found him lying on the floor. He was 65 years old and served in Company C of the One Hundred and First regiment. He was a lifelong Presbyterian and leaves a widow and these children: Mrs. William McGuire, Mrs. John Nelson, John, Villa, Myrtle and Anna Bowers, all of this county; also a brother and sister, Charles Bowers and Mrs. James Gallagher.

Akron Workman Badly Injured.

AKRON, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The exploding of a heater at the plant of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company this morning injured Frank Abele, an employe. The door of the heater, weighing almost a ton, was blown off, striking the brick wall. Flying brick struck Abele, crushing his ribs and otherwise injuring him.

PRANK ENDS IN DEATH.

Shot Fired Into Hallowe'en Party Kills a Young Man—Slayer Gives Himself Up.

VANDERGRIFT, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—A Hallowe'en prank cost the life of Roy Saltsgiver, aged 20, last night, and Charles Monilla, an Italian, is in the Greensburg jail charged with murder. Saltsgiver was one of several boys who in a spirit of fun took the delivery wagon of Antonia Primeron, an Italian grocer of Vandergrift Heights, intending to drag it to some out-of-the-way place. They were seen by young Monilla, who was employed by Primeron, Monilla tried to make the boys give up the wagon, but they are said to have taunted him. He followed the boys for several blocks and finally whipped out a revolver and shot into the crowd four times. One of the bullets struck Saltsgiver in the back of the head and he fell dead. Monilla fled.

A posse was organized to hunt him, but while the searchers were trying to find trace of the Italian the latter went to the office of Burgess Henry Beyers and gave himself up. Deputy Coroner George A. Hunger empaneled a jury, which accused Monilla of murder, and Monilla was taken to Greensburg today to await trial.

Local Option Law Sustained.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The anti-saloon people of the state have won a decisive victory by the supreme court upholding the decision of the common pleas court and the mayor's court of Canfield in finding William Brobst guilty of illegal selling of liquor in Canfield, a local option village. He was fined $550 and costs and the case was fought up through the circuit court, which reversed the case, and finally reached the supreme court, which reversed the circuit court.

Remembered by Mine Workmen.

SCENERY HILL, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Workmen at the Ellsworth coal mines presented Supt. David Thomas with a beautifully engraved gold watch last Saturday just before he departed for St. Clairsville, O., to take up his residence. Mine Foreman Thomas made the presentation speech. The presentation was followed by an evening of entertainment at which several speeches were made and a program of songs and recitations was rendered.

Guarding Against Flood Damage.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The Youngstown Iron, Sheet and Tube Company will endeavor to prevent a repetition of last winter's occurrences when the plant was inundated from the Mahoning river during the floods. The plant is built in low lands and the company is constructing a dike at a cost of $10,000.

Officer Charged With Shortage.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1.—Asst. Adjt.-Gen. Kautzman today filed a report with Adjt.-Gen. Critchfield, charging Capt. Sanford H. Howland of Battery D, Toledo, with being short $2,200 in his accounts with the battery. Howland's whereabouts are unknown.

FINAL CONTRACT TO GO TO UNOPPOSED BIDDER

State Pays $26,400 to Light Capitol Buildings—Gets Own Plant Next Year.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Nov. 1.—There was only one bidder, the Harrisburg Electric Light Company, whose bid was $26,400, for lighting the capitol, executive mansion and other state buildings the next 12 months. Should any additional light be needed the company agrees to supply arc lights at $8 a month, 16-candle power lamps for 75 cents, and fans, when used, for $3 a month. Bids were opened today by the board of public buildings and grounds and the contract will be awarded at its next meeting. The Paxtang Electric Company, the rival of the Harrisburg concern, which for years has had a monopoly on the state lighting, filed a letter with the board stating that owing to the cost of material and the fact that the contract was for only one year they would not submit a bid.

The contract for lighting the buildings has heretofore continued for five years, but as the state will install its own electric light and heat plant in the new capitol it was decided by the board to make the present contract for one year, at the expiration of which time the state will furnish its own light and heat.

D. A. R. in State Convention.

AKRON, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The sixth state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution opened at Barberton tonight. About 100 members of the society are present. Among them are Mrs. J. Hodge, regent, of Cleveland; Mrs. H. M. Weaver, vice state regent, of Mansfield; Mrs. Marse Wagar, secretary, of Cleveland; Mrs. George McIntosh, treasurer, of Cleveland; Mrs. Charles E. Fairbanks, wife of the Republican candidate for vice president and president general, who was expected to be present, wired today that she could not attend. A reception was held at the residence of Mrs. Emily B. Conger this afternoon.

Despondent Man Ends His Life.

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Despondent because he had been out of work for more than a year, John Shuler, aged 64 years, ended his life in his bedroom this morning by shooting himself with a revolver. He leaves a widow and four children.

Grand Jury Prolongs Its Labors.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—It is likely that the special grand jury now in session on the murder cases growing out of the strike will not complete its labors for several days.

This Was No Joke.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1.—Thinking that an object on the tracks was a Hallowe'en dummy, Motorman William Griley did not stop his car last night, and ran over and killed an unknown man.

MORE CHILDREN OR EXTINCTION

SLAP AT SOCIAL ASPIRANTS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LINCOLN, NEB., Nov. 1.—Dr. E. A. Ross, professor of sociology at the University of Nebraska, in a lecture in this city entered a vigorous protest against the growing tendency in the United States toward the rearing of small families. It was Dr. Ross who coined the phrase "race suicide," making first use of it in delivering the annual address before the American Academy of Political and Social Science, which met in Philadelphia in 1901. In his lecture he said:

"Unless the point of view is changed and things are valued at their true worth, it is quite possible that the births among those climbing the social ladder will not balance the deaths, so that everybody who emerges from the mass and begins to rise in a professional or social way will move toward race extinction. Roughly speaking, every married pair able to have children should average four, of whom one will fail to grow up, one fail to marry and two take the place of the parents. The classes that content themselves with one, two or three children doom themselves to extinction.

"Child-bearing must be presented, not as an obligation, but as an ideal. If married people can be brought to feel that children are the most precious of possessions and that, in a way, their honor is bound up with the rearing of a family, the malady of race suicide can be cured."

WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH THEATER'S BUSINESS

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—A dispute begun several days ago between Will J. Davis, manager of the Illinois theater, and City Building Commissioner Williams, for noncompliance with certain features of the fire ordinances, culminated tonight in the issuing of a temporary injunction by Judge Jenkins of the United States circuit court, preventing the police from interfering in any manner whatever with the operation of the playhouse until November 9, the date set for the hearing of the case.

Queer End to Celebration.

Constable Robert Alexander, of Alderman David McKelvey's office, last night arrested Joseph De Lear of 1020 Windsor street, Allegheny, on a warrant charging aggravated assault and battery, sworn to by Celia De Lear, wife of the defendant. She asserts that her husband returned from Hallowe'en celebrating on Monday night and beat her with a kitchen chair.

WOMAN DIES ON DOOR STEP OF ALLEGHENY UNDERTAKER

Mrs. Lena Strauch Was Seeking Her Physician When Death Overtook Her.

Mrs. Lena Strauch, aged 35, of 136 Ilen street, Allegheny, died on the doorstep of Undertaker William Pappert, 609 Nelson street, Allegheny, last night about 8 o'clock. The woman had been in ill-health for some time and was being treated by Dr. H. R. Hartmeyer, 510 Liberty avenue, Allegheny. She left her home last night for the physician's office and when in front of Undertaker Pappert's place became ill. The woman was taken into the office and physicians summoned. She died just as they arrived.

The body of the man who died at the West Penn hospital yesterday from injuries received by being struck by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad at Shadyside station was identified at the morgue last night as Antonio Mazzilo, 4909 Laurel street. He had $586 in his pocket.

Frank Obrakosky, aged 19, a laborer of the Edgar Thomson steel works, was electrocuted while at work yesterday. He was carrying an iron bar on his shoulder, which came in contact with an arc lamp. The current was transmitted, killing him instantly.

Patrick Hanlon, aged 17, died at the Mercy hospital yesterday from injuries received by being struck by a street car at Munhall earlier in the day.

NO MORE AUTOMOBILE FOR MRS. METCALF

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Whizzing down the Piedmont hills near Oakland in an auto car, the brakes of which refused to work, was the exciting situation in which a party from Oakland found themselves. P. E. Bowles, president of the First National bank, was the owner and driver of the machine. With him were Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. Victor H. Metcalf, the wife of the secretary of commerce and labor, and Pay Director Littlefield of the United States navy.

When Mrs. Metcalf realized that the machine was no longer under control she jumped and escaped injury.

Mr. Bowles, not daring to risk a turn for the bottom of the long hill in a heavy car, ran the machine into a hedge bank. Its occupants were hurled to the ground, and Mr. Bowles was pinned under the vehicle. No one was severely injured.

Mrs. Metcalf said: "I am done with autos for the rest of my life."

Democrats to Make Charges.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The Democratic national headquarters it was announced this evening that a statement will be issued, giving proof that J. Pierpont Morgan and the United States Steel interests headed by Andrew Carnegie have been heavy contributors to the Republican campaign fund.

HARVARD'S FALL GAMES.

Schoenfuss, With Shot, and Dick Grant, in Two-mile Run, Show Fine Form.

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The annual fall handicap games of the Harvard track team were held on Soldiers' Field yesterday afternoon, with 164 men entered in the several races. As a fall meeting it was one of the most successful that have been ever held. Frank Schoenfuss, who won the intercollegiate shot put at Philadelphia, threw the iron ball 45 feet 11 inches. Dick Grant, who is a fourth year student in the medical school, won the two-mile run in 10 minutes and 8 seconds. He came up from scratch and at the end of the fourth lap was leading the bunch. From there on he worked just hard enough to win. Most of the prizes were carried off by new men.

WANT MORE FIGHT BIDS.

Time Extended to Give Clubs a Chance for Bowser-Morgan Bout.

The managers of Bowser and Morgan last night decided to extend the time in which to receive bids for the bout scheduled for November 11 between their respective men. Several bids have been received for the fight, and are now being considered, but to give some other clubs a little more chance it was decided to extend the time until Saturday evening, November 5.

Bowser is training for this contest at the club house of the Birmingham A. C. on the South Side, and is getting into fine shape. He could, no doubt, at the present time fight in a couple of days' notice. Morgan's manager states that his charge is also in good condition and training each day at the club house of the Hill A. C. It will be definitely announced next Monday where this bout will take place.

FOOTBALL PLAYER INJURED.

Fullback Thompson of Allegheny College Eleven Breaks a Leg.

MEADVILLE, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—F. M. Thompson, Allegheny's fullback, had his leg broken a little above the ankle in a practice game this afternoon while trying to tackle an opponent. He was taken to the hospital, where it is thought he will have to remain for some few days.

He will hardly be able to get into the game again this fall.

NAPIER IS CHAMPION.

Pittsburgh Chess Expert Won a Big Match in England.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—W. E. Napier of Pittsburgh won the British amateur chess championship this evening by defeating Shoosmith of this city in a match, the final score being: Napier 7, Shoosmith 0, drawn, 2.

RIVAL TEAMS WILL MEET.

Sycamores and Crescents to Battle November 12 for "Middleweight" Football Championship.

The unbeaten Sycamores will meet the undefeated Crescent A. C. for the 85-90-pound, or, as the managers term it, the middleweight football championship. Manager Carr of the Crescents met Manager Loughren of the Sycamores yesterday and they agreed to play for the title this fall and thus do away with so much claiming at the close of the season, as was the case last fall when each put in a bid for the championship.

The managers decided to play November 12 at Friendship park, if the park can be secured from the High school for the game; if not, the game will be postponed until a later date. Both managers will submit the names of their players a reasonable length of time before the game. Each has given the other the assurance that there shall be no "ringing."

The Crescents are located in the East End, and the Sycamores belong to Allegheny, and the supporters of each will turn out in full force at the game.

WILL MEET NEARY.

Jack McClelland Matched to Fight the Milwaukee Champion.

Jack McClelland was yesterday matched to meet Charley Neary, the Milwaukee lightweight champion. The match was only accepted after one of the best offers that was ever made for six rounds was wired to the Pittsburgh man's backers. The West End club of St. Louis wants McClelland for the same night, but the offer was passed up for a later date. Right after the fight at Milwaukee McClelland will come back here to meet either London Campbell or Solly Stroup on Monday night, Nov. 14, near this city.

On next Monday night at the Business men's gymnasium there will be an athletic smoker, at which the stars will be Joe Alton, who will meet any 120-pound man in the city, and Paul Moore, who will go one hour with any 135-pounder, Mike McDermott preferred.

Results in Pool Tourney.

In the pool tournament at Wilkinsburg last night Crutcher beat Graham 50 to 21 in the first game, and Grindley won from Shane 50 to 29 in the second. Monday night Crutcher beat Harrington 50 to 34 and Lewis defeated Graham 50 to 46.

"BAD BILL" EGAN'S SLIDE.

Wanted to Fool His Manager and Adopted Novel Method.

Manager Ed. Ashenbach of the Southern league, who attended the minor league meeting in New York, is telling a story on "Bad Bill" Egan, who at one time covered second base for the Pirates. Ashenbach says:

"Heard many a good one told in New York, and one of the best was on the Red's old manager, Gus Schmelz. "Bad Bill" Egan was once one of Gus' children. It was after an awful bad night in Pittsburgh that Bill showed up at the Monongahela with a package that all but closed his eyes. As he sat blinking at his manager, Schmelz put his hand to his chin and stroked his whiskers. Like a streak Bill shot off his chair under the table, and as they dragged him out he turned toward Schmelz with reproach in his glance and voice and said: "You gave me the sign to slide!"

THAW NOT MARRIED.

Yarmouth's Brother-in-Law Denies He Wedded Artists' Model, Who Is With Him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Harry K. Thaw of Pittsburgh, brother of the Countess of Yarmouth, came home on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. today. He denied he was married to Miss Evelyn Nesbitt, also of Pittsburgh, an actress and artists' model, who was a passenger on the same steamer.

Of a reporter Mr. Thaw inquired anxiously whether any notice of his reported marriage had appeared. Informed that rumors of his marriage to Miss Nesbitt had been published, and dispatches from Pittsburgh that his family was ready to cut down his $80,000 allowance to the $2,500 income provided by his father's will, Mr. Thaw reflected. Then he said:

"The report is not true.

Miss Nesbitt, who is small of stature, wore a gray dress, with gray coat and hat. She and Mr. Thaw left their baggage in charge of a maid and valet, and drove away together.

Cable reports last August said Mr. Thaw, traveling with his "wife," had been arrested in Switzerland for fast automobiling. It is believed that young Thaw will start at once for Pittsburgh. Miss Nesbitt will go there too, probably.

FOX HUNT IS ON.

Annual Affair Being Held at Zoar. Election of Officers.

AKRON, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The annual fox hunt is on at Zoar, under the auspices of the Tri-State Fox Hunters' association of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The hunt will last several days and will cover over 7,000 acres of hills and valleys. Today and tomorrow dogs of all ages are permitted to be used and Thursday will be Derby day, when only dogs under 18 months old will be entered. On Friday it is expected that 1,000 visitors will be there.

Officers were elected today as follows: President, J. U. Snyder, formerly of Akron, now of Zoar; vice president, George Steese, New Cumberland; secretary and treasurer, James Kaidenbaugh, New Philadelphia; directors, Marion Schieber, Waynesburg, Pa.; Dr. F. B. Williamson, Massillon; Joseph Costello, Lisbon; B. A. Hourlette, Massillon; A. J. Darret, West Virginia, and J. G. Reavick, Strasburg.

LUCKLESS BARBER FINED ON POET'S TESTIMONY

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—James Whitcomb Riley, the poet, was a witness today in a proceeding in which it was sought to convict a colored barber of shaving on Sunday. The prosecution was brought by the Barbers' union. Riley was seen to enter the shop and later come out again neatly shaved. Riley declared he had been shaved at the shop on the Sunday named, but not by Miller. The next question caught him, however, for he admitted that Miller was present. Miller was fined.

MINES ARE TIED UP.

Strike of Engineers Throws 45,000 Illinois Bituminous Miners Out of Work.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Practically no coal mining was done today in Illinois, where annually 36,000,000 tons of bituminous fuel are produced, giving employment to nearly 45,000 men. These were idle because 700 coal hoisting engineers had a dispute with the Illinois Coal Operators' association, and struck. Without the engineers the mines cannot operate.

Of more than 900 coal mines in the state, 240 of the largest are controlled by the Illinois Coal Operators' association. These are nearly all tied up by the strike. Only pumps that are necessary to prevent flooding of the tunnels were allowed to run where the men struck.

SPRING VALLEY, ILL., Nov. 1.—The strike of the hoisting engineers has made 2,000 miners idle in the Spring Valley field. The engineers will, it is said, get no support from the miners, who are strongly opposed to their enforced idleness.

HITCHCOCK GETS A JOB.

Former Councilman Who Voted for Bigelow's Removal Appointed to Position in Treasurer's Office.

City Treasurer John F. Steel made two changes in his office yesterday, appointing Charles Hitchcock street and sewer clerk, and Edward Galvin watchman. Hitchcock takes the place of W. E. Du Barry and Galvin succeeds Henry J. Voskuhl. DuBarry is a Republican and a nephew of former Treasurer D. R. Torrence.

Hitchcock was formerly a member of select council from the Twenty-second ward and held a clerkship in the court house under the Republican administration. His appointment is indorsed by Director Bigelow, although Hitchcock voted for the removal of Bigelow from the directorship of the department of public works. Galvin resides in the Fourteenth ward.

Buckeye Physicians in Convention.

UHRICHSVILLE, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The seventh district of the Ohio State Medical society met in annual session here today. A business session in the morning was followed by a scientific session this afternoon, at which papers were read on technical subjects by Dr. Crille of Cleveland, Dr. Beebe of Cincinnati and others. The women guests received a trolley ride this evening. A banquet was given in honor of visiting members by local physicians. About 75 were present. Next year's meeting will be held at Steubenville.

YALE'S OFFENSE EXCELS DEFENSE

FROM THE OTHER COLLEGES

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 1.—Yale's varsity scored a safety and a clean touchdown in a short but hard practice game this afternoon. The coaches showed Yale's new offense with Kinney carrying the ball. The big guard seems to have been aroused out of the lethargy he has been in, and showed the tremendous power of his 215 pounds. In a number of plays when he did not carry the ball he was brought back to make interference for Stevenson, Leavenworth or Flinn, the backs, who made long gains by clinging to Kinney.

Stewart, substitute end, was moved to right tackle on the varsity team, and also used to carry the ball. In secret practice, the coaches drilled the team on signals for the new formations, and when the open work began the varsity eleven seemed to be playing with a wholly new set of number signals.

That the coaches are pleased with the varsity offense is clearly shown, but the defense still is not up to championship game form. Today when the varsity kicked off to the scrubs, Rourke returned the punt to Stevenson. Using Stewart to carry the ball, the varsity hammered its way to the scrubs' 15-yard line. Hutchinson tried a quarterback kick and Rourke, who caught it, was forced back over the line for a safety. The ball was given to the scrubs on the 25-yard line. They carried the leather 20 yards, but could not cross the varsity's last five yards of ground.

With whirlwind speed, Hutchinson lashed the varsity offense into gruelling action. A quarter back run of 30 yards by Hutchinson, followed by tackles back, Kinney in guards' back and half back end run plays in a trice had the ball over the scrubs' goal line in record time.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The practice of the Harvard football players was full of snap and ginger this afternoon, but the work was for the most part pretty rocky. In the scrimmage in which each side scored a touchdown, the varsity was pushed all over the field by the substitute eleven, held for downs, and scored on by straight playing. There was again a great deal of fumbling and the men showed that they have not yet learned to tackle in the open field.

Meier, at right tackle played a hard game today and showed much of his old time fight and form. Parkinson was played on the varsity, but he did not distinguish himself, for he was constantly offside, and he missed several pretty chances to tackle.

Schoenfuss, the big varsity shot putter, who was taken to the football squad from the track squad yesterday, was played at guard on the substitute eleven, and for a green man he showed remarkable ability. He put it all over Scullres in the preliminary practice in breaking through and blocking, and in the lineup made several tackles, as well as helping the man with the ball along on most every play. Talbot, a six foot three inch back guard, weighing 190 pounds, and Grant, the 150 pound center, both from the freshman squad, were taken on the substitute eleven today. Grant, though light, made things warm for the heavy varsity players.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 1.—The Tigers indulged in a scrimmage today which showed that the improvement evidenced in their work during the past two weeks bid fair to grow at a consistent ratio until the Yale game. Increasing steadiness and uniformity in the game and a rapidly strengthening defense are beginning to arouse a feeling of confidence and hope among the students that has not been known this season in any equal degree.

The teams pounded each other for a hard 50 minutes of such strong work on both sides that small advantage was gained by either. One touchdown was the most the varsity could do on the offense, while the scrub found the first team's defense such a stone wall that they were unable to advance the ball to any great degree. The lineup was as usual, and it would seem that the general shakeup of the past few weeks bids fair to be permanent.

Ritter is doing splendid work in his new place. In fact, he seems capable of filling any position that doesn't require too much weight, and he is one of the most aggressive men on the team. The fact that McCormick has not yet made his appearance at full has excited much criticism on the part of the undergraduates, but there is no telling yet what the coaches will do about it. Miller, it is thought, makes a better half than he does full back, and Ritter is in many respects an ideal quarter. He has besides his quickness an unusual weight, making a combination of qualities which gives him an advantage over the other men who have been trying for quarterback.

University of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The University of Pennsylvania football players took their first scrimmage of the week since beating Harvard, this afternoon. Not one of the men was seriously injured in the Harvard game, but all were worn out by the terrible mental and physical strain they had been under and the coaches gave them all a rest yesterday, several of the players having been given leave of absence for a few days.

At the beginning of the season the coaches announced that the one object of their schedule was to beat Harvard, and if they accomplished this they would be entirely satisfied, even though they lost every other game on the schedule. But now that they have accomplished their dearest desire, that of beating Harvard, they are becoming more ambitious and now are determined to go through the season without a defeat and without having their goal line crossed. To do this they must shut out Lafayette, the Indians, and Cornell, all three of which teams are working for the Quakers' scalps.

Annapolis.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The Annapolis team will not have any match game until it gets the eleven of Pennsylvania States college on next Saturday. While the players are much disgruntled at being outplayed by Swarthmore after having defeated Princeton, yet it is recognized that the loss of the game may improve the final chances of winning from West Point by pointing out weak spots, especially over-confidence.

The new back field with Pierson and McKinney, both substitute tackles, and heavy men at full and left, is having much attention paid it by the coaches and may be used against State.

"BROWNIE" GESSLER RE-ENTERS BALTIMORE MEDICAL COLLEGE

Harry "Brownie" Gessler, the popular middle fielder of the Brooklyn National league club, was in Pittsburgh yesterday. He left last night at 10 o'clock for Baltimore where he re-enters the Baltimore Medical College. Gessler has lost much time from his medical studies on account of baseball, and for that reason he will not be graduated this year, but another year in college will find him a full-fledged M. D.

Gessler spent two weeks in this section visiting friends. While he has not signed, it is probable he will again be with Brooklyn next season. He was one of the leading hitters on the Brooklyn team last season, hitting at .290.

Gessler is a fast football player also, but will quit the game. Baltimore Med., which for years past had good elevens, has abandoned the pastime.

"Pop" Hays Barred from Game.

SLIPPERY ROCK, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.) The Grove City Independents were defeated by the Normal Reserves today, 28 to 0. Hamilton made Normal's five touchdowns and kicked three goals. Two of his touchdowns were made from punts, the runs being 105 and 65 yards. Crosby and Marshall of Grove City college played the whole game for the Independents. Coach Hays of Westminster college was chagrined at not being allowed to play for Grove City.

W. and J. Will be Idle Saturday.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Manager Grubbe announced today that there would be no football game for the W. and J. even next Saturday. The next game will be with the Pittsburgh Lyceum at Pittsburgh on Tuesday. Every man, it is thought, with the exception of Stuart, will be able to get into the game against Lyceum.

MOSSE TO GIVE SUBS A CHANCE

Wup's Extra Material Will Be Called on for Duty and May Get Some Regular's Place.

HINKEY HAS TAKEN CHARGE

Some changes will be made in the lineup of the Western university team for Saturday's game with Waynesburg. Coach Mosse is perfectly satisfied with the make-up of the team, as it started in last Saturday's contest, but he realizes the necessity of having experienced men in reserve for the election day game with West Virginia and the State game on Thanksgiving day.

The subs made a good showing when called upon to relieve the regulars in the Susquehanna and California Normal games, and Mosse says that if they prove speedier than the regulars they will get a chance to play on election day. Mosse says that W. U. P. will not make Harvard's mistake—that of playing favorites. The best players will get the regular positions. Last year W. U. P. did not have this matter to worry over. It had trouble then in raking up one player for each position.

Hinkey, the new assistant coach, helped Mosse in the practice at Exposition park yesterday afternoon. He spent the morning with Yale men who were in his class and now live here. They obtained cards for the principal clubs for him and will help to entertain him during his stay. Hinkey's brother Frank has been at New Haven this year assisting in coaching Yale. Louis thinks that Yale will win from Princeton next week. Hinkey expressed surprise over the speed of the W. U. P. team. He said that as far as he could judge in one afternoon the development of the team is remarkable when the fact is taken into consideration that only one year ago W. U. P. did not have an eleven worthy of the name.

Mosse called up the University of West Virginia yesterday and quickly arranged for officials for the election day game. E. P. Young of Cornell, will be referee; H. H. Fry, Geneva, umpire, and Dr. William Farrar of University of Pennsylvania, head linesman. The last named position is an important one and West Virginia insisted upon having it filled. The head linesman keeps the time and sees that the linesmen do their duty. He has considerable authority over the players too, and in minor games the supply of good officials is usually exhausted by the selection of a referee and an umpire, and the teams get along without a head linesman.

Capt. Joe Thompson who caught cold Saturday was not able of practice yesterday. He seems to be improving and hopes to be out today. W. U. P. would be in a bad way if Thompson could not take part in the game with West Virginia on election day.

The tickets for the election day game will be on sale at Pratt's this afternoon. The entire grand stand and all of the boxes will be reserved, but the football association decided not to advance the prices. Walter Smith spent yesterday afternoon in training the student ushers in their duty. No one will be allowed in the grand stand next Tuesday without a coupon for a reserved seat.

WILL GET THEIR CASH.

New York Bookmakers in Luck as William Fleischmann Can Pay His Debts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—There is a chance of those bookmakers who took William Fleischmann's "markers" for the big bets he made on Leonora Loring at Saratoga a year ago last August getting their money after all. Fleischmann left Saratoga owing $40,000 more than he could pay. Aided by his brother, Fleischmann, who is a cousin of former Mayor Julius Fleischmann of Cincinnati, has piled up another fortune of $150,000 by his operations in Wall street.

Fleischmann last spring offered to settle his debts with the members of the Metropolitan Turf association, the organization of the big bookmakers, for $10,000 cash and $30,000 in notes, but the offer was refused by George Wheelock, president of the association. Wheelock said he would have all or nothing. Fleischmann says he will now take his own time about settling.

He admits having piled up a snug little fortune in Wall street, and is inclined to pay all his debts; but he is also inclined to make Wheelock wait. As the other bookmakers are bound to stand by Wheelock, they, too, may be kept waiting.

"RUBE" THE WHOLE SHOW.

Presided Over a Football Game and Prevented a Row.

SLIPPERY ROCK, PA., Nov. 1.—"Rube" Waddell, accompanied by the Prospect High school football squad, came here Monday, and one of the minor incidents of the visit was the defeat of the High school by the Normal Reserves by a score of 17 to 0. "Rube" was referee, surgeon, umpire, timekeeper, coach and master of ceremonies.

The master stroke of this baseball artist and actor was in preventing bloodshed between the belligerents in the game. A husky High school giant threatened to do things to little Smith of the Reserves. Rube grasped the High school gladiator and commanded him to shake hands with Smith. The order was obeyed. Then "Rube," with a resounding slap on the ear of his victim, said, "There you—that's right."

PASTIMES WILL PLAY AT SOUTH FORK ELECTION DAY

The Pastime eleven will play the South Fork Y. M. C. A. at South Fork election day. The Pastimes will have their strongest lineup on the field, as Fullback John Mackrell will be at his position the first time in a long while. Carl Sam Cullison will also be in the game. Pastimes will play the Westlakes Saturday on the Westlake grounds. Jack Lang, the wellknown tackle, is coaching the South Fork team and playing a tackle.

M'DIVITT IS COACHING THE HIGH SCHOOL LINE

Red and Black is Preparing for Annual Game With Shadyside—East Enders at Practice.

Hard work is ahead of the Pittsburgh High school eleven. Beginning yesterday and continuing until the day of the annual game with Shadyside academy, the High school boys will be worked hard daily by the coaches in the hope of getting the eleven into shape to beat the East Enders.

McDivitt, tackle on the W. and J. eleven the past two years, took charge of the High school linemen yesterday, and will continue coaching them until after the Shadyside game. McAllister, the full back, and Verner, the quarter back, were the only absentees yesterday. Dave Johns, who changed position with Verner going to left end from quarter back, yesterday ran the team, playing his old position. Dunc. Worrell and Pfeffer played right half and Staley of last year's team, who has again entered High school, was at the other half. Page was tried at right end and his playing was one of the features of the afternoon's practice. He was taken from the scrub team.

High school will take no chances with East Liberty academy Friday. The East Liberty team is playing good football, and is liable to upset calculations at any time.

Shadyside Academy.

The Shadyside coaches chased the first team up and down the field for some time yesterday, going through the signals and then called in the scrubs to complete the thrashing. The first team scored several touchdowns to the scrubs' one. Darls and Dick Mueller were the only regular players missing, each having sore legs. Hays played Darsie's left guard, and Alex McCracken played full back instead of Mueller. Capt. Arch Williams was at left half, McCracken's place, and Patterson went from end to quarter. Charles Babst and Uptegraf played the ends. Wharton scored the scrubs' touchdown, getting the ball on their 25-yard line on a fumble by Jim McCutcheon, and running down the field for the score.

West vs. East.

Another football contest between eastern and western scholastic teams is probable. North Division of Chicago, the team which went to Brooklyn last year and defeated the Brooklyn Boys' High team by the score of 75 to 0, has all but completed arrangements to meet the Phillips Exeter team of Exeter, N. H. The game will be played either at Exeter or at Boston November 26.

Greenfields Elect a Captain.

The Greenfield Hockey club has elected L. J. Schadle captain for the coming season. The Greenfields would like to hear from fast amateur hockey teams, not later than this coming Saturday, for the purpose of forming a hockey league of four members. Address, L. J. Schadle, 242 Winterburn avenue, city.

GANS ADMITS HE WAS ALMOST OUT

Says Britt Would Have Won Had Fight Continued—Thinks He Was Trained Too Fine.

YOUNG CORBETT'S OPINION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Al Herford, manager for Joe Gans, the champion lightweight pugilist, said today: "If Britt will fight Gans at Baltimore my club will hang up a purse of $15,000, and if Britt will meet Gans at 134 pounds, ringside, I will give him a side bet of $2,500, and he can split the purse 60 and 40 if he chooses. I have always contended that Gans can do weight easier east than he can here, and I am still of this belief. I will take Graney for referee or Britt can have somebody else."

Of the fight last night, Gans said: "I was too weak to do myself justice. After I went to my corner in the second round I knew it. I would like to fight Britt again, but I would not do it at 133 pounds ringside. Britt would have won had it continued."

Referring to his failure to win the championship, Britt said: "The decision was fair. I could not help it. Gans kept slipping to the floor without being struck. He also kept hanging on to me, and I tried to fight him off. I went in to win and in my opinion I would have knocked Gans out had the fight continued."

"It was too bad that the Britt-Gans fight came to such an inglorious end. It was a great fight while it lasted, and as far as it went was certainly in favor of Britt. He cut out an awful pace and at times had Gans dropping to the floor for rest," said Young Corbett.

"Referee Graney's decision was a just one. Britt had several times hit Gans while the colored man was on the floor. Of course he was boiling mad at the way the negro went down to avoid punishment, but that does not justify his breaking the rules, and he has no kick coming for having the winner's end of the decision taken away from him. Britt was plainly at fault and the punishment fitted the crime.

"The Frisco boy made a sucker play when he piled into Referee Graney when the decision was given. It did him no good and hurt the game a lot. At that he was taking a needless chance of getting licked, for Graney is no slouch with his fists.

THE FAVORITE BEATEN IN GOWANUS STAKES

Talent Picked Et Tu Brute, But Gay Boy Had the Speed and Won Easily.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Three favorites, two second choices and a long shot divided the money at Jamaica today. Gay Boy easily won the Gowanus stakes by two lengths and a half from the favorite, Et Tu Brute. Little Em, at the prohibitive price of 2 to 9, scored an easy victory in the last race. Summaries:

First race, selling, six furlongs—Atwood, 99, Murphy, 7 to 1 and 2 to 1, won; Old England, 105, Burns, 11 to 5 and even, second; Right and True, 108, Coune, 4 to 1 and 8 to 5, third. Time, 1:13 3-5.

Second race, five and a half furlongs—Nellie Russell, 110, Hildebrand, 5 to 2 and even, won; Ismailian, 110, Burns, 5 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Raiment, 110, D. O'Connor, 5 to 1 and 8 to 5, third. Time, 1:09 2-5.

Third race, mile and a furlong—Sonoma Belle, 115, Cochran, 11 to 5 and 4 to 5, won; Bartender, 107, Hildebrand, 7 to 2 and 6 to 5, second; James F., 115, Wonderly, 5 to 2 and 9 to 10, third. Time, 1:55.

Fourth race the Gowanus stakes, selling, six furlongs—Gay Boy, 113, Burns, 2 to 1 and 1 to 2, won; Et Tu Brute, 109, Commins, even and 1 to 2, second; Missing Link, 97, Sperling, 15 to 1 and 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:13.

NOT SO DRASTIC AS WAS THOUGHT

Republican Rules Will Permit Citizens to Vote at Primaries and Also Punish Treachery.

ENTHUSIASTIC RALLIES HELD

The Republican city committee on rules will meet this afternoon to consider the proposed changes in rules, a copy of which was sent out to all the members of the city executive committee last night. City Chairman M. G. Leslie refused to give out a copy, saying he thought the members of the city committee ought first to know what the changes are.

The Citizens party's leaders have been circulating the idea that the Republicans are afraid to admit them to the Republican primaries preceding the next city controllership election, for fear that the Citizens might "capture the primaries" from the leaders of the present organization. They asserted that the Republicans intended to insert in the rules a provision that no one could vote at the coming primaries unless he had voted not only at the national election, but at the municipal election last February. The reply of the Republicans to this assertion is a change in the rules which will permit the Citizens to vote at the next city primaries.

The present rules provided that any person can vote at the Republican primaries who voted the Republican ticket at the previous state or national election. That rule will be altered, so that no man can vote at the Republican primaries unless he voted the Republican ticket at the previous election, whether it be municipal, county, state or national.

Opportunity for the Citizens.

It is, therefore, seen that under the new rule the Citizens may vote at the next primaries, if they vote the Republican ticket at the coming election, but future treachery is provided against, for if dissatisfied with the result of the controllership primaries, they do not vote for the Republican candidate for controller, then they may not take part in the next Republican primaries. In other words, the Citizens, under the present rules, may earn a vote at the primaries by voting the Republican ticket at the election next week. The new rules does not make that privilege from them, but it compels them to support the Republican nominee next February or forfeit the right to vote at later primaries.

The new rules will also provide for means of disciplining traitorous ward committeemen, in addition to the present methods, by which the Republican ward associations can get rid of members whose fealty to the organization is in doubt.

The committee on rules will meet this afternoon to consider the proposed alterations, and tomorrow the city executive committee will meet at the Republican headquarters and discuss and adopt, reject or amend the work of the committee on rules.

Republican candidates for city controller will announce themselves after the election next week. Chairman Leslie said he knew of one man at least who would come out for the Republican nomination soon.

Enthusiasm in Lawrenceville.

Lawrenceville was ablaze last night with red fire and enthusiasm. There was a parade of Republican marching clubs and a big meeting in Keane's auditorium at Forty-fourth and Butler streets. The speakers were N. A. Flood of Meadville, Perry A. Shaner, Charles A. O'Brien and others. The marching clubs of the Eleventh and Twenty-second wards and the James Francis Burke club of the Nineteenth ward, paraded from the forks of the road to the hall, where the meeting was held, cheered by thousands along the route.

The Eleventh Ward club had previously escorted speakers to a meeting in the Thirty-third street school house, Thirteenth ward. Among those who addressed that meeting were James Francis Burke, Archibald Mackrell, S. A. Will, L. B. Cook, William Stanton and Addish Edils.

Republican meetings last night were addressed by the following speakers: Wallace hall, Wilkinsburg, A. C. Robertson, Charles A. O'Brien and John S. Weller; Colfax hall, Springdale, W. D. Grimes, H. J. Riley and Joseph A. Langfitt; Forester's hall, Elizabeth, Capt. John A. Reed, A. S. Miller and Samuel J. Hibbs; Troy Hill Turner hall, Thirteenth ward, Allegheny, Maj. A. B. Hay, John D. Watson, H. R. Miller and W. J. Burke; Shakespeare public school, Nineteenth ward, J. Wolfred Holmes and Walter B. Billows; Franklin school, Eighth ward, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, Joseph G. Armstrong, A. C. Stein and Adolph Edils.

On Friday evening the Republicans will hold a meeting in the Fifth avenue opera house, Homestead. Henry F. Walton, speaker of the Pennsylvania house of representatives; Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, Perry A. Shaner and the Rev. M. A. Dwyer will speak.

The Republican county chairman, Thomas J. Ford, yesterday mailed to Senator P. C. Knox an invitation to attend a meeting of the county committee on Saturday. Senator Knox will speak on Saturday night at the Republican meeting in Old City hall.

The Democrats of Sharpsburg had not intended to have a political rally this campaign, but when several prominent ones awoke yesterday and found their fences plastered with posters announcing a Republican meeting on Friday in the Young Men's Christian association hall they got angry. Later they decided to retaliate by announcing a Democratic meeting for Saturday evening, and last night they were busy putting their notices on the fences of prominent Republicans.

BUNN MAY FACE COURT.

Postal Employe's Case Taken to Department of Justice by Commissioner Cooley.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(Special)—Aroused to action over the statements of Ward Leader Sterr of the Twenty-eighth ward, that Jacob G. Bunn, former finance clerk of the Philadelphia postoffice, who was removed from office by President Roosevelt for soliciting political contributions was the innocent victim of a plot, Civil Service Commissioner A. W. Cooley has transferred the case to the department of justice at Washington, with the request that criminal prosecution be instituted against the discharged clerk.

Sections 11 and 15 of the act of 1883 makes it a misdemeanor for a government employe to solicit, contribute or receive funds for political purposes from any other federal employe, and the proposed prosecution will be based on this act. Commissioner Cooley does not take kindly to Mr. Sterr's comment that Bunn is a martyr, and he will make every effort to bring the deposed clerk before a federal jury in the United States district court here.

Killed by Premature Blast.

MILLTOWN, IND., Nov. 1.—The premature explosion of a blast at the Eichel limestone quarry today, resulted in the death of Foreman William Engleman and James Miller. Harvey Heath and Neal Miller were seriously and several others severely injured.

Reception in Avalon.

There were 120 guests at a handsomely appointed reception given yesterday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, by Mrs. M. C. Coggins, at her beautiful new home in California avenue, Avalon, in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Thomas Schall of Baltimore. Mrs. Coggins was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Schall and Mrs. James Graham.

Notes of Society.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Treadwell of New York city and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welland of Ellwood City, are expected in Pittsburgh tomorrow to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Coffin of Howe street. Mr. and Mrs. Coffin will celebrate the 15th anniversary of their marriage with a large at-home tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Albert J. Barr of Bidwell street is spending a few days in New York. She will return the latter part of this week. Mrs. John Walker of Western avenue, Allegheny, is also a visitor in the metropolis.

Mr. and Mrs. David P. McNair left last night for Pasadena, Cal., where they will make their home. Mrs. McNair was Miss Louise M. Becker of Crafton and was married on Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stapi, the Rev. S. Edward Young officiating.

This picture, which was taken in one of the streets of Moscow, shows the first Japanese prisoners which have arrived here from the far east, being escorted by Russian soldiers to the places in which they will be detained until the end of the war. It had been feared that the lower classes of the population would try to molest the prisoners, and the streets through which they marched were carefully guarded by mounted police, but no disturbance of any kind took place, the people looking at the Japanese only with a feeling of curiosity.

ODELL PROMISES TO PROBE FRAUD

Illegal Voters Sure of Punishment—Taft Addresses Great Meeting in New York.

OVATION TO THE SECRETARY

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—William H. Taft, secretary of war, spoke here tonight in Carnegie hall at a meeting held by the Business Men's Republican and Sound Money association. Other speakers were Amos Parker Wilder of Wisconsin and ex-Mayor Charles A. Schieren of Brooklyn. The hall was filled to overflowing. The meeting was arranged to take the place of the parade of Republican business men of New York city, which for more than a quarter of a century has been a feature of the Saturday preceding a presidential election. This year the association failed to secure a permit as the Democrats got ahead of them.

Shortly after the speaking began Gov. Odell entered the hall and the audience cheered him for 10 minutes. The governor spoke from his box. After declaring that many fraudulent ballots would be cast at the coming election, Gov. Odell said:

Two years ago my investigation led to the belief that there were frauds in existence, and I promised myself, as a Republican, then that I would do all in my power to prevent its repetition. Many say to me that I have degraded the great office of governor because I am a partisan and because I believe in my party. It was for this reason, and for no other, that I have assumed these great responsibilities, and upon the citizens of this state, and particularly of this great city, I appeal for aid, whether they be Democrats or Republicans. We went into the courts, but owing to the press of business it was impossible to reach all the cases and present the necessary affidavits, but the judgment of the court does not necessarily stamp those votes as being legal, but rather it places the responsibility upon them, and if they have not been they surely will be punished, because I have determined, so far as within me lies the power, not to stop at this election, as has been the custom heretofore, but to pursue each guilty man.

Secretary Taft spoke on the Philippine question. During the course of his address he said:

Judge Parker called his informant on Philippine conditions a recent student of conditions. E. Parker Willis is said by his conferees of the press in Washington to be a man when he believes anything believes it intensely and could suspect anything of any man who does not agree with him. Judge Parker's statement is addressed to five anti-imperialists, Carl Schurz, Moorfield Storey, Barnard Smith, Charles Francis Adams and, I forget the other. The letter would be a great deal stronger if it was not accompanied by the vouchers of these gentlemen.

Judge Parker says the islands are prostrated. From what? They are prostrated from rinderpest and cholera. Rinderpest is a contagious disease which came from South Africa. Cholera is from India and came in some vegetables. Don't you think it hard to charge the Republican party for the ravages of cholera and rinderpest?

Judge Parker says the trade is gone. The imports and exports are just double what they were in Spanish times. Then the shipping interest. Well, the shipping has increased three times since Spanish days. There were 70,000 men there during the occupation times which called for a great business from adventurous Americans, a kind of a business you can understand; liquor and candy and those things that a soldier buys. The force has been reduced to 28,000 and the market has disappeared. Liquor cannot now be sold within two miles of an army post. Five thousand licenses have been reduced to 800. The Democrats say the islands cost $670,000,000. The only item in that list that is right is that of $20,000,000 paid for the islands. They have $23,000,000 for a fleet to patrol the islands. It was done by a mosquito fleet for which we paid $208,000. They ascribe $50,000,000 for transportation, but have this cost down twice. Judge Parker saying in making it $656,000,000 he might have made it a great deal more, and Richard Olney makes it $700,000,000, and Edward Atkinson makes it $1,200,000,000. The real cost of the islands has been about $204,000,000.

CAPTAIN SIMPLY FORGOT TO ANSWER RUSSIAN SHOT

GEFLE, SWEDEN, Nov. 1.—The captain and crew of the Swedish steamer Aldebaran, which arrived here October 27 and reported having been fired at by a cruiser of the Russian second Pacific squadron, October 21, in the Skagerack, were examined under oath today. The captain said he did not regard the first shot fired by the Russian squadron as a summons to stop, and he failed to make the prescribed reply to the signal, simply ordering the hoisting of the Swedish flag.

PARKER, TRUST BOOMER; SO ODELL CALLS HIM

Governor Declares That Democratic Candidate Has Made or Lost Money in Promoting Combines—Judge Is Silent.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Commenting on Judge Parker's anti-trust campaign Gov. Odell today made the direct charge that Judge Parker himself is, or has been, connected with a trust and has made or lost money in the promotion of trusts. A reporter immediately sought to get an answer to the charge from Judge Parker, but Mr. Causland, the Judge's private secretary, refused either to ask the judge to answer the question, or to ask him to grant an interview on the subject.

When the governor was asked what effect Judge Parker's anti-trust speeches would have on the campaign, he asked the question:

"Has Judge Parker ever been connected with a trust?"

As no one could answer the question, the governor, pressed for his meaning, said:

"Just ask Judge Parker if he has ever been connected with a trust."

"Do you know that he has been?" the governor was asked.

"I know enough about the matter to say that the judge has either made or lost money in the promotion of a trust. I fancy his bank account will show whether his venture resulted either in a profit or a loss."

Gov. Odell was pressed to specify his charge, but would go no further at this time. "I may make a full statement later in the week, said the governor, "but that is all I can say now."

RAW MEAT AND ICE WAS HIS FOOD FOR THREE DAYS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHEYENNE, WYO., Nov. 1.—Subsisting on raw meat and ice, and at times on the verge of delirium from his awful experience, Albert Johnson, a tramp, spent three days in a refrigerator car of the Colorado & Southern road before he succeeded in getting out through a 10-inch hole which he cut in the end of the car. He entered the car at Orin Junction, Wyo., and got out at Cadron, Neb.

The car was re-sealed after he entered it and the tramp, who told his story at Lead, S. D., says the experience almost made him insane. He broke a seal to enter the car and thought the door would not be re-sealed.

FLOWERS FOR TAKHIRA.

They Are Sent by President and Mrs. Roosevelt—Minister Has Sinking Spell.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—At 11:30 o'clock tonight, it was said that Minister Takahira had a slight sinking spell, but that he responded almost immediately to stimulants and recovered his former strength in a few minutes. Just before midnight his condition was said to be better than it was just before noon.

Early in the afternoon a large box of white and yellow chrysanthemums was received at the hotel, the gift of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, with an expression of their hope for the minister's recovery.

College Presidents Elect Officers.

DES MOINES, IA., Nov. 1.—The National Association of State University Presidents today elected officers as follows: President, Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews, Nebraska university; vice presidents, William L. Prather, University of Texas, and United States Commissioner of Education William T. Harris; secretary and treasurer, President George E. Fellows, University of Maine. The next place of meeting probably will be Washington.

Army War College Opened.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—The opening of the Army War college took place today, in its temporary quarters at 2½ Jackson Place, which was once the temporary White House. The permanent quarters will be in new buildings at the Washington barracks.

HAS NO RECOLLECTION OF HIS MISADVENTURE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—George Arents, Jr., who was picked up unconscious in the wreck of his automobile during the race for the Vanderbilt cup on October 8, will in a few weeks be well enough to return to his business. The remarkable thing about Mr. Arents' present condition is that he does not remember the accident in which he was injured. His memory is good in all other things, and his terrible adventure will leave no lasting effect, physical or mental.

Dr. R. B. Kimball, who has been attending Mr. Arents, says it is nothing unusual for a person who has suffered an accident to find upon his recovery that he cannot recall the misadventure. It is the case of Mr. Arents. The shock of the sudden wrecking of his machine and the injury which rendered him unconscious at the time, probably effaced from his memory the recollection of the nerve-wrecking experience.

CHANGES AGENCY OF ITS COAL TONNAGE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—On and after January 1, 1905, the Pennsylvania's anthracite coal tonnage, which has been sold in the west through the W. L. Scott Company of Erie; Boyd, Stickney & Co. of Harrisburg, and J. Langdon & Co., incorporated, of Elmira, N. Y., will be sold by salaried agents of the Susquehanna Coal Company, the name under which all the anthracite mines of the Pennsylvania railroad are operated. C. L. Thompson of Erie has been appointed general western agent of the Susquehanna Coal Company with headquarters at Erie.

TARIFF DEFENDED BY SECTY. SHAW

SPEECH MADE AT LOUISVILLE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 1.—Speaking before a crowd which packed Phoenix hall and ran far into the thousands, Secretary of the Treasury Shaw spoke for over an hour tonight in support of the Republican candidates and platform. The address, which was chiefly along the lines of others the secretary has delivered during the campaign, was devoted mainly to the defense of the protective tariff system. Answering some of Judge Parker's recent strictures on the present protective policy, Mr. Shaw cited the instance of a glove manufacturer—one of dozens which refute the Democratic candidate's assertion that the protective tariff had had the effect of increasing the cost of living to a greater degree than the increase in wages. This glove manufacturer, according to the speaker, maintains one factory in Italy and another in America, and for one lira (19.3 cents) obtains an amount of labor equal to that for which he pays 89 cents in America.

"Other instances of a similar character might be cited by dozens," said the speaker, "each of them tending directly or indirectly in the case of various industries to disprove Judge Parker's contention."

The speaker contended that sneers at "infant industries" which have become giants do not furnish any good reason for discontinuing the present system, as the price of labor invariably follows closely the price of its product.

CITED KENTUCKY AS PROHIBITION MODEL

M'DOWELL CONFIDENT OF SWEEPING VICTORY

SHARON, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Alexander McDowell, clerk of the national house of representatives, has just returned from a stumping tour of several states and is positive of Roosevelt's and Fairbanks' election. Regarding the judgeship fight in Mercer county McDowell says A. W. Williams of Sharon, Republican, will have a plurality of 1,500 over Pettitt, Democrat.

Warm Politics in Italy.

ROME, Nov. 1.—The electoral campaign is at fever heat. There was a severe fight in a public hall in Palermo where Palizzolo, the Mafia leader and former deputy, once convicted of murder but subsequently acquitted, and who is again a candidate for deputy, attempted to speak at a meeting of his opponents. He was greeted with cries of "Down with the traitor" and in the riot that followed several persons were badly injured.

TYPHOID GERMS.

The microscope shows that in the blood of every person suffering from typhoid the little germs can be found as shown above. They are supposed to get into the water or milk we drink. The germs multiply so that one germ is capable of producing about one hundred trillion germs in twenty-four hours. That is why if they ever get into the water supply of a town they multiply so fast that nearly everybody drinking the water comes down with the disease. There are exceptions, however, and they are the persons whose health is perfect, whose blood is pure, and liver active. When the germs get into a healthy body they are thrown off with the other poisons. Recent Chicago statistics show that one-eighth of all the deaths in the past two years in that city have resulted from pneumonia.

The best advice we can give is to put the body into a perfectly sound, healthy condition. Be assured that you have rich, red blood and an active liver.

Many years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, who is consulting surgeon to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y., found certain herbs and roots which, when made into an alterative extract (without the use of alcohol), seemed to be the very best means of putting the stomach, blood and vital organs into proper condition.

This seemed to him as close to nature's way of treating disease as it was possible to go. For over a third of a century Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has had a wonderful sale and the cures resulting from its use are numbered by thousands. It is a tissue-builder, better than cod liver oil because it does not sicken the stomach, or offend the taste. It strengthens or renews the assimilative or digestive processes in the stomach and puts on healthy flesh when the weight of the invalid is reduced below the normal.

Try Liquozone first. Let us buy for you the first bottle—a 50c bottle. Then let the results decide about using it afterwards.

We never ask a person to buy Liquozone. And we publish no testimonials, no evidence of cures. We simply ask the sick to try it—try it at our expense. Let the product itself show what it can do. In one year we have spent over one million dollars to announce and fulfill this offer.

There are millions of people using Liquozone today. Your own neighbors and friends are among them. They are using it not because of our claims, not because of other people's cures. They are using it because they tried it, and found that it did what medicine could not do. And you will use it, also, when you let us prove what it can do for you.

Not Medicine.

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact that gives Liquozone its worth to humanity. And that worth is so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

PARKER AGAIN MAKES CHARGES

HE SPEAKS IN NEW JERSEY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for president, entered the neighboring state of New Jersey tonight and made speeches at Newark and Jersey City. The principal charge in his speech at the former place was that the business combinations controlled certain commodities and pushed up the prices and throttled competition by for a time underselling their competitors until they were compelled to retire from business. At Jersey City he said, in part:

Because we are opposed to the purchase of the electorate and have felt it our duty to expose those who would corrupt it to the end that their power to plunder the people may continue, cry out, in these closing days of the campaign, that the business interests would not be safe with a Democratic administration. This cry is false, and those who utter it know it. We favor a healthful prosperity in which all the people may share.

Would Protect Property Owners.

We would encourage the accumulation of property and would protect the present possessors of it in that possession, under all circumstances. But we would do all we could to take away from the combinations and trusts that power to oppress the people which they now exercise. In other words, we would put forth every effort to thwart their illegal methods of collecting tribute. Illegal methods of making money do not constitute legitimate business, although those who resort to them may pose as business men. Our purpose is to deprive, so far as possible, these illegal combinations of their present illegitimate advantage.

As I have taken occasion to say before, and I deem it my duty to say again, the trusts are furnishing the money with which they hope to control the election. I am sorry to be obliged to say it. If it were not the I would not say it to gain the presidency or any other earthly reward; but it is true, and that being so, it became my duty to warn the people of it. This I did in an address to the people on the 24th day of October—more than a week ago. What happened?

The president summoned Senator Knox to his Presence. From that consultation Knox emerged to give an interview which he said the president had approved. It was not sparing, to say the least, in its criticism of myself. He did not, however, meet the charge. He did not deny it. He could not, nor could the other party to the consultation.

On Friday last, in a public address, I called attention to the fact that it had not been met and could not be. Promptly it was given out that Mr. Cortelyou would make answer to the charge—Cortelyou, the chairman of the Republican national committee—the one-time private secretary to the president, later a member of the cabinet as head of the department of commerce and labor, and as such having the right to obtain the secrets of the so-called trusts. Secrets which, under the statute, may not go beyond the president if he so desires. And then it was almost as promptly denied that he had any such purpose.

The New York Tribune of this morning publishes a dispatch from Washington, under the head of "Cortelyou Falsely Accused," with a sub-lead saying that he "has not accepted campaign contributions from corporations."

Man's Name Is Withheld.

It gives what purports to be the statement of a man who withholds his name. He is described in the Tribune article as "A man who knows all that occurred at Mr. Cortelyou's last call on the president."

There are only two persons who can interest the people in this subject. If they have anything to say, the people would like to have it said promptly. Weeks have gone since the New York World, the New York Times and the Brooklyn Eagle made charges covering fully this, the most vital, question before the people—charges that were reproduced in every part of this country—the former propounding 10 questions, beginning with "How much has the beef trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?"

There has been plenty of time to answer these questions, but they have not been answered, and they will not be. It is for the people now to say whether the trusts of this country shall be permitted to control its national elections in order that their power to levy tribute may be continued.

At the Newark meeting, before the arrival of Judge Parker, Richard V. Lindabury, who had been introduced as presiding officer, referred in his speech to the alleged usurpation of power by President Roosevelt in the Panama republic incident, which appeared to call forth proof for an outburst on the part of Republicans in the audience, they cheering the president's name. In an instant the representatives of the two parties were locked in a combat of hoots and hisses, handclapping and cheers. Mr. Lindabury appeared to be taken by surprise and he repeated the reference to Panama, again mentioning the name of Roosevelt, which was cheered louder than ever. By this time the Democrats in the audience were ready to meet the attack, which they did, with hisses for the interruptions and cheers for the Democratic candidate. Mr. Lindabury abandoned the speech he had prepared for the occasion and talked directly at the disturbers, quieting them by the time Judge Parker arrived.

When Judge Parker finally reached the platform he was given an ovation equal in intensity to that at Madison Square Garden last night, the ovation lasting 12 minutes. Throughout his speech he was accorded marked attention.

Judge Parker delivered the same speech at two meetings in Jersey City, one in Ellis' hall and the other in St. Peter's hall.

BELATED TESTIMONY GIVEN IN DEFENSE OF ACTRESS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The defense of "Nan" Patterson, the actress, now in the Tombs prison, charged with having killed Caesar Young, the wealthy bookmaker, in a hansom cab in West Broadway, this city, on June 4 last, Milton W. Hazelton, a prominent business man of Oneonta, N. Y., today appeared at District Attorney Osborne's office and declared in an affidavit he saw Young fire the fatal shot.

He testified that while walking in West Broadway, with a chance acquaintance, he saw a hansom cab traveling towards him. In this were a man and a woman sitting partly facing each other. Their hands were raised. From their excited faces and positions he saw they were in a commotion of some kind. His companion saw them at the same time, and said, "Look there." Just then he saw the young woman drop her hands towards her lap and a minute afterwards saw the revolver in his hand and saw and heard it go off. He saw the man fall forward into the lap of the woman. Hazelton says as he and the man he was with did not wish to be detained as witnesses they agreed to say nothing about what they had seen.

After making his statement Hazelton was taken under escort to Bleecker street and West Broadway, where the shooting occurred, but was unable to identify the locality.

Acheson Confident of Victory.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 1.—(Special.) Congressman E. F. Acheson, who has returned from an eastern trip during which he was in conference with Republican campaign leaders, expressed the opinion that Roosevelt would win by a large margin. "I found those in charge of the national committee headquarters guilty of a sweeping victory," said Acheson. "They are confident of carrying every northern state, with the exception of Maryland. For two weeks the tide has been strongly toward Roosevelt and he has gained ground not only in New York, but throughout the entire country."

Taggart Leaves; Mystery Deepens.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 1.—Thomas Taggart, chairman of the national democratic committee, left Indianapolis today, and there is some speculation as to his destination. At his hotel word was given out that he had gone to French Lick springs. Political friends of Mr. Taggart say he went to Chicago.

Cortelyou Returns to New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Chairman Cortelyou of the Republican national committee arrived in New York tonight from Chicago. He will be here during the remainder of the campaign.

PROSPERITY OR PANIC, ISSUE

PLEDGE TO HIS CONSTITUENTS

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Nov. 1.—The Republicans held a great mass meeting here tonight. The principal speaker was United States Senator N. B. Scott. He said in part:

The issue is sharply drawn between prosperity and panic. Your votes in November will bring one or the other just as sure as the tides rise and fall. Your votes will purchase four years of prosperity or four years of hard times.

"Let well enough alone!" The words are the plain straightforward expression of one of the greatest statesmen and most consummate business men of the age, and are entitled to rank with the maxims of Benjamin Franklin and Abraham Lincoln.

Men have come into this state and with cunning words have urged you to change existing conditions, to reverse the policies under which the country has enjoyed a marvelous prosperity and growth. Change for what? A chance to loaf in the streets, while foreign workmen grow fat with the purchasing value of American gold? Or a chance to travel, like the tormentor of Job, up and down the country seeking bread, while your wives and children take over the garbage barrels for morsels of food, or seek sustenance at free soup kitchens? And yet that is just what the poor people of this country realized as the result of the change which the Democrats brought upon the country in 1893.

Do you expect to improve the conditions which have prevailed in this country during the past eight years—under the wise and safe policies inaugurated by William McKinley and continued by Theodore Roosevelt? If so, your hopes will be dashed upon the rocks. Better times this country has never known, and may never expect again, than those which we have enjoyed since 1897.

The Democratic party is sadly divided. It has no coherent or effective force; no well-defined policy which it can execute; no leader who can command the united support of the party in the enactment of any public measure. A strong half of that party, following Bryan, demands the free coinage of silver. The whole party demands free trade. The success of the party means either one or two things, a vexatious and distressing delay, a stoppage of the legislative machinery at Washington or the enactment of hasty and crude measures which would rip up and exterminate prosperity, root and branch, which would bank every iron furnace, close every mill, every mine and paralyze every railroad in the country. Democratic success would toll the bell over the prostrate form of American industries.

As a Republican I shall, if re-elected, vote to sustain the principles and policies of the party. I shall vote "Yes" upon all measures calculated to protect American labor, to maintain prosperity, to uphold the gold standard, to expand the markets for American commodities, to equip and maintain an army of proper strength and efficiency, and a state militia equal to the needs of the country; to build up a strong and effective navy and restore the American merchant marine; to construct an interoceanic canal; to maintain the independence of Cuba; to discharge our obligations fully toward the Philippines; to promote unity and harmony between labor and capital; in short, to secure the fullest measure of peace, prosperity and happiness to the American people.

"Let well enough alone." The lips which uttered these sage words are stilled in death, and yet the words still live for the guidance of the country. They are echoed and re-echoed from all parts of the land, and wherever intelligence lights the way, wherever the fruits of experience are known and appreciated, wherever sound judgment and discretion shape the course of human action, these words of the dead statesman will regulate the destinies and ensure the safety, peace and prosperity of our great and glorious country.

BRITISH PAPERS LAMENT THE HEGIRA TO AMERICA

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—According to Consul Stephens at Plymouth, England, the British press is calling special attention to the alarming flight of the Irish and Cornish to America. Over 22,000 have gone from Ireland alone in the present year, and the exodus, which has received an impetus from the cheap fares, goes on without interruption.

"There is," says the consul, "no greater menace to Ireland's future than this appalling drain by emigration. It is drawing out of the country the best of its peasant class for America and leaving the undesirables behind. At present they are leaving at the rate of 2,000 a week.

"The same conditions, though in modified form, apply to Cornwall. The mining industry at home is dead. In the British colonies conditions are not at all favorable, hence the weekly exodus to America. Those already in the United States send home money as rapidly as possible to assist their relatives and companions in Cornwall to follow."

CAR JUMPS TRACK AND CRASHES INTO BUILDING

A West View car, bound for Pittsburgh, jumped the track at Union and Church avenues, Allegheny, at 5:30 p. m. yesterday, ran about 40 feet across Church avenue and plunged into the board sidewalk in front of Armour & Co.'s storage house, tearing up a portion of the pavement and breaking a lot of glass in one of the storage house windows. The car was not much damaged. Only a few passengers were on the car. None was hurt.

Crater Cone Falls; Volcano Roars.

NAPLES, Nov. 1.—The cone on the crater of Mount Vesuvius, which formed during the late eruption, fell into the crater today with a tremendous roar. There immediately ensued explosions that shook the whole mountain, followed by the emission of an immense black column, which gradually spread, falling in the form of ashes over the surrounding country within a radius of 25 miles. The disturbance lasted but a short time.

REPLY TO OPEN THREAT WAS FRAUD ORDER ISSUE

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Postmaster General Wynne, at the direction of President Roosevelt, took to the cabinet meeting today all the papers and correspondence bearing upon the fraud order issued against Charles M. Jackson, alias Mitchell, author of a book entitled "How We Run the Civil Service in Our Colonial Possessions." Mr. Wynne later made public the facts in refutal of the statement emanating from Democratic quarters that the book was barred from the mails because it was an adverse criticism of the management of affairs in the Philippines.

It is stated the fraud order was issued because Jackson advertised widely that the Philippine civil service was in need of clerks and stenographers, who would be paid $100 and $150 a month. He stated, it is said, he had a book which contained the civil service examinations. He offered the book for sale at 75 cents a copy.

The bureau of insular affairs, war department, complained to the postoffice authorities that there was no way in which Jackson could have obtained these examinations. The postmaster general on September 21 ordered the postmaster at New York to hold Jackson's mail pending further examination.

Jackson sent the following telegram to the postoffice department on September 27: "Am publishing book on Philippine civil service and have thousand orders in mail. Postmaster here arbitrarily withholding my mail without explanation. Unless the same delivered by Wednesday must accept Democratic party's offer to distribute my book gratis to every office man in union, causing me financial loss and considerable notoriety to the Philippine government. Please wire. Urgent."

Because of the previous evidence obtained against his business this telegram clinched the matter and a formal fraud order was issued against Jackson. It is announced that the business was not suppressed because the book was adverse to the Philippines, but because Jackson was attempting fraud upon innocent persons anxious to obtain work.

NO MORE FREE PASSES FOR WOULD-BE-VOTERS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—The Republican state committee, in keeping with its traditional policy, has this fall furnished 3,000 railroad passes to men who desired to return home and vote. A great percentage of the number were college students, who, having received the necessary "tip," will be with their families November 8, and if not too busy cast a vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

Secretary Andrews today flagged the pass business. It has grown within the past half dozen years to a point where the railroads have felt obliged to protest. Chairman Penrose concurs. He thinks there is a limit to all things, one of which is the election pass. Those who have not already received their pink slips will pay fare or not vote.

Chairman Penrose celebrated his 44th birthday today by going to New York for a conference with National Chairman Cortelyou, who is expected from Chicago tonight. Many congratulatory messages were received at state headquarters and the list of visitors was unusually large, but the senator was not on deck. Immediately after election Insurance Commissioner I. W. Durahm will return to his summer campp in the Adirondacks. His friends say he wants to enjoy the fishing and hunting.

Secretary W. R. Andrews tonight said that during the present campaign the state committee had sent out about 800,000 letters to Republican voters and 3,000 express packages containing campaign literature. Mr. Andrews said this output would be equaled the coming week.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

TAGGART HAS ABANDONED THE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—In the last week of the campaign a disagreement between Thomas Taggart and the eastern trio, August Belmont, William F. Sheehan and Delancy Nicoll, has arisen over the division of campaign funds east and west, and the work in behalf of Judge Parker in Indiana may be seriously crippled.

One result is the withdrawal of Chairman Taggart from further management of the national campaign. Henceforth he will devote his whole time to the contest in Indiana, and will not return to New York until after election. This was admitted today by Grey Woodson, secretary of the national committee. The trouble is over money. Taggart thinks a big sum is needed in Indiana, while the eastern contingent want to spend their money in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

FRANCO-AMERICAN TREATY.

Arbitration Agreement Signed in Washington—French Government and People Pleased.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—Secretary Hay and Ambassador Jusserand today signed a treaty providing for the settlement by arbitration any possible disputes between the United States and France. It is drawn on the lines of the Anglo-French arbitration treaty.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The news of the signing of the arbitration treaty between France and the United States in Washington today is received here with the warmest expressions of approval, particularly in government circles, where the treaty is regarded as a strong bond between the two republics.

PARKER MEN FAIL TO PRODUCE THE MONEY

Big Offer on Roosevelt Goes Uncovered—Herrick Still Betting Favorite.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—An offer was made on the Broad street curb market to bet $80,000 to $20,000 that Roosevelt will be elected. This offer, which is the biggest betting proposition offered since the campaign began, was made by West Pollock of the firm of Pollock & Vaughan. No Parker money was forthcoming to cover it.

Mr. Pollock also offered to bet $15,000 to $5,000 or $1,000 to $250 on Roosevelt. This last offer was taken up by Matthew Kiernan, who posted the needful Parker cash.

Odds of 10 to 7 were offered on the curb that Herrick will be elected. J. J. Judge made a bet of $2,000 to $1,000 with Batcheller and Adee that Roosevelt will carry New York state. J. L. McCormack, however, offered to bet 1 to 5 that Parker will carry the state by a plurality of 20,000 or more.

PROMOTIONS AMONG COAL COMPANY MEN.

Officials Move Up and Two Crews Are Promoted to More Important Boats.

Promotions were the order yesterday in the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company, and a number of officers were moved up the ladder. The vacancy created by the resignation of Capt. Hugh Moren, master of transportation, resulted in the advancement of Capt. W. H. Crump, and following this came a couple of other changes.

Capt. Crump has been connected with the coal company since its organization and was assistant master of transportation. He has selected as his assistant Arthur Moren, and Harry McDonald. Mr. Moren has also been with the coal company since its organization and has had charge of the boats and landings and saw to it that the orders emanating from the office were carefully carried out. With his brothers—John, James, Thomas and Hugh—he formerly belonged to the Advance Coal Company. Mr. McDonald is a new man in the coal company. With his father he formerly belonged to the Hornet Coal Company. The father died several years ago and the son became connected with the Pittsburgh & Buffalo Company and had charge of the retail trade at Buffalo.

The other changes in the coal company's affairs, which took place yesterday, were the advancement of two captains. Capt. W. P. Oaks of the Josh Cook, with his entire crew, was advanced to the Exporter, and Capt. F. A. Gould of the Charles Brown was promoted to the Boaz. The advancements are material improvements and the men advanced are among the most highly regarded followers of the river. Who will fill the vacancies created by the advancements has not yet been determined upon.

STEVENSON WILL SPEAK.

Former Vice President Agrees to Make Tour in Indiana This Week.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—A request was received today by former vice president A. E. Stevenson from the Democratic national committee that he speak in Indiana during this week. He has wired his compliance. He will speak in Princeton November 3; in Delphi, November 4 and in Marion, November 5. Other dates may be arranged later.

This will be the first appearance of Mr. Stevenson in the campaign, with the exception of one address at Bloomington.

Chandler Enters an Objection.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Nov. 1.—Dr. Joseph H. Chandler, candidate for governor of Delaware on the Republican ticket, today filed with the clerk of the peace a protest against the name of Preston Lea, the compromise candidate for governor, being placed in the official ballot as the candidate for governor on the Republican ticket. Dr. Chandler was nominated by the regular Republicans.

PARKER TAKING DEFEAT AS CHILD

DEFENSE MADE BY LODGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge addressed a big Republican meeting here tonight. He said in part:

The speech made last night by Judge Parker at Madison Square garden in the midst of red fire, well drilled applause from the Tammany crowd, you will find consists chiefly of saying in fair weather that the sky is blue, the grass is green, that it is good to be good and bad to be bad and that virture is better than vice. In the midst of these startling additions to human knowledge is an attack on the chairman of the national Republican committee. It is a repetition by a candidate for the presidency of a slanderous accusation made by a New York newspaper unsupported though challenged repeatedly, by a single item of truth. Speaking from an abundant knowledge of the facts and of the chairman of the Republican national committee and the president, I have no hesitation in saying that no baser or more slanderous charge was ever made even in the exigencies of a desperate and losing campaign.

Theodore Roosevelt will go into the presidency again on the 4th of March as he entered upon his present term, without an obligation of any kind or a promise of any sort to any man, or any corporation for services rendered or money contributed to this campaign. No such pledges and no such promises could bind him and no such promises and no such pledges have ever been made by Mr. Cortelyou. No cleaner man exists and no more straightforward campaign has ever been carried on in this country than that carried on under the leadership of Mr. Cortelyou. It is enough to have these unfounded and unproved accusations repeated in party newspapers, but what shall be said of a candidate for the presidency who descends to personal attacks of this kind? I say it is the cry of a beaten man in a fair fight who cannot take his defeat in a manly way. Judge Parker, in fact, has been more than ludicrous in his agony of mind over the corruption which he thinks Republicans are practicing.

Small Blaze in Braddock.

Fire which started in the general store of Joseph Folyta, at 1234 Talbot avenue, Braddock, at 10 o'clock last night, damaged the building to the amount of $250 and the stock $800. Folyta left the store about 20 minutes before, leaving a gas jet burning. It is supposed that the flame communicated to window hangings.

Tipped It Off To the Police

THING LOOKED INCREDIBLE.

Investigation Proved That Facts Are Sometimes Stranger Than Fiction.

A young man who believes he is a natural born sleuth of the Sherlock Holmes variety became deeply puzzled over the methods of the Liberty Clothing Company at Liberty street and Sixth avenue and started an investigation on his own account. He discovered that the company is selling fine Suits, Overcoats and Pants at half or less than half what other stores are charging for the same kind of clothing. Being a good judge of clothing values, he readily satisfied himself beyond question that the goods were all right. But there was no way of explaining the absurdly low prices and he told his troubles to a policeman. When it was explained to him that because of the unusually fine, warm fall weather the clothing business generally has been dull all over the city and that the Liberty Clothing Company took this radical means of reducing their enormous stock, quickly the young detective hustled back to the store and bought himself a complete outfit. Here are a few examples of the way clothing is being sacrificed:

Men's fancy Scotch mixture Pants; regular price, $4. Our Sale Price, $1.50.

Men's fancy Check Pants; regular price, $4.50. Our Sale Price, $1.75.

In the higher priced Suits—those ranging in value from $25 to $30 each—the demand has been so great that many of these lots have been reduced to one or two lots of each kind. If you are fortunate enough to find the suit you want you will get a tremendous bargain, because we have cut the price on all suits of this grade to $9.98.

Men's Black and Dark Blue All-Wool Cheviot Sack Suits, the kind that sell the world over for $12. Our Sale Price, $5.98. See samples in the window.

Men's fancy Cheviot and Cassimere Suits; these sold regularly at $12 to $15. Our Sale Price, $7.98.

A lot of Young Men's Nobby Suits; regular prices, $10, $12 and $15. Our Sale Price, $5.98, $6.98 and $7.98.

Men's Extra Fine Black Thibet Suits; regular prices, $16 and $18. Our Sale Price, $8.98.

TRICK TO KILL TRACTION BILLS

Relief Measures Changed from Safety to Corporations Committee Without Authority.

LATTER BODY IS BIGELOW'S

The city administration, or the power that controls councils, is on record as opposing legislation to give the public the relief they need and demand from the present traction evils. Evidence of this was shown at city hall yesterday. Two measures destined to give this relief partly were transferred without authority from the public safety committee, to which they had been referred by President Wightman on Monday, to the corporations committee, which is controlled absolutely by the administration.

The evident reason for transferring these two bills is that the corporations committee is controlled by the administration, while the public safety committee is not; at least, there is much more doubt about the complexion of the safety committee. The chairman of the public safety committee is Select Councilman Lewis H. Frederick, who has been opposed to the administration. Besides this, half of the members of the committee are Republicans or independents.

Bigelow Controls Committee.

There is no such doubt about the corporations committee, and it can be safely relied upon to shelve the traction reform bills, so it is figured. The chairman is Select Councilman John Costello, who is an ardent follower of Bigelow, and the members are nearly all persons who have been picked for this committee because of their devotion to the director.

The two bills referred to are ordinances drafted by Assistant Controller Morrow and introduced Monday in select council. One prohibits passengers standing on platforms and fixes a penalty of $5 for each offense, on the conductor who permits this ordinance to be violated. This ordinance only puts into force a rule of the company, which is printed on every car, but which the company does not enforce. The other ordinance provides that only five persons shall sit in a compartment of a summer car, and that no person shall stand between the seats, fixing a penalty upon both the conductor and the passenger who violate the ordinance.

Director Bigelow is blamed for having these two ordinances transferred from the public safety to the corporations committee. The public safety committee is called to meet this afternoon to take up some other measures, and it was learned yesterday that there was an intention on the part of some of the members of the committee to act also upon Morrow's traction bills. Chairman Frederick was asked to call a meeting to dispose of a couple of measures that Director Moore is interested in. One is an ordinance licensing massage parlors.

Without Wightman's Authority.

Frederick knew the traction ordinances had been referred to his committee and he said he asked the city clerk about them yesterday when he called at the city hall to give the order for the meeting of the committee. Frederick said the clerk told him the traction ordinances had been put in the corporations committee.

An investigation proved Chairman Frederick's statement to be correct. The ordinances were found among the papers of the corporations committee and marked "referred to corporations committee."

President Wightman of select council was asked to explain the transfer of the ordinances. He was much surprised and declared the ordinances had been changed without his knowledge or authority.

"I know nothing about it," he said. "I referred them to the public safety committee, where they ought to stay, and I will go to the city hall tomorrow morning and have them put back in the safety committee. The corporations committee should not want everything. These bills refer to the safety of the public. They do not relate to the subject of franchises and properly belong to the public safety committee, to which I referred them."

Resolution Goes in Tonight.

If President Wightman makes good his word and has the ordinances put back in the public safety committee, the ordinances will be before that committee this afternoon for consideration. It is up to the safety committee to demand the ordinances, if Wightman does not have them returned. It was the opinion yesterday that if the administration finds itself unable to keep the ordinances out of the safety committee this afternoon it will break a quorum of the committee and prevent action on them in this way.

The resolution asking the city solicitor for an opinion as to the powers of the city council to compel better traction service has been prepared and will be introduced at tonight's meeting of common council. City Solicitor Rodgers stated yesterday that he was ready to give councils immediately all the information at his command.

An ordinance has also been prepared to increase the annual license fee on street cars, but Assistant Controller Morrow expresses the opinion that this ordinance should not be passed until the linear tax case, pending in the supreme court, is settled. He thinks if it becomes a law now it might hurt the chances of the linear tax suit.

Morrow Gives Advice.

"But you collected the car tax for this year while the linear tax case was pending in the supreme court?"

"I know that," Mr. Morrow replied, "but the controller was directed to collect the tax by the city solicitor, who understanding that if the linear tax is upheld by the supreme court, the amount paid on the cars, which is $22,146 27, shall be applied to the linear tax and the traction company given credit for the amount. There will be time to pass a new ordinance increasing the tax on cars after the supreme court decision is made. The tax is levied at the beginning of the year and it can be made larger then. This will not interfere, however, with other measures to secure relief from overcrowded cars and other evils, nor will it prevent councils from taking steps to compel satisfactory service on the trolley lines. That is within the power of councils."

FIGHT FOR PRESIDENCY OF CARNEGIE INSTITUTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—It is expected that at the current meeting of the trustees of the Carnegie institution, the question of its presidency will be decided. The champions of Dr. Henry S. Pritchett apparently regard his chances of election as very hopeful. The particular principle for which he stands is the independence of the executive. Some of the trustees are looking for a man who will be simply an administrator of their policy, and these will oppose Dr. Pritchett.

SUES STOCK BROKERS FOR THREE TIMES HIS LOSSES

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Suits aggregating $1,840,000 were brought against 27 prominent board of trade brokers today by Charles E. Erby, as trustee for Henry B. Smith, who seeks to recover losses alleged to have been incurred in speculation. The suits are brought under the statutes which provide that any citizen may bring suit for losses sustained in gambling transactions for three times the amount of the money lost.

Engineers' Society Hears Paper.

S. H. Baker, formerly the head of the Baker Forge Company, whose specialty is devising processes for forging, last evening read a paper before the mechanical section of the Engineers' society on "Forging Machinery." Next Saturday the society will go to the plant of the Mesta Machine Company at Homestead, where several large engines and a sugar mill for Cuba are being constructed.

Money for Philippine Soldiers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—The United States army transport Sherman sailed today for Honolulu, Guam and Manila with many cabin passengers, a number of troops, about $2,000,000 in Filipino pesos and 4,000 tons of supplies for the soldiers in the Philippines.

Disputed Bill Leads to Murder.

WASHINGTON, KAN., Nov. 1.—Dr. N. M. Smith, chairman of the Washington county Democratic central committee, was shot and killed here by S. H. Bonar, a farmer. They quarreled over a bill.

SOCIETY AND THE WOMAN'S CLUB

THE REV. JAMES H. MILVAINE, D. D., rector of Calvary Protestant Episcopal church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. R. J. Coster, rector of Grace Protestant Episcopal church, officiated last evening at the marriage of Miss Cornelia Brackenridge McKelvy and Edward Houston Bindley, which took place in Calvary church at 8 o'clock. The bride was given away by her father, J. Erastus McKelvy, and had as her maid of honor her sister, Miss Marie McKelvy, the bridesmaids being Miss Adelaide Bindley, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Emma Humbird, Miss Helen Brackenridge, Miss Cornelia Brackenridge, Miss Elizabeth Utley, Miss Jane Peebles, all of this city, and Miss Margaret Winter-smith and Miss Mary Winter-smith of Louisville, Ky. William A. Bindley was his brother's best man and the ushers were Thomas Guffey, Dale C. Jennings, Albion S. McMillan, Dr. James McM. Long, Thomas Watson and Francis Graham McKelvy of Pittsburgh and William Gillespie of Stamford, Conn., and Howard Bissell of Buffalo.

The bride wore a directoire gown of white satin and chiffon, trimmed with point applique. A wreath of orange blossoms fastened the tulle veil and she carried white roses. Illusion cloth formed a very effective gown for the maid of honor, who carried white roses, while the bridesmaids, carrying white chrysanthemums, wore low-necked gowns of white silk point d'esprit with short puff sleeves. At the reception at the home of the bride's father in Westminster place, following the ceremony, Mr. McKelvy and John Bindley, the father of the bridegroom, received with the young couple. The house was beautifully decorated with smilax and chrysanthemums, yellow prevailing in the library and hall, and white in the drawing and dining rooms. The church also had decorations of chrysanthemums and greens, but there yellow was absent, the color scheme being green and white. Mr. and Mrs. Bindley left last evening for their wedding journey. They have made no plans as to where they will be at home.

Miss Bughman's Wedding Day.

Miss Virginia Frances Bughman, the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Bughman, has chosen Tuesday, December 20, as the date for her wedding to William White, Jr., of the Hotel Schenley. Mr. and Mrs. Bughman came into town yesterday, closing their summer home near Greensburg and taking possession of their former home in Woodland road, East End. They have rented the house from Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Speer, Jr., who are going abroad for the next three months. The wedding of Miss Bughman and Mr. White will be one of the most interesting home events of the winter. The ceremony will be witnessed only by the immediate relatives and most intimate friends, but a large reception will follow. Miss Genevieve Bughman will be her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. Mr. White and his bride are arranging to travel extensively this winter, and have not yet decided where they will be at home at the conclusion of their wedding journey.

Dined His Wedding Attendants.

BALTIMORE, MD., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Charles Phillips Hill of Pittsburgh, whose marriage to Miss Kate Mortimer Montague will take place at noon tomorrow at Christ church, gave a dinner for his best man and ushers tonight at the Baltimore Country club. Those present were his brother, George Brown Hill, William Corcoran Hill and Houston Hill of Pittsburgh; Edward King of Philadelphia, Howe Forbes of Washington, D. C.; Reginald Reynolds of New York and Dr. Gordon Wilson of Baltimore, who will be the ushers. Miss Montague will have as her only attendants, her sister, Mrs. Basil Gordon, who will be matron of honor, and the two little daughters of the latter, Miss Leila St. Clair Gordon and Miss Anne Hamilton Gordon, as flower girls. The ceremony will be followed by a small breakfast at the residence of Mrs. Gordon, 909 North Charles street, for members of the two families and intimate friends only.

Pittsburghers at Johnstown Wedding.

The noon train to Johnstown tomorrow will carry a party of East End people, who in the evening will be guests at the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Russel Entwisle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Entwisle of that place, and Benjamin Harvey Thompson of this city. Miss Clara McLain of Pittsburgh, who is to be maid of honor at the wedding, is already in Johnstown, a member of a large house party being entertained at the bride's home. Among those who expect to go up tomorrow are Miss Marguerite Maple, Miss Gertrude Maple, Dr. Edward Graver, Dr. and Mrs. William M. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. John McLain, Mr. and Mrs. William McLain, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McLain and Mrs. J. A. Thompson. Miss Clara Thompson, a sister of the bridegroom, will be one of the bridesmaids and Albert Graver of this city is one of the ushers.

Bridal Couples at Home.

Many of the bridal couples of the early summer announced days at home after November 1. Among them were Dr. and Mrs. Frederick V. Woolridge (nee Abbott), Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Galbraith McCleary (nee Fetterman), Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Beech Kelly (nee Gieffer), Mr. and Mrs. R. Russell Huggins (nee Thompson), Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Armstrong (nee Powelson), Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur D. Hockensmith (nee Elderkin), Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Wright (nee Swan), Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vincent Hukill (nee McKown), Mr. and Mrs. John Konstanzer (nee Schwarzwaelder), Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patterson Ritter (nee Shannon).

W. S. Brown's Son to Wed.

An engagement was announced yesterday at a tea given by the mother of the prospective bride, Mrs. Mary J. Matlack, of Second avenue, Braddock. The bride-to-be is Miss Margaret Markle Matlack and the prospective bridegroom is William McCandless Brown, a son of William S. Brown. The wedding will be a home affair on November 16 at 6:30 o'clock, with the Rev. George E. Hawes, D. D., pastor of the Parker Avenue United Presbyterian church, Braddock, officiating. A reception and dinner will follow the ceremony, and an extended wedding tour will be taken.

Williams-Carney.

Miss Edith B. Williams of Braddock and Walter H. Carney of Homestead were married last evening in St. Luke's Reformed church, Braddock, by the pastor, the Rev. E. H. Laubach. The only attendant was Miss Mary Coleman of the East End, a niece of the bride. The bride has been a teacher in the Rankin public schools and the groom is a member of the firm of J. B. Murdoch & Co. They will live in Ward street, Oakland, after December 1.

First of the Debutantes.

Mrs. Henry Balken of College avenue will give a tea on the afternoon of Tuesday, November 15, to introduce her daughter, Miss Harriet Weyman Balken, a debutante of this season. A number of Miss Balken's friends will assist her. On Friday, November 18, Miss Balken's aunt, Mrs. George A. Macbeth, of Amberson avenue, will give a card party in her honor. Miss Balken is an Okontz girl and finished there only last June.

Granddaughter of Arthur Kirk a Bride.

The wedding of Miss Marorie Lawrence Ayres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Goshorn Ayres of Sharpsburg, and Dr. Edward Duff King will take place at the Hotel Schenley on Wednesday, November 16. Miss Eyres is a granddaughter of the late Arthur Kirk of Sharpsburg and Dr. King is a son of the late Robert H. King of Sharpsburg. Dr. King and his bride expect to spend the winter in Pasadena, Cal.

Wedding in Canton.

Miss Alice Perry of Canton, O., and Henry S. Fehr of Port Perry will be married at the home of the bride on Tuesday, November 15. The bridegroom is a brother of former Chief of Police George M. Fehr of McKeesport. Following a wedding trip the two will live in John street, Braddock. The engagement was announced yesterday.

SUSIE GOT HER MAN.

Another Illustration That True Love Never Did Run Smooth.

Justice J. C. Miller of Homestead last evening officiated at the marriage of Nicholas Busco and Susie Tinco. The two were engaged to be married, but Monday night, at a ball, Nicholas met a Cleveland girl and told Susie that he was tired of her.

Susie at once left the ball room and sued him for breach of promise. Constable Frank Bell arrested Busco at the ball, where Nicholas Strilko drew a knife and tried to stab Bell, but was disarmed and arrested. At the hearing yesterday the whole matter was adjusted and the court turned into a bridal room.

MANY PRELATES TO ATTEND.

Obsequies of the Late Archbishop Elder Fixed for Tuesday Next.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 1.—The funeral of the late Archbishop Elder will be held next Tuesday morning at St. Peter's cathedral. Sunday afternoon the remains will be escorted in solemn procession from Seton hospital to the cathedral, to lie in state. Archbishop Mueller and the counsellors of the archdiocese have been in session today, arranging the funeral.

Among those expected are Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishops Farley, New York; Riordan, San Francisco; Ryan, Philadelphia; Williams, Boston; Mesmer, Milwaukee; Ireland, St. Paul; Quigley, Chicago; Glennon, St. Louis, and Keane, Dubuque, Ia.

Methodist Bishops Visit Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 1.—The Methodist Episcopal bishops closed their semi-annual conference this afternoon and paid a visit to Yale university at the invitation of President Hadley. Among the final acts of the conference was a vote not to revise or to review the appointments made by Bishop Neeley of Buffalo.

Buy Blankets for the Hospital.

The benefit euchre at the residence of Mrs. John P. Ober last week was a grand success financially as well as socially. The sum realized will be given to furnish blankets for the new East End hospital. Mrs. Ober and Mrs. Straub were members of a band of contributors for the purpose of furnishing the necessary blankets, and as more than 300 pairs will be in use in the new building, the euchre was given to swell the fund. Fifteen hundred dollars was realized at the afternoon and evening euchre. The prizes were all donated, 42 for the afternoon and 40 for the evening.

Mrs. Ober was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. E. Straub. The aids were Mrs. Stephen Stone, Mrs. P. Reilly, Mrs. W. N. Epping, Miss E. Heyl, Mrs. Lea, Miss Josephine South, Miss Marie Friday, Miss Boyer, Miss Ober, Miss Gerst, Miss Katherine Vilsack, Mrs. William Howley, Mrs. C. H. Dixon, Mrs. J. J. O'Reilly and Mrs. A. A. Frauenheim. The members of the blanket band are Mrs. Auhl, Mrs. G. Bennett, Mrs. J. D. Callery, Mrs. D. Cunningham, Mrs. D. P. Black, Mrs. Charles Donnelly, Mrs. W. N. Epping, Mrs. M. Eberhardt, Mrs. Dallmeyer, Mrs. Wertheimer, Mrs. C. H. Dixon, Mrs. A. J. Logan, Mrs. W. J. Friday, Mrs. Park Painter, Mrs. E. H. Meyers, Mrs. L. Flaccus, Mrs. William Flinn, Mrs. Downes, Mrs. W. D. Hartupee, Mrs. William Howley, Mrs. J. G. Jennings, Mrs. W. Langenheim, Mrs. V. Mather, Mrs. S. Pickering, Mrs. Wm. Price, Mrs. G. S. Richards, Miss Margaret Rea, Mrs. J. M. Roberts, Mrs. W. Rea, Mrs. S. Sipe, Mrs. Seifers, Mrs. Shields, Mrs. J. M. O'Donnell, Mrs. E. J. Frauenheim, Mrs. Willis McCook, Mrs. J. P. Ober, Mrs. E. Straub, Mrs. H. Straub and Mrs. A. A. Frauenheim.

A New Club Calendar.

The Southern Women's club has issued an exquisitely dainty calendar for the year, the cover being embellished with a picturesque scene in water colors, the work of the club's president, Mrs. John Mann L'Amour. The club meets the first and third Wednesdays of each month, the next meeting being this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph O. Ewing. It is a new club, with a membership limited to 25, and this year it will take up a study of the "Old South" and "Literature of the United States." This afternoon it will discuss Mrs. Margaret Deland's book, "The Wisdom of Fools," and "The Two Salomes," by Maria Louise Poole. Mrs. W. T. Murphy will give a talk on "The South Under the Old Regime." Mrs. Murphy is a niece of James K. Polk, president of the United States. The officers of the club and the southern states from which they have come are Mrs. John Mann L'Amour, Tennessee, president; Mrs. Franklin B. Ranson, Kentucky, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph O. Ewing, Kentucky, second vice president; Mrs. James M. Drill, Maryland, recording secretary; Mrs. William Austin Kuhn, Kentucky, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John C. Glenn, Virginia, treasurer; Mrs. James Blair Walker, Maryland, director of music; Mrs. William C. Weckerle, Tennessee, critic.

The St. Louis Exposition.

The St. Louis exposition was discussed yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Woman's club in the assembly room of the Central Young Women's Christian association. Mrs. F. R. Wade was the leader, and, under her direction, Miss Anna Gerwig gave a brief story of the "Louisiana Purchase," Mrs. Wade herself telling something of the architecture of the exposition; Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg spoke of the landscape gardening, Mrs. John D. Hamilton of the electrical features of the fair, Mrs. John H. Evans compared the state buildings, Mrs. James S. Dinwiddie, in a paper read by Mrs. Wade, discussed woman's scope in the exposition; Mrs. A. T. Bean gave a bright sketch of her trip through the fair, Mrs. Harrington L. Butler spoke of the Odeon, where the club women assembled last June in St. Louis, and Miss Cara Reese telling of the tour of the club women through the fair grounds. Other members of the club who have visited the great exposition in St. Louis added interesting comments as the program for the afternoon progressed. Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig presented a report of the recent meeting of the State Federation in Lancaster.

Planning for Donation and Bazar.

The Ladies' Aid society of the South Side hospital yesterday completed arrangements for the annual donation day reception, which will be held Thursday, November 17, from 2 until 5 in the afternoon and from 7 until 10 in the evening in the hospital. M. Nossokoff, the famous Russian boy violinist, in whom Charles M. Schwab became interested, will play, supported by an orchestra. In the evening an address will be delivered and the Imperial Male quartet will sing. The hospital is in need of linen, towels and household supplies. The society also decided to hold a bazar the second week in December, continuing afternoon and evening for two or three days, the place and time being left to a committee, which will report on donation day.

Miss Susan Blow Here.

Miss Susan E. Blow, who will shortly give a course of lectures under the auspices of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association, has already arrived in the city, having come directly here from her summer home in Cazenovia, N. Y. The opening lecture of the morning course will be held Friday morning at 10:30, in the College building, 3439 Fifth avenue. Next Tuesday there will be an open lecture at the Bellefield club, Center and Craig streets, at 8 p. m., subject, "Ideal America and Contemporary Contradictions of This Ideal." This is free to the public.

Anniversary at Home for Friendless.

The anniversary of the founding of the Home for the Friendless will be observed tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the home in Washington street, Allegheny. An address will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander and there will be interesting exercises by the children. The children have just been brought into the city from their summer homes and the routine work of the winter within the home has been resumed.

Lectures Before the Clubs.

The Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge last evening lectured before the Men's club of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church on "Charles Spurgeon."

Three hundred people listened to Dr. J. Leonard Levy's lecture at the Bellevue clubhouse last evening on the subject, "Marching On." The club will arrange a series of lectures for the winter.

Bazar for Working Girl's Home.

A bazar will be conducted in the Convent hall of the Sisters of Mercy in Webster avenue tomorrow, Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings for the benefit of the Working Girls' home. There will be a sale of hand-painted china and art needlework. The hours will be from 2 o'clock until 5 and from 7 until 9.

Club Notes.

The Colonial club met yesterday at the Hotel Henry with the president, Mrs. E. Z. Sullivan, presiding.

"Spanish Discoveries and Settlers" was the subject taken up by the members of the Lawrenceville New Century club yesterday afternoon.

PENNSYLVANIA AWARDS CONTRACT FOR EXCAVATING FOR NEW LINE

President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad has lifted the lid which was shut on the expenditure box some time ago and has authorized the prosecution of improvements. H. S. Kerbaugh & Co., the railroad contractors, have awarded a contract for 2,000,000 cubic yards of excavation work on the low grade division of the Pennsylvania railroad between Columbus and the main line. Work will be started at once and pushed to completion. The shops at Olean, on the B. & A. V. division, are to be increased by the addition of several new buildings. The company has established a large yard at that place. President Cassatt has also authorized the reconstruction of a large number of minor improvements along the system and an effort will be made to have them completed before the severe weather sets in. The company has ordered the construction of 25 locomotives at the Juniata shops. The same number of locomotives will be turned out of the Baldwin locomotive works for the company. With the improvements previously authorized the Pennsylvania railroad will spend more money within the next few months than in several years in the same length of time.

Considering Time Card Changes.

A meeting of the traffic and transportation officials of all the Vanderbilt lines is being held in New York. The officials are discussing several questions, one of them being the fall time card. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie waits until the New York Central and the Lake Shore prepares their schedule. This is done so the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie can send trains through without a delay at division points. When the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie arranges its schedule it is expected better train service will be given the up-river points. Braddock, McKeesport, Monessen and Fayette City have petitioned the passenger officials for more trains, which may be granted.

Centralizing Vanderbilt Management.

Circulars received in Pittsburgh yesterday announced the appointment of F. M. Whyte, general mechanical engineer of the New York Central, Boston & Albany, Lake Shore, Lake Erie & Western and the Three I's. G. L. Parish has been appointed assistant superintendent of rolling stock of the New York Central. F. W. Bazier's duties has been extended over the Boston & Albany. John Howard has been appointed superintendent of motive power of the New York Central. The changes are made to centralize the Vanderbilt interests.

Many Abolish Demurrage Combination.

The combination formed by the Baltimore & Ohio, the Pennsylvania and the Reading and their subsidiary lines for the collection of demurrage on coal shipments at tidewater is said to be on the verge of collapse. It was learned yesterday the Reading has withdrawn from the agreement. The Central Railroad of New Jersey, which was in the combination for a time, withdrew several weeks ago. The action of the Reading is a surprise to the transportation officers of the other roads.

Changes on the P. R. R.

Several changes have been made in the passenger department of the Pennsylvania railroad. N. M. Thompson of Blairsville, on the West Penn division, has been appointed passenger, baggage and freight agent; John H. Nixon is appointed passenger, baggage and freight agent at Columbia; John A. Vebme, passenger and baggage agent at Haverford; George Althouse, passenger, baggage and freight agent at Newark Center, and N. C. McCormick freight and passenger agent at Phillipston.

Railroad Notes.

R. E. McCarty, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the Panhandle, left for St. Louis last night.

J. B. Muckle, depot ticket agent of the Wabash, has returned from a visit to St. Louis.

FOUNDER'S DAY GUESTS HASTENING TO PITTSBURGH

John Morley Will Arrive Tonight and Seth Low Wires that He Is Coming.

John Morley, the famous British historian and member of parliament, who will be the guest of honor at the Founder's day exercises at the Carnegie institute tomorrow, will arrive in Pittsburgh at 8:30 o'clock tonight on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad. He will be the guest of W. N. Frew during his stay in this city. Mr. Morley has been in Canada much of his time since landing in America and will come directly from Toronto.

Mr. Frew last night received a telegram from Seth Low stating that he positively would be on hand for Founder's day and would make an address. Mr. Low is making Republican campaign speeches in West Virginia and will arrive tonight or early tomorrow morning. He also will be Mr. Frew's guest.

Tonight the annual press view of the pictures in the Carnegie art galleries will be held. Invitations have been issued for newspaper representatives and a few friends of the officers of the institute. The work of hanging the pictures was completed yesterday and everything is reported in readiness for the event.

METER BILLS TOMORROW.

Special Meeting of the Public Works Committee Is Called.

The public works committee of councils is called to meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The principal measures before the committee are the two meter ordinances, one authorizing the purchase of meters and the other authorizing additional employes to install them. These bills were returned to the committee by select council to give the Plumbers' union and others that have an interest in the meter question a chance to be heard.

The Cecil alley widening ordinance is also in the public works committee, but Director Bigelow has said that this ordinance will not be passed until the abutting property owners sign an agreement to pay for the improvement, so as to prevent any portion of the expense being put upon the city.

SISTER FORGAVE BROTHER.

Defendant Went Down Upon His Knees in Alderman's Office.

A touching scene was witnessed in Alderman McKelvey's office, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon. George Rush of Vinial street was charged with assaulting his sister, Mrs. Lena Myer, of Sheriff street.

The hearing was about to begin when Rush fell on his knees before his sister and begged her not to testify against him. They had had some family trouble and the brother had given the sister a black eye. Mrs. Myer at first refused to forgive, but he pleaded so earnestly and humbly she finally withdrew the case, he paying the costs.

WANTED.

Agents.

AGENTS—Wanted in Pittsburgh and natural gas towns to sell famous Williom gaslight burner; it excels all other high-power burners in brilliancy, durability and economy; makes fully 300-candlepower light with one small regular sized 10-cent mantle; last indefinitely. The new Williom No. 5, just out, is the KING OF LIGHTS for residences and stores; can be used on high or low pressure; either ARTIFICIAL OR NATURAL GAS. Its illuminating power is three times greater than that of the ordinary burner; any mantle or any style globe or chimney can be used. It is a light that never fails. It is the only DUST PROOF light in existence. The mantles are enclosed by a perforated shield which excludes all lint and dust from the burner. It is the easiest regulated of all gaslights. The Williom side screw regulator is the simplest and best adjustable gas check ever devised. The flame can be regulated from the highest to the lowest point of combustion, thus saving the consumer 25 or 50 per cent on his lighting bills. People who use the Williom "No. 5" have the satisfaction of knowing that every atom of gas they pay for is turned into light. "BEARS" RUN AMUCK IN THE STOCK MARKET

They Attempted to Wreck Values by Circulating War Rumors, but Were Finally Cornered—Pittsburgh Coal Preferred Was Strong.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Yesterday was an exciting day in the New York stock market. Prices opened higher and the market was in a fair way to recover from the decline which occurred just before the close on Monday, when a variety of reports and rumors of a hitch in the negotiations between Great Britain and Russia gained currency. As the day wore along these rumors took more definite form, it being asserted that the garrison at Gibraltar had been mobilized, that the officers of the British council fleet had been ordered on board and the decks cleared for action. It was further asserted that these preparations had for their object the interception of the Russian Baltic fleet, pending the removal of a hitch that had occurred in the peace negotiations. Unfortunately it was a holiday on the London stock exchange, and there was no opportunity for obtaining an expression of that market on the situation. The Liverpool wheat market, however, was strong and closed higher, and at one time the Chicago wheat market showed an advance of 2½ cents.

During the first two hours on the stock exchange trading was light, the sales footing up less than 500,000 shares. The actual owners of stock were slow to take fright, and the strength of Amalgamated Copper and Sugar, together with the early announcement of the regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent on Pennsylvania railroad and the quarterly dividends of 1½ per cent on Peoples Gas, Lead & supporting effect. Around the noon hour, however, the market display a decided weakness and declines were general. United States Steel common broke to 39¾ and the preferred to 79½, while the sinking fund bonds, which were quoted ex-coupon of 2½ per cent, declined to 84, equivalent to 86¼ interest on. The traction stocks declined 1 to 2 per cent, and in the railroad list St. Paul and Union Pacific were conspicuously weak, the former selling down to 167⅝ and the latter to 107.

In the afternoon a moderate recovery took place, which was again followed by a break to the previous low price, this weakness being based upon a selling order for 50,000 shares executed by an international house which tended to give color to the early rumors of trouble over the North sea affair. Subsequent events, however, suggested that this selling was part of the bear tactics to help along the decline in values. Late in the session several prominent Wall street houses received private cables from their London correspondents to the effect that there had been no hitch in the negotiations with Russia, and these advices were partially confirmed by the absence of disturbance in the money market or sterling exchange. The bears had exhausted their ammunition, and the bulls were encouraged. The final half hour was one of furious scrambling among the shorts to cover. The manner in which stock rebounded was conclusive proof that the bulk of the early selling had been for short account. Trading became very active and excited, and in many instances all the early losses were recovered and something besides. The close, however, disclosed considerable irregularity. Steel preferred closed at the top, which represented a net gain for the day of 1¼ per cent. Amalgamated Copper rallied 3⅝ per cent and closed at the top. Steel bonds closed at a loss equivalent to ⅝ per cent. Sugar closed 1½ higher and Peoples Gas a point higher. In the railroad list Union Pacific, St. Paul and Wabash common closed lower, while Delaware & Hudson and most of the roads of the southern group closed higher. The net gain in Pennsylvania was ⅛, while the net loss in Baltimore & Ohio was ⅝ and in Reading ⅜. Metropolitan Street Railway closed 1⅛ higher, while Brooklyn closed ½ lower and Manhattan 1 per cent lower.

Call loans ruled at 2½ per cent all day, and there was no diminution in the offerings of funds. Sterling exchange was steady and unchanged, and nothing further was said about gold exports.

More than one-half the total dealings on the local board yesterday consisted of Pittsburgh Coal preferred, which ruled strong at 73⅝@74⅜, in anticipation of the ratification of the contract with the Wabash for the operation of the mines of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company, which was not announced until after the close of the market. Only 50 shares of the common stock changed hands all day, but it closed firm at 10⅞@11. The only other stock to display any activity was United States Glass, which sold at 45, a decline of 5 per cent. Early in the day United States Steel preferred declined to 80 in the sale of 70 shares only, but at the close it rallied to 81¼ bid. Only 15 shares Crucible Steel preferred and none of the common changed hands all day. Pittsburgh Plate Glass recovered to 129, while Westinghouse Electric declined a dollar to 84 and the boom in Air Brake subsided, the best bid being 134. Pittsburgh Coal dividend scrip sold at 104, the highest ever quoted. Pittsburgh Brewing 6s were a fraction higher at 113½.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The action of the directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in relation to the operation of the mines recently acquired by the Wabash railroad was not formally announced until after the close of the market, but it was in anticipation of the favorable outcome that the preferred stock advanced to 74⅜, the highest of the year, and the dividend scrip also made a new high mark. The largest single transaction for the day was the sale of a block of 500 shares of the preferred at 73¾, seller 90 days, Marlin to Hall. The common stock was neglected, but closed firm and unchanged in the bid price.

A private sale of 40 shares Commonwealth Trust at 175 was reported on the exchange.

There was a complete subsidence of the demand for Westinghouse Airbrake yesterday and the stock closed at 134 bid, compared with 137 bid the day before. Westinghouse Electric declined with the early weakness in New York and closed at 84.

Central District and Printing Telegraph (Bell telephone) advanced to 12714 bid. There were no offerings of the stock. An officer of the company said it was truly remarkable the way applications for instruments kept coming in and the steady increase in the business of the company.

The semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent was declared on Pennsylvania railroad as expected. The books will close for the dividend on November 15.

A boom in Pittsburgh and Duluth Mining Company stock occurred yesterday, and private sales were reported in the local market as high as $28 a share for the new stock on which the first payment of $3 a share has been made. No sales were reported from Boston, but the closing quotations in that market were 22¾ bid 24 asked. Pittsburgh is a large holder of the stock.

The American Cotton Oil Company yesterday declared a dividend on the common stock of 1 per cent, and the Peoples Gas of Chicago declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent.

The net earnings of Louisville & Nashville for September increased $155,629. The net earnings of Erie for the same month increased $4,595.

For the quarter ending August 31 the American Car and Foundry reported net earnings of $587,081, against $1,575,073 for the same quarter last year.

The September report of Chicago & Alton shows an increase of $194,009 in gross earnings and an increase of $108,000 in net.

Amalgamated Copper realized the bearish attacks yesterday better than any other stock. The statistical position of the metal market is very strong. With the exception of the record-breaking figures established in January of this year, which 29,000 tons were exported, none of the monthly shipments have exceeded those made in October. The next best month for copper exports according to the records was in August, when 24,800 tons were shipped. March followed with exports of 22,500 tons. The following table illustrates the comparison between this and last year's exports:

It is reported that some of the municipal authorities of Philadelphia are giving consideration to a suggestion that the city water works be leased to a company after the manner of the lease of the gas works to the United Gas Improvement Company, which produces a regular income for the city.

The Philadelphia Company reports a surplus over fixed charges and preferred dividend for the nine months ended September 30, 1904, of $1,542,235. This is a decrease of $402,484 compared with the surplus shown by the company for the corresponding three-quarter years in 1903, and makes the earnings on about $29,000,000 Philadelphia Company common stock for the period 5.3 per cent as against 7 per cent a year ago. The earnings since January 1, 1904, are on a basis of 7.2 per cent per annum, as compared with nearly 9 per cent earned in the calendar year 1903. The nine months' statement is for the calendar year, but the current fiscal year ends March 31, 1905.

Forty roads report for the third week in October an average increase in gross earnings of 10.94 per cent.

It was remarked that the majority of war rumors from London, Gibraltar and St. Petersburg reached the financial community via Chicago. This does not necessarily discredit them, but it should dilute them.

London discounts were easier, although that market, as well as that for sterling exchange, was largely nominal on account of the holiday in London. There was a receipt of $500,000 of Australian gold at San Francisco, available for transfer by telegraph to New York, and New York exchange at Chicago rose to par for the first time this season.

The November dividend declarations already reported by industrial corporations show a large falling off, the total standing $14,354,377, against $17,190,771 in November of last year. The decrease, however, is susceptible of easy explanation. In the first place, dividends on Allis-Chalmers preferred, American Car and Foundry common, Corn Products common and Pressed Steel Car common were passed. The aggregate of these dividends last year was about $1,200,000. Owing to the financial organization of the Tobacco company the usual dividends on American Tobacco common and preferred stocks, amounting in the aggregate to about $1,010,000, have not been officially declared, as was the case last November. However, holders of the preferred stock, which is now being turned in, receive their dividends at the time of the surrender of the certificates. As the common stock, or at least all of it except a very small amount, is deposited as security for the Consolidated Tobacco 4s, the company arranges that matter with itself. Nearly one-half of the total November dividends is furnished by the United States Steel Corporation, which will pay out $6,394,910 on its preferred stock. Among the other large disbursements are Pullman company, $1,480,000; Amalgamated Copper Company, $763,440; Anaconda Mining Company, $600,000, and American Car and Foundry preferred, $525,000.

Mr. George J. Whitney, of Whitney, Stephenson & Co., has been elected president of the Pittsburgh Surety Company.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

The stock advanced to 74⅜, the highest of year, and closed at 74.

IN WALL STREET.

Declines of 1 to 3 points were general throughout the list.

The close was irregular, but there were more gains than losses.

WALLACE BLOCK SOLD FOR $115,000

Charles Lockhart Buys Choice Business Property in Wilkinsburg.

P.R.R. WANTS HOMEWOOD LOT

Through the offices of George Brothers and H. Coleman the Wallace block in Wilkinsburg has been sold again for $115,000. The buyer is Charles Lockhart, who gets title to the property from A. J. Puffinburg, president of the Puffinburg Furniture Company of Wilkinsburg. Puffinburg bought the property over a year ago for $100,000, so the present deal gets him a good profit on an investment of a comparatively short time. The building sold is a three-story brick and stone structure at the southeast corner of Wood street and Penn avenue, facing 108 feet in the former and 60 feet in the latter thoroughfare. This makes the rate of sale $1,065 a foot for the Wood street frontage, or $10.13 a square foot. The first floor is taken up with two store rooms and offices, and the upper floors are used for offices exclusively. The gross rental is about $15,000 a year. When Puffinburg bought the property it was announced two more stories would be added to the building. Later several projects were on foot to establish a department store in the larger building, and at the time stock for a company was solicited. The location is admirable one for this purpose, and Wilkinsburg with its suburbs should be able to support a store that in its pretensions would rival some of the smaller downtown institutions.

Railroad Filed Bond of $40,000.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has started condemnation proceedings against the holdings of Francis E. McGillick at Homewood, securing the filing a bond of $40,000 for a plot 40x112 feet. The land is on the north side of the railroad tracks and is now occupied by an office building and lumber yard. McGillick asks $60,000 for the property and the company is to business that would result from a removal. For a year or more he has tried to get a switch into the property, but the railroad officials declined it for yards or a station site. It is now practically assured that the plot is wanted for a site for the inbound station which the Pennsylvania will build at this point. The railroad company owns the adjoining properties on both sides and will need but little more to complete its scheme of improvement. The removal of the Pennsylvania tracks will take away the stations at Brushton, Ben Venue and Fifth avenue is creating no little disturbance among the residents and property owners at those places. This is particularly the case at Brushton, where three mass meetings have been held and petitions circulated widely signed, protesting against the removal, but like action so far as the efforts of the citizens have been futile, although it is said that the Brushton station is a paying one for the railroad, as over 1,500 people use it every day.

Exchange Deal of $45,500.

W. L. Scott & Company of Allegheny yesterday closed an exchange deal for North Side properties valued at $45,500. For A. A. Spivey & Co. sold W. Fulton Ayer, Jr., Orr 60x140 at 124 Charles street, extending through to Sarah street, for $27,500. The Charles street end of the lot is improved with three frame houses of 10 rooms each, and four eight-room dwellings face in Sarah street. The total rental is $2,400 a year. In part payment for this property Mr. Orr tendered 600 Allegheny avenue, Allegheny, a 14-room brick and stone house on 27x140 feet. This property was put into the deal at $20,000, the difference being paid in cash.

The East End Savings and Trust Company bought at sheriff's sale the interest of Henry C. Cypher and John Y. Burton in 48x124 feet on the south side of Loudon street, near Negley avenue. Twelfth ward, for $12,750. The lot is improved with a two-story frame building used as a hotel.

Architect J. P. Bailey has awarded the contract to the W. H. Jack Construction Company for the school house to be erected in Girardield avenue, Twenty-third ward. The building will contain eight rooms and will cost about $50,000.

MARKETS AWAIT RESULT OF COMING ELECTION

All Lines Felt the Dullness and Business Was Extremely Slow.

For Tuesday, yesterday was a remarkably dull day in all lines in the local market, bearing out the belief of the dealers that not much would be doing until after the election next Tuesday. In the wholesale grocery trade there was much more life than in fruit and produce, and the dealers in groceries reported a fair business, although not what they expect when the great battle of next week is over and forgotten.

The reduction in the price of flour took effect all around yesterday, the same as was quoted in The Gazette Monday morning. The cut was a surprise to a number of persons who were looking for a rise rather than a reduction. It was purely the result of local conditions, however, and it is believed the price will soon advance to its old altitude.

The advance in sugar seems to have stimulated the demand for that commodity, although the opposite effect might have been anticipated. The public is not affected by the change, but the dealers are coming into the market readily now, when they hold back on lower prices.

In produce the potato market is showing signs of weakening, although there has been no change in prices. It is believed they will shade off a little in the near future, as there are now 154 carloads of tubers in the local market. They are being sold readily, however, and stored for the winter. The first carload of frozen potatoes to arrive will send the price bounding upward, and frozen potatoes may be looked for almost any time now.

Receipts of fruit and produce were very light yesterday, and were as follows: Apples, 10 cars, making 78; cabbage, 3, making 40; celery, 1, making 8; onions, 1, making 2; potatoes, 24, making 154.

HAY AND GRAIN.

RECEIPTS.

Receipts of hay, grain and feed in the local yards yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 80 cars hay, 25 cars oats, 2 cars straw, 7 cars feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 11 cars hay, 6 cars oats, 1 car straw, 1 car rye; Baltimore & Ohio, 6 cars oats, 22 cars hay, 2 cars corn.

Heavy receipts of hay and oats had a tendency to loosen the market a little yesterday, although prices did not fall off as much as might have been expected. First-class hay is still in great demand and the supply does not appear to be anything abnormal. Oats have been getting weaker for the past week, and a slight decline in them was not unexpected. Hay and oats were dull in the local market yesterday. Old shelled corn is yet in great demand and trade in new corn does not amount to anything. The quotations on new corn are down a trifle and it is possible a further reduction may take place in a day or two.

SHARP RALLY IN WHEAT ON FOREIGN CABLES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Renewed apprehension concerning the status of the Anglo-Russian controversy caused a sharp rally in wheat here today. At the close December wheat was 1⅜@1¾c higher and May, 1⅞c. Corn is up a shade. Oats show a gain of ⅛c. Provisions are practically unchanged.

Sentiment in the wheat pit was bullish from the start. At the opening the market was influenced by the strength of foreign grain markets, the price of wheat at Liverpool being up nearly half a cent, notwithstanding the decline here yesterday. The strength abroad was said to be due in part to unfavorable weather conditions in Argentina. The domestic situation was regarded as quite favorable by the bull leaders. In the northwest, where receipts were quite generally expected to be on the increase, the arrivals today were little more than half what they were the corresponding day last year. Commission houses and pit traders were active bidders at the opening, both December and May being in good demand. Initial quotations on December were up ⅛@⅜c to ⅛@¾c at $1 10¾@1 11. May also was up ⅛@⅜c to ⅛@⅝c at $1 10⅝ to $1 10¾. Offerings were entirely inadequate to satisfy the demand, and in consequence prices continued to advance. The upward tendency was greatly accelerated by alarming reports from Europe regarding a revival of the Anglo-Russian war scare. Demand for wheat was further increased by advices from Kansas City, claiming that many reports are being circulated in the northwest of Oklahoma, owing to excessively dry weather. Another bull factor was the small movement in the southwest and a material decrease in total primary receipts. The high point on December was reached at $1 13 and on May at $1 12½@1 12⅝. Late in the day, the market was subjected to heavy realizing sales, the reason for the profittaking being a denial of the rumors of renewed possibility of war between Russia and Great Britain. The market, however, closed strong with December at $1 12¾. May closed at $1 11⅝@1 12. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 14,100 bushels. The world's visible supply, as shown by Bradstreet's, made an increase of ⅞,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,041,000 bushels, compared with 1,599,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 851 cars, against 857 cars last week, and 1,323 cars a year ago.

Strength of wheat was the main influence affecting the corn market. Additional factors, however, were continued small primary receipts from Omaha, claiming poor returns from huskings throughout Nebraska. Small receipts estimated for tomorrow also had a bullish influence on the market. December opened unchanged to ⅛c higher, at 48⅝ to 48¾c, sold between 48¾@48⅝c and 49c, and closed at 48⅝@48¾c. Local receipts were 120 cars, with six of contract grade.

In sympathy with the strength of other grains the oats market held firm. The volume of business was light. December opened ⅛c higher at 28⅝c, sold between 28½ and 28¾c and closed at 28¾c. Local receipts were 211 cars.

A fair demand for lard and ribs held provisions steady, notwithstanding a heavy run of hogs and lower prices at the yards. Trading was mostly of local character. At the close January pork and lard were each off 2½c at $12 37½, and $7 09@7 07½ respectively. Ribs were unchanged at $6 42½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 68 cars; corn, 42 cars; oats, 90 cars; hogs, 30,000 head.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices. There was no feature to the news and owing to the holiday in the Brazilian and French markets, possibly, trading was very quiet. Prices sagged off a little in the absence of demand and the market was finally unchanged to five points lower. Sales, 50,000 bags, including November at 6.50c; March, 7.00c; May, 7.20c; September, 7.50c. Spot Rio steady; mild quiet. Sugar, raw, firm. The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—In the wool market this week conditions hold firm and the demand continues steady. Manufacturers realize that the available supply of wool is fast going out of dealers' hands and that their only chance to get supplies is to take the wools while they are to be had. Speculators are at work in secured grades and large sales are reported. The scarcity of territory wools is a feature of the market. Wyomings are about the only territory wool to be found here in any quantity. The price of domestic wools in this market, as based on actual sales, is about as follows: Ohio and Pennsylvania, XX and above, 35@36c; A, 30@31c; No. 1, 30@31c; No. 2, 35@36c; fine unwashed, 24@25c; one-quarter blood, 30c; three-eighths blood, 30c; unwashed Delaine, 26@27c; No. 1, 33@34c; No. 2, 32@34c; one-quarter blood, unwashed, 29@30c. California, Humboldt, and Mendocino, 29@27c; northern choice, 25@24c; average, 19@20c; middle counties, 18@20c; southern, 15@20c. Oregon, eastern staple, 19@20c; clothing, 17@18c. ASPINWALL LAND IS IN DISPUTE

DEFENSE IN FLEMING CASE

Attorneys Schoyer and Hunter yesterday filed a bill in equity on behalf of George T. Heppenstall against Christian T. Leng to clear the title to a large tract of land at Aspinwall and the borough of Montrose, involving in the neighborhood of $40,000. Heppenstall sold the property to the National Mortar Company, which refuses to pay him his purchase money on the ground that the property has a large debt against it which clouds the title.

The suit is based upon the fact that the title now vested in Leng descends from the person who created the debt, and under which the property was sold. The people who bought under this judgment are the heirs of the man who owed the debt, and they are in possession of his personal property and real estate and will not pay his debts. By reason of the judgment and the sale under it, the heirs who bought claim to hold the property in dispute as against the people who innocently bought the property long ago.

It is held that the rule is that where there is a common debt on an entire piece of property, the property still remaining after a sale must be held for the debt, and if that is not sufficient to discharge it, the last sold tract must be held, instead of the first sold. In Heppenstall's case the mortgage debt was foreclosed without notice to Heppenstall, and he sues Leng to recover possession and clear the title. The question is an interesting one owing to the complicated features involved in the transaction.

To Advance Linear Tax Cases.

City Solicitor Rodgers made a motion in supreme court that may bring an earlier decision in the linear tax suits. In the cases of the Allegheny Light Company, the Consolidated Gas Company, the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Philadelphia Company, Mr. Rodgers offered a motion to advance the cases for argument at the eastern term of court. He told the court that he would prefer to have the cases heard in January, as they are of great public importance. The motion will be decided later.

A motion was also made to advance the case of Belts against the city, the plumbing suit in which the court granted the right to file an appeal on Monday.

Among the cases argued was that of the Pressed Steel Car Company vs. John M. Hanson, and others and the Standard Steel Car Company. This is the suit over blue prints for steel cars which was decided against the Standard Steel Car Company in common pleas court.

A railroad case with an unusual feature was argued. It was that of John A. Snee vs. the West Side Belt Railroad Company. Snee owns a farm of 86 acres in the valley of Peters creek, the stream flowing through a portion of it. The railroad crosses the farm, and to avoid twice bridging the creek made a new channel for it. Altogether for right-of-way and for the new bed of the creek 130 feet, exclusive of slopes, was taken. Snee held that the act of 1849 did not give a railroad the right to condemn land for a creek bed, and common pleas court No. 2 sustained this contention.

The dispute over the change of the Hamilton building into a hotel was before the court in the case of Tucker & Byers, appellant, vs. Amy H. DuPuy. The appellants held a lease in an office and objected to the hotel feature.

The other cases argued were: Andrew A. and Mary G. Dinan vs. the supreme council of the Catholic Mutual Benefit association, an action to recover on a beneficial policy taken out on Mrs. Dinan's father, now deceased; the Youghiogheny River Coal Company, appellant, vs. the Allegheny National bank and others, an action on a coal land purchase; Annie Wilson and others vs. the Philadelphia Company, appellants, an action on an oil and gas lease.

Fleming Case Hard Fought.

The second day of the trial of James Fleming, the East End saloonkeeper, who is charged with voluntary manslaughter for the death of John McDonald, a blacksmith, of Lehigh avenue, finished when court adjourned last night. Judge Evans had intended to end the case by holding a night session of court, but Attorneys John C. Haymaker, for the prosecution, and Thomas M. Marshall, for the defense, said the case could not be finished much before midnight. Judge Evans then decided to carry the case over.

Shortly before noon the defense opened. Attorney Marshall, in outlining the case to the jury, said the defendant was assaulted by McDonald, and the injury the latter received to his nose was by his coming in contact with a door jamb during the scuffle. It was also claimed by the defense that Fleming was struck on the head with a paperweight by McDonald. After the quarrel the deceased is claimed to have become intoxicated by drinking alcohol diluted with coffee.

The first witness, Attorney Thomas M. Brown, said the men had first met in the Hotel Henry and later went to his office. The men, he said, were left alone, and in a short time a scuffle was heard. Going into the room the men were found in a clinch and were separated by the witness. Fleming then told the witness that he had been hit on the head with a paperweight by McDonald, to which the latter replied that Fleming had struck him first. This the defendant denied.

Statement Made by McDonald.

John McNulty, a bridgeman, said he had met McDonald a few days after the trouble, and that the deceased had told him of the fight with Fleming, saying that it did not amount to much and that he was not hurt to any extent.

Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, who conducted the autopsy on McDonald, read a report of the examination, in which he said the nose was slightly swollen, there was a scar on the nose, that there was no fractures of the skull, but that the frontal lobe of the brain was filled with pus, which had caused an abscess on the brain and finally death. The injury to the nose could have caused the abscess to the brain, but that it was not likely, as the blood would have to have conveyed the matter through the body and then to the brain through the arteries. The injury to the nose could not have been communicated to the brain directly. When the brain was removed there was no sign of recent inflammation, the witness said. The abscess on the brain, he said, could have been there for some months.

Dr. C. H. Hertzog testified to practically the same thing as did the former witness.

Daniel Scroggins, colored, said he had gone to the attorney's office to see Mr. Fleming about obtaining a situation. While in the hall he heard a scuffle and, looking into the room, saw Fleming sitting with his head on his hand. Later he saw Fleming being struck and falling to the floor. He then left the building.

Elevator Boy's Testimony.

W. H. Davis, an elevator boy at the Mueder building, where the trouble occurred, was put on the stand, and told of seeing the fighting in the building.

Mrs. James Fleming, wife of the defendant, said her husband had returned home the night of the fight with bruises on his head and shoulder, and that he suffered all night and part of the next day from the injuries. The marks on the shoulder lasted for six weeks, the witness said.

The Erie Railroad Company entered a petition in United States circuit court asking for the removal of the case of Joseph Pinkhaus vs. the Erie railroad from the common pleas court of Crawford county to the United States circuit court. The plaintiff asks $4,000 damages for being thrown off a moving train by the conductor, by which he claims he is permanently injured.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by John W. Roadman, a merchant of Irwin. His liabilities are given as $48,315 07 and his assets as $6,955.

J. Henry Jahn was before the United States district court, which heard arguments to discharge him as a voluntary bankrupt. On request of his attorneys the case was postponed indefinitely. Jahn's petition was filed in March, 1903, when his unsecured debts were given at about $16,000 and assets less than $300. His legal entanglements practically date from the petition to revoke his discharge from bankruptcy, filed last May.

Letters of administration have been taken out in the estate of James B. Hamilton, the late prothonotary by his son, Attorney Charles W. Hamilton. An estate of $4,800 is divided among his four children.

MARGARET LYNCH WISHED DEATH

Letter Read at Inquest in Which She Threatened to Kill Herself.

MAUNE'S CONDITION SERIOUS

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—At the inquest in the case of Margaret Lynch, the young woman who committed suicide at Freeport, L. I., today, District Attorney Neumann read a pitiful letter from the dead girl to her mother pleading for forgiveness and intimating her intention to kill herself.

Mrs. Catherine Lynch, the mother of the dead girl, had previously testified that her daughter had told her that her friendship with Oswald Maune was the cause of her sad plight and the dead girl's two sisters testified that Maune had admitted all.

When the district attorney concluded the reading, Mrs. Lynch for the second time, fainted and was carried from court.

Then the handwriting expert, David N. Carvalho, testified that the handwriting in the letter sent to Coroner Wallace soon after the discovery of the woman's body, enclosing $100 to defray burial expenses and signed "A Friend," corresponded with letters of Oswald Maune's that he had examined.

Just before the inquest was resumed today it was stated by a man who is very near to Maune, that he is in a pitiably nervous condition and that mentally is by no means himself. District Attorney Neumann and Coroner Wallace of Nassau county know this, and they did not subpoena him.

Maune has not been at his home in 10 days. In fact since the identity of the dead woman was revealed he has spent little of his time at his home in Brooklyn. He passed the first month in a monastery near Philadelphia, and later he was with his son, a priest, in a monastery near Springfield, Mass.

PRESIDENT NAMES DATE FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

He Acknowledges the Debt of American People to God for the Blessings of Past Year.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:
A PROCLAMATION:

It has pleased Almighty God to bring the American people in safety and honor through another year, and, in accordance with the long unbroken custom handed down to us by our forefathers, the time has come when a special day shall be set apart in which to thank Him who holds all nations in the hollow of His hand for the mercies thus vouchsafed to us. During the century and a quarter of our national life we, as a people, have been blessed beyond all others, and for this we owe humble and heartfelt thanks to the Author of all blessings. The year that has closed has been one of peace within our own borders as well as between us and all other nations. The harvests have been abundant, and those who work, whether with hand or brain, are prospering greatly. Reward has waited upon honest effort. We have been enabled to do our duty to ourselves and to others. Never has there been a time when religious and charitable effort has been more evident. Much has been given to us and much will be expected from us. We speak of what has been done by this nation in no spirit of boastfulness or vain glory, but with full and revent realization that our strength is as nothing unless we are helped from above. Hitherto we have been given the heart and strength to do the tasks allotted to us as they severally arose. We are thankful for all that has been done for us in the past, and we pray that in the future we may be strengthened in the unending struggle to do our duty fearlessly and honestly, with charity and good will, with respect for ourselves and with love toward our fellow-men.

In this great republic the effort to combine national strength with personal freedom is being tried on a scale more gigantic than ever before in the world's history. Our success will mean much not only for ourselves, but for the future of all mankind, and every man and woman in our land should feel the grave responsibility resting upon him or her, for in the last analysis this success must depend on the high average of our individual citizenship, upon the way in which each of us does his duty to himself and his neighbor.

Now, therefore I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the 24th of this November, to be observed as a day of festival and thanksgiving by all the people of the United States at home and abroad, and do recommend that on that day they cease from the ordinary occupations and gather in their several places of worship or in their homes, devoutly to give thanks unto Almighty God for the benefits He has conferred upon us as individuals and as a nation, and to beseech Him that in the future His divine favor may be continued to us.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this first day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and four and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and twenty-ninth.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

JOHN HAY, Secretary of State.

DOSE OF BUCKSHOT FOR HALLOWE'EN CROWD

PORT HURON, MICH., Nov. 1.—Roy Lindsay, aged 27 and married, is dying, and seven other young men are nursing shot wounds which they received last night during a Hallowe'en lark at Smiths Creek, near this city. Joseph Lambert, a farmer, it is claimed, threatened that any pranks attempted at his expense would be severely punished. The young men had just stepped through his gate, it is alleged, when Lambert and his three hired men fired on them with shotguns. Lindsay fell, fatally wounded, and the others dropped wounded.

Eleanor Kent in Travesty Co.

By contracts signed in this city yesterday Miss Eleanor Kent, a well-known prima donna, becomes a member of the Harry Davis music travesty company which will have its inaugural on Monday evening next at the Avenue theater, opening in the Weber-Field play "Whirl-i-Gig." Miss Kent has the reputation of being one of the best dressed women on the stage and this fact should appeal to the fair patrons of the Avenue. In the Weber-Field plays Miss Kent will be assigned to the roles originally played by Lillian Russell, and as she is not only possessed of a singing voice but is an actress as well, it is safe to infer that the parts will not suffer to any great extent in the transfer.

Executions Issued by Court.

The following executions were issued: James P. Polk vs. J. D. O'Bryan, Jr., $211 53, and against the J. D. O'Bryan Produce Company, $403 66; Given & Co. vs. F. L. Sloan & Co. and J. D. Sloan, $455 37; W. A. Markell vs. Philip T. Hughes, $700; Augusta Evans vs. S. A. Dixon, $582 11; H. T. Cope vs. Harry F. DeCaine, $260.
